The exemption of churches in the rural districts is hardly an appreciable item in the burden of taxation.

Mr. Meredith, however, proposed an amendment to make all church lands liable to taxation for all purposes, but the proposition was not accepted.

Mr. Meredith moved again that the slause be so changed that it should be clear that the church building itself should iscape taxation. The amendment was acgatived.

There was some discussion on the second clause abolishing the exemption on clergymen's salaries and dwellings. Mr. Meredith wondered if Sunday schools would be included as parts of the churches.

Mr. Ross said they would be somewhers thought some exception should be made in the case of clergy with low salaries, but it was the general opinion of the House that $700 a year they are exempt altogether; if they have over $700 and less than $1,000 they are exempt altogether; if they have over $700 and less than $1,000 they are exempt on none.

There was little discussion on the third clause, dealing with the assessment of colleges, incorporated seminaries, etc., putting them and their lands on the same footing as churches. Mr. Meredith thought the clause did not go far enough, and the flagrant abuse by that Government, and the flagrant abuse by that Government, and the flagrant abuse by that Government of the system of superannuation, all loyally exported by Mr. Meredith, to prove that the head of the proposition leader's only object.

The Attorney-General said there had been no complaint, except in respect to mercantile businesses. The bill was, in any case, as he had previously stated, largely an experiment, and no doubt if it worked well, and it was found advisable to extend the operation of the clause to other businesses, it would be done. A mercantile business virtually meant a shop.

Mr. A. F. Wood objected to the clause altogether.

Mr. Ingram moved as amendments to this bill certain clauses embodied in a bill he had to amend the Assessment Act, and the effect of which would be to exempt all salaries from taxation up to $700. This was negatived, and the committee rose and reported.

At 3:30 the House went on with third Hon. J. M. Gibson moved the third reading of the bill to improve the liquor license

Mr. Wood (Hastings) moved in amendment that the bill be amended so as to require that a licensee who wished to remove to another part of the same polling subdivision for which his license had been granted should not be allowed to do so except upon a petition of a majority of the electors entitled to vote at such polling subdivision, just as in the case of applications for new licenses.

Mr. Meredith then moved that the local option clause be amended so as to entitle municipal voters and not Parliamentary voters to vote on the question of local prohibition.

hibition.

Mr. Fraser mentioned as one of the objections to this scheme that the municipal franchise would allow a good many who were not resident in the polling sub-division to vote on the question, and this would not be fair. The amendment was lost by 45 to 36. Mr. Dack, Mr. Waters, Mr. Balfour, Mr. Snider and Mr. Mack went with the Opposition. went with the Opposition.

Mr. Meredith then moved in amend-

That the bill be referred back and the following added as sub-section 2 to section 1: In those parts of the Province in which the Canada Temperance Act was in force on April 1, 1889, in cases where the petition of amajority of the electors against the granting or the licentes was presented to the commissioners, the provisions of sub-section 1 shall apply so as to require an application for a license for persons who were not then licensees to be accompanied by the petition mentioned in the lires sub-section, notwithstanding that the licensees may have been granted during the said year.

Mr. Meredith mentioned that he moved this amendment in view of the special cases that had been discussed in the House durthat had been discussed in the House during the present session.

Hon. Mr. Gibson said only two polling sub-divisions had been affected all over the Province by the difficulty which Mr. Meredith aimed this amendment at. In those two divisions, in addition to the fact that the section of the act in question did not apply where such applications were not made before April 1, the petitions in question were also open to the objection that they were not legal. The amendment was voted down by 50 to 32.

Mr. Meredith then offered a third amendment, embodying the main plank of his liquor license policy—the appointment of commissioners in the rural districts by the county councils.

Mr. Garson moved an amendment to the amendment providing for the election of license commissioners by direct vote of the amendment the failed to get a secondary.

ing of his bill respecting certain statistical returns. The bill was intended to get returns as to chattel morégages and bills of sale.

Mr. Meredith thought it would have been well if returns of mortgages on real estate were included among the statistics that should be returned. He thought the statistics asked for under the bill would be of little use.

Hon. Mr. Drury said it was impossible to get accurate statistics in regard to mortgages on real estate. They could get the gages on real estate. They could get the number, but it would be absolutely impossible to find out how much money was paid upon them. The present bill embodied the best scheme that could be devised for getting at a fairly accurrate idea of the financial standing of farmers generally. He proposed to make some amendments to the bill in committee. The bill was then read a second time.

The House then went into committee on The House then went into committee on Ghurch property for local improvements. This confines the operation of the measure to cities, towns and incorporated villages. The exemption of churches in the rural districts is hardly an appreciable item in the burden of taxation.

Mr. Meredith, however, proposed an Mr. Stratten the Attorney.

Mr. Mowat instanced the great control of patronage and the wholesale seizure of appointment by the Dominion Government, and the flagrant abuse by that Government of the system of superannuation, all loyally supported by Mr. Meredith, to prove that the making of political capital was the Opposition leader's only object.

Mr. Meredith's amendment was defeated, 52 to 32.

The bill to amend the Free Grants and Homesteads Act was amended in committee and the third reading fixed for to-mor-

The business tax clause caused considerable discussion. It read as follows originally:

4. In the case of persons carrying on a mercantile business in a municipality may pass laws substituting. In respect of any class or classes of mercantile business, a business or classes of mercantile business as belongs to the business, provided that of the annual value of the premises in which the business tax does not exceed 7½ per cent. Of per cent. and added to the clause a sub-section empowering any municipality adopting the powers given in this clause a sub-section empowering any municipality adopting the powers given in this clause a sub-section empowering any municipality adopting the powers given in this clause to classify the various occupations and businesses affected by the tax, according to certain rates, never exceeding 10 per cent.

Mr. Meredith asked what a mercantile businesses meant. There would be lots of confusion over the term in the clause, he said.

The Treasurer said the term was used in the ordinary sense and did not include manufacturing businesses.

Mr. Meredith thought it should include all carrying on a trade or manufacturing businesses.

Mr. Meredith hought it should include all carrying on a trade or manufacturing businesses.

The House in Committee took up the bill respecting the city of London, introduced by Mr. Meredith. The honorable gentle-intentity may passed to the sent of the man brought up of the taxpayers affected by the measure being obtained before the annexation of the taxpayers affected by the measure being obtained before the annexation of the taxpayers affected by the measure being obtained before the annexation of the taxpayers affected by the enancy and progress was reported. Mr. Granam moved duction:
That in the opinion of this House it is desirable that closer trade relations should exist between the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada, and that this House do humbly petition the Legislature of the Dominion of Canada to take such steps as they may deem expedient to bring about Unrestricted Reciprocity between the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada. RADWAY & CO

Mr. Meredith moved an amendment that manufacturers and those carrying on a trade should be included under the operation of the business tax. The amendment was lost.

Mr. Graham made a good Unrestricted Reciprocity speech, and the debate was then adjourned on motion of Hon. Mr. Fraser, who showed the impracticability of discussing the subject just then, owing to the thinness of the House and the lateness of the hour.
