WILL CELEBRATE PAARDEBERG DAY

The Canadian Club to Give Luncheon in the Empress Hotel

The Canadian club will give a luncheon on Thursday next in the Empress hotel to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Paardeberg. The local veterans of the South African campaign have been invited and already nearly 100 replies from those who fought in that campaign have been received. The members of the government and legislature have also been invited. The address of the day will be delivered by Hon. D. M. Eberts, speaker of the legislature.

The Paardeberg veterans meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday next to make arrangements to attend in a body. The intention is to form an association of those who fought through the campaign in South Africa and to convene in the Empress hotel on Thursday. The secretary of the Canadian club has asked all members who purpose attending to notify him as soon as possible.

TWEEDDALE LOSES A $500 CHINAMAN

Desertion of One of Big Freighters' Crew at Comox Costly to the Steamer

The British steamer Tweeddale, which sailed at Comox on Thursday, when outbound from Portland for the United Kingdom, with a cargo of grain, was obliged to leave behind $500 for the Dominion government owing to the escape of one of her Chinese crew. Several steamers which have come for bunker coal, carrying Chinese crews, have lost men while in port, and have been obliged to pay the per capita tax of $500 for each deserter. The guarding of the yellow men falls upon the steamer, and, usually, there is a close watch kept on the Chinese. It seems that the Chinese stokers and sailormen fraternize with the coal trimmers and with shore Chinese engaged on board while the steamer is bunkering, and sometimes an extra man, begrimed with coal, with a shovel in his hand, goes ashore, with the consequence that the steamer is mulcted $500.

A local shipmaster formerly engaged in the coal-carrying trade on the South China coast says that for quickness in a situation of this kind the Chinese have no equals. The tells of an incident on board a steamer bound from Hongkong to Bangkok, carrying several hundred Chinese. One was taken ill with smallpox and was quarantined in a small house on the top deck. The Chinese comrade worried for two days about the delay that would take place in consequence of the steamer being quarantined, so that one morning he came aft at breakfast time and walked into the cabin with a smile.

"Well, so-so, man sick fall overboard last night. No gotties friend, allright."

The ship's company had their suspicions about the falling overboard, but said nothing. So they compounded with their consciences and said nothing. There was regulation in force that the Chinese should be counted and if the number landed did not agree with that stated in the ship's papers trouble and delay would follow. The comrade was able to get over this, though it seems he was trapped with one of the Chinese, who,

OWNERS MUST GRADE NEW ROADS PROPERLY

South Saanich Council Will Then Assume Control and Repair

(From Sunday's Daily) Vancouver, Feb. 25.—Chief Justice Hunter directed that the two Japanese now lying in New Westminster jail for violating the recently passed law that no Chinese should be immediately discharged from custody.

On a demand being made by Mr. Robert Cassidy, K. C., representing the owners, that the recognition be demanded from the prisoners pending the appeal which was instantly taken, His Lordship refused to entertain the request, stating that the case was a matter, that the two Japanese were peaceable subjects of Japan who had been illegally detained. As far as he could see they evidently had a good action against somebody. The chief justice gave his judgment in the terms already reported.

Immediately the judgment was given Mr. Cassidy gave notice of appeal and asked that the case be viewed as an urgent one, and the argument heard at the earliest possible moment in order to expedite the later appeal to the privy council.

The chief justice replied that he had the power he would give the instant right of appeal to the privy council, as it was advisable that the question be settled at an early moment. He thought that the case might be argued before the full court as soon as the Hunting-McAdam appeal was concluded.

Immediately he asked that the Japanese be compelled to enter into a recognizance pending the appeal, but His Lordship strongly objected to the suggestion that the release was to be made without conditions.

The argument of Mr. Cassidy in support of the Natal act was an able one, and he contended that the delivery. At the very outset he pointed out that the fact that the men in custody were Japanese was entirely irrelevant to the case, but His Lordship instantly replied that he would consider the fact that there was a Dominion statute ratifying a treaty with Japan. The point before the bench he understood to be especially whether the prisoners had the right to enter the country under this treaty, and he thought that the question was to decide whether the entrance was made in contravention of the general immigration laws of the Dominion.

Mr. Cassidy contended that the constitutionality of the provincial statute was not to be decided in the present instance. It might ensue that the act was merely inoperative as regarded the subjects of Japan in view of the treaty act of the Dominion parliament.

Mr. Cassidy then turned his attention to the more limited field, and contended the legality of the Dominion act sanctioning the treaty with Japan. He claimed that the original treaty was made by the imperial authorities in 1897, expressly stating that Canada was not subject to its terms save upon its officials within two years from its ratification.

This was never done, and in 1906 the matter was taken up anew. The Dominion parliament was declared to have no more right to ratify a treaty than the governor-general could make one. The sanction of parliament added nothing whatever to the force of the compact, and the entire attention on the question was so much "waste paper."

The "full liberty" guaranteed by the treaty was upon and it was argued that this was only general in its scope and was not meant to favor Japanese subjects above other persons. If the words "full liberty" were taken in an absolute sense as found in the legislation of 1906, it set aside the previous Dominion legislation barring disabilities, and the entrance into the country.

Chief Justice Hunter replied at this juncture that legal authorities were of opinion that the act of ratification of the same power should be read as one continuous act, and under this view he must take into account the previous disabilities, set out by Dominion legislation acting as a bar to immigration. He could take a Dominion act with another Dominion act, but he could not take a provincial act with a Dominion act.

Whether the municipality is liable for damages occasioned by the overflowing of water from the drains on the lower levels occupied by private owners is a question on which advice was asked of the attorney-general's department. The question of legal advice was the outcome of the complaints recently made by Frederick Saul, who claims that water draining upon the roof of his property, a large portion of which is under water. He had asked that he be allowed to drain the water to a lower portion of the road. The matter had been referred to a committee to inquire into it and the committee had reported that Mr. Saul had a just ground for complaint and that recourse should be had to the Water Courses act and steps taken to drain the water from the roof to the appointment by the municipal council of an engineer who will do the necessary work of draining, the cost of the work to be shared equally by the property benefitted. This step will be taken, and applications for the position of engineer will be called for.

A communication was received from the city council with reference to a regard to the improving of those roads along which the boundary between the two municipalities runs, the city would be willing to do a certain width of the road, the municipality to do the rest. It was felt by the council that a method of doing the work would be to have the city attend to that portion within its own limits. Councillors Pointer, Scott and Bell were appointed a committee to wait upon the city council and discuss the matter.

Found Her House Looted. St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22.—While Mrs. Jennie Griffith was down town shopping, four energetic burglars entered her home and looted it of everything. Even two stoves with fire in them were taken. Neighbors who saw the four men industriously at work supposed Mrs. Griffith was moving out of the house. When Mrs. Griffith returned home she found only the frightened canary bird dying about the empty rooms. She had hidden the door key under the mat when the burglars had found it.

Cattle Do Damage. James E. Grant wrote pointing out the necessity of adopting some regulations preventing the running of large herds of cattle. He claimed that by reason of the neglect of owners of cattle to look after their property on the premises, the property of others has a remedy under the Trespass act.

Money for Missions. Toronto, Feb. 22.—Rev. E. D. McLaughlin, D.D., secretary of home missions of the Presbyterian church says he has received in the last four days an average of $2,000 a day for missions, but even at this rate for eight days, when the church year closes there will be a deficit of about $46,000.

Third Effort Fatal. Montreal, Feb. 22.—F. X. Cadorette, boarding on St. Dominique street, committed suicide last night by taking strychnine pills, and inhaling gas. He was 22 years old. On a table in his room was found a note, left by the suicide, which was written with a firm hand: "This is my third trial. Pray that I may succeed." Worry and melancholy are supposed to be the cause.

Father's Awful Brutality. Lacrosse, Wis., Feb. 22.—In the county court today, August Mundstock, a prosperous farmer, admitted that he had punished his foster son, Arthur, twelve years, by jabbing him with a pitchfork. The boy's body from neck to heels was covered with wounds and scars. Mundstock confessed that he had punished him in this way for ten years. The prisoner was fined $75.

Judgment for Navares. El Paso, Texas, Feb. 22.—By a decision of the supreme court of Mexico the ancient claims of Jesus Aguirres Navares, to the famous Dolores mine in Chihuahua is sustained, and the claim of Escobar and Rose declared void. The mine had been sold several times on the Escobar and Rose title. The last sale was to K. H. Hutchinson, representing the Cinco Senores company, in which E. Aug. Heinze was said to be largely interested.

Question of Mixed Marriages. Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 21.—The announcement that Bishop Dowling would issue a decree after Lent forbidding mixed marriages unless performed by priests of the Roman Catholic church, is denied by Dean Mahoney, who states that the bishop has no power to issue such an order.

Will Clear Large Tract. The C. P. R. is calling for tenders for the clearing of some portions of its holdings on the island. The land to be cleared and grubbed consists of about 125 acres adjoining Ladysmith and another plot of 1,140 acres lying between French creek and Little Qualicum river.

Making Good Roads. Oak Bay Council Adopts Aggressive Policy in Improving the Streets

The progressive policy adopted by the municipality of Oak Bay is resulting in the residents of that district being favored by improvements which are far in advance to those on the same thoroughfare within the city limits. Surveys are now being made for the widening of roads, and the widening of the road between Fort Bay and the beach and that portion will be put in first class condition. It has been lately made a condition of the provincial government, which will make the section a portion of the trunk road which will be constructed. Some time ago the government gave notice of this work done, and as the municipality has all the necessary plan for road-making, they will go ahead with it and complete it at an early date.

CAMPBELL'S COSTUME INVITATION

SPRING COSTUMES

The steady growth of our business demands that each season our ready-to-wear, exclusive creations in costumes and coats shall excel the record of the previous season in quantity, quality and attraction, for each year brings us an ever widening circle of customers who compare our prices with Eastern prices and our styles with the leading London and Parisian houses. We welcome this healthy competition and extend to every lady in the land a most cordial invitation to inspect the superb assortment of this season's exclusive costume creations. To note the fine fabrics, rich color harmonies and exquisite trimmings, and, above all, to test the perfection of the hand tailoring.

This spring we introduce the finest aggregation of costumes ever imported into Western Canada; among many novelties will be found the most exclusive "Butterfly" costumes, the fascinating Corset-fitting costumes, the new Eton costumes with Princess motif, the very latest Kimono sleeves and most effective elongated epaulette styles, together with trimmings in rich Persian silk braid, Dresden silk, etc. The skirts are very graceful and give many examples of the new deep fold. Regarding prices, all we ask is, compare our values with prices asked elsewhere for garments visibly lacking the latest styles and best finish, and you will find our prices—value for value—are the lowest in the land.

A COLOUR SCHEME

In one of our windows we exhibit an example of our wealth of shades in one color, ranging from the faintest of champagnes through light brown and mid brown, up to the richest dark brown; in each color. We have a similar extensive range. Our other window demonstrates our abilities in infants' outfitting.

ROSSLAND DOING WELL

Mines Produce Six Thousand Tons a Week—Electric Power Developed on Kootenay River

Vancouver, Feb. 22.—A great failure is in store for Rossland as a mining camp, according to Lorne A. Campbell, general manager of the West Kootenay Light & Power company, who is a guest at the Hotel Vancouver.

"The average output there recently has been about six thousand tons a week, or a little higher production than at any time during the past four years," said he to the "Province." "Extensive development in all the big mines is in progress, and vast reserves have been blocked out. A steady increase in the output can be expected. It looks as though the treatment capacity of the smelters will have to be increased in order to keep pace with the camp. The Centre Star group has over seven miles of drifts exclusive of shafts and stopes."

The power plant of Mr. Campbell's company at Bonanza Falls on the Kootenay river supplies power to mines and smelters within a radius of over fifty miles.

"We have twenty-three thousand horsepower of generators and water wheels in actual operation, and have also developed sixteen thousand additional horsepower," added Mr. Campbell. "When the mines and smelters of the Boundary are working full blast our company supplies them with eight thousand horsepower of electrical energy. The requirements of the mines at Rossland and the smelter at Trall amount to about eight thousand horsepower. A new customer will be the Canadian zinc smelter at Nelson. The plant is now being built."

Mr. Campbell added that there were no new developments.

IDENTIFIED UNG WING

Officer McLeod Picks Him in Crowd as Chinaman Who Wounded Him

Vancouver, Feb. 22.—Now that Police Officer Malcolm McLeod has definitely identified his assailant, the trial of Ung Wing, the Chinese chicken thief charged with shooting and attempting to murder the officer, will be much facilitated.

Officer McLeod picked Ung Wing out of a line of twelve Chinamen. His identification was positive for he went right up to him without a moment's hesitation.

"I could never forget that face," said the officer. "I had a vivid mind's picture of it as I last saw it before we filled with terror." The peculiar facial marks on Ung Wing make it an easy matter for one to remember him.

Officer McLeod, though still feeling a little weak, is able to be about. The wounds on his neck, chin and shoulder were healing nicely, though it will be some time before they are completely healed. In addition to those wounds McLeod has a bullet wound on his left leg, which shows that the Chinaman shot twice at the officer.

Parade Project

Vancouver, Feb. 22.—A deputation from the Asiatic Exclusion League waited on Chief of Police Chamberlain this morning in connection with the coming parade on March 7. The proposal which the delegation laid before the chief was that instead of carrying out the parade at night time that it be held in daylight, and that an open-air meeting be held in connection with it. Sunday afternoon, March 8, was suggested as a possible day. It is possible that the demonstration will be removed from the central part of the city and taken to the west end. This will do away with any possibility of damage resulting to the property in the Chinese or Japanese districts.
