Druggiste, Take Notice.

A case of great importance to druggists was heard in the Police Court at Toronto on Wednesday. E. A. Goodman was summoned at the instance of the Weights and Measures Department of the Dominion Government, charged with selling turpentine by the wine measure instead of by imperial measure, as required by the act. The wine measure makes a difference of fully four ounces against the purchaser. Defendant said the prescriptions of medical men were all made on the basis of sixteen ounces to the pint. In proof of this assertion he Druggists, Take Notice, the pint. In proof of this assertion he called Dr. W. B. H. Atkins, who showed that the medical profession always took sixteen ounces as a pint, and not the imperial twenty-ounce measure. The magis trate pointed out that in the case before the court it was not a doctor's prescription which was asked for, but a pint, and the purchaser got only sixteen ounce instead of twenty, as he was entitled to. A fine of $2 without costs was imposed.
