The Brantford Bicycle Club will hold a meet upon the 31st inst., at which prizes to the value of $1,000 will be given.

Ald. Bunnell, of Brantford, who has been in England to sell city debentures, on Saturday returned home, having been cabled to do so by Mayor Secord. At the time he had nearly disposed of the bonds at a good figure, but a reported sale at $96.55 in Canada, which has since fallen through, led to his recall. There are likely to be some lively developments.

LAMBTON.

Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock on a back street near the Sarnia gas works, Mr. Joseph Ash, sen., attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a knife. He had cut quite a gash when noticed by a couple of small boys, who alarmed the neighborhood, and soon a large crowl was gathered at the spot. Ash is about 65 years of age and an old British pensioner. He was a heavy drinker, and that is supposed to be the reason of his committing this act. The police were notified and took him to jail, where his wounds were attended to by a doctor.

DRUNK, OF COURSE!

Bis Eick Fractured His Wife's Skull—He May Have to Answer a Charge of Murder.

New York, Aug. 23.—James Meyer, a laborer of middle age, who lived in the tenement house No. 315 East Sixty-first street, went home drunk on Monday afternoon and attacked his wife Annie without provocation. He beat her and kicked her until her screams were heard all over the house, and some of the neighbors interfered to protect her against further bruality. She had become unconscious when a policeman was sent for the arrest her drunken husband, and the officer called an ambulance, which took her to the Presbyterian Hospital.

Mospital.

The surgeons said her skull had been fractured and she had received many severe bruises. She recovered consciousness later, but her condition was critical. Her husband was taken to the hospital, where she identified him as her assailant. Meyer appeared to be too much under the influence of liquor to understand that he might soon be called to answer the charge of wife murder.

Perils of Modern Life.

Contacts with electric wires, railroad accidents, broken car and elevator cables, explosions of ateam, natural gas and chemicals, poisons in adulterated food and drink, are a few; but all these dangers combined do not kill as rapidly as slow and sure consumption. The death rate, however, from consumption, is being yearly cut down since Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., has given to the world his celebrate "Golden Medical Discovery," a cure for consumption and throat and lung troubles that lead to consumption, it taken in time and given a fair trial. The time to cure consumption (which is really nothing more nor less than lung serofula), is in the first stages. A cough generally sounds the alarm, and you should take the "Discovery" at once. There is a time when it is too late. Perils of Modern Life.

BOY BANDITS DISEANDED.

Tracked to Their Lair.

Juvenile New Jersey Desperadoes Devote Their Time to Plundering Greery Stores.

PARK RIDGE, N. J., Aug. 23.—Justice William E. Smith, of this place, has succeeded in dispersing a gang of boy bandits, who, under the title of "The Red Rangers of the Pascack," are charged with levying tribute on many citizens of the surrounding country. It was reported some time ago that a number of boys had a biding place in the woods near the town, where they gathered and divided the spoils of depredations, but not until Justice Smith was appealed to and went on the trail was the perfection of the organization made known.

The exposure was brought about by a complaint of Fred C. Landerman, who swore that he suspected Carl Frohn, Geo. Reid, Perry Bransgrove, Frederick Vanbuckum, Albert Frohn, Charles Latterman and George Ackerman of having stolen syrup, sedn, one door, lumber, kerosone, cigarettes, cigars, chewing tobacco, a bar of iron, pails, cuspidors, nails, hammers, torches and other articles from the stores of Gerhard H. Tiemeyer and William Kamps, the New Jersey and New York Railroad, the Island Park and the Colored People's pienic grounds, and from the Foresters' Hall. On this complaint Justice Smith issued a warrant for the arrest of the boys, and an officer went to the woods on the hilleast of the village in search of the retreat of the "Red Rangers," a name symbolized by the red shirts worn by members of the band.

In a secluded place, obscured by heavy underbrush, the officer came upon a wellworn path that was guarded by a rudely-lettered sign, "No trespassing." This warning was posted in several places through the woods. Disregarding the admonition, the officer kept on the trail, and soon came upon a small clearing, in which was the ruin of the hut of the "Rangers."

The bandits had learned that Justice Smith was after them, and they destroyed their headquarters before scattering to their homes. There was ample evidence that they shad taken lessons from 5-cent stories, samples of which were found in "Nat Wood's Capture of Kene Clark, King of the Diamond Lifters," "A Dangerous Carlon of the was a

Justice Smith had all the boys brought before him on Saturday, some of them being accompanied by their parents. Geo. Reid admitted that the hut had been built after school hours, and other boys told how they had procured many of their supplies. Although the justice had six witnesses, including J. B. Storms, editor of the Park Ridge Local, he decided to let the accused lads off with a reprimand which he administered with a fatherly grace. They promised, between sobs, that they would never range again.
