mended that efforts be made to get opportunities to give religious training in public schools, and that a stort compendium of the Christian faith and practice be drawn up and an effort made to get the Government to order the teaching of this compendium in the Public Schools. Rev. Dr. Carry complained that the quasi religious hyuns now in use in the achoels were miserable American jingles, with neither good sense or good music. "Salvation Army hymns," said the Bishop. "Not so good," answered Dr. Carry. A number of speakers urged that every effort should be made to secure Bible reading and religious teaching in the Public Schools. Cel. Robert Denison was the only member who questioned the wisdom of wasting time over the subject. He declared it to but a fact that not one inch had been gained on the subject since 1852 and never would, said the Colonel. The report was adopted. Cool coats and vests were in great demand esterday at the Army and Navy stores. Just hink of it, you can keep cool all summer for a leilar and a half. All kinds of cool elothing and all sizes at the Army and Navy stores.

where Hall, who is employed as bar tender in O'Connot's Hotel, Sumone street, was passing an idle hour. The risotier is charged with receiving a gold watch, knowing the same to have been stolen. The watch is the property of Rev. Father Bran, and was taken at the time the rev. gentleman's residence at Thernhill was burglarized. It will, probably, he remembered that two noted thieves, Charles Giroux and John Williams, ware convicted of the burglary, the convictions being obtained shiefly through the agency of Detective Davis. Giroux was sentenced to a term of five years in the Kingston Penitentiary, and Williams, who was then serving a year in the Cantral Prison for a burglary committed at Waterdown, received the lighter sentence of fone years in the Penitentiary. Detective Daves has had the sell in final ever since, and finally succeeded in tracting the watch to young Hall. When arrested Hall as first deviced my knowledge of the timplece sought, but at length admitted that he had bought it and sold it again to a friend. The harnes of this friend he declines to disclose, probably for fear shat he to a triend, the name of this friend se defines to disclose, probably for fear that he will get him into trouble. It is believed that when Hall bought the watch he did not know that it had been stolen. He was admitted to hall last night.

character of which was perfecally known to the management of the company. I have not visited the property since the publication of Mr. Dobson's lester, but I shink it folorably safe to assert that Mr. Dobson did not make an examination of the quartz vein or lode known as No. 2. That deposit which he designates as occurring in a freedlar year as as a "contact deposit" is wholly distinct from the one upon which wake is at present proceeding, occurring in fact in an altogether different formation, and solving but gross carciessness or worse would have confounted the two.

Again, he speaks of the van having been traced some miles across Devison and into Graham. It is difficult to understand from his language whether he refers in this connection to the quartz vein known as No. 2 or to the copier deposit and "chinney" known as No. 1. It is the former he certainly furnishes new information. It to the latter he has fallen mot levent, no much foir flaving the strike he describes exists on the property. Their is a ruleg, or several ridges, of trap having the strike he mentioned upon which several excellent deposits of copper have been lecated, but these are, as far as I am learn by personnal observation had as speak mit time in the country. That these deposits of, copper are exceedingly rich it assess on Mr. Dobson's observed.

It is stratige drat a man of his experience also should be guilty of the stupid blunder of confounding dishoppyrite, and seems of heave of the country. The transport of the refractory nature of the country of th vein of chalcipy like. If he here refers to the ore of 'Ma E dode, I should like to know when, where and have he obtained his information. If he refers to the ord from No. 2 the returns in 'Alan gives in two separate places in his letter disclose a remarkable discrepancy. Dut in this commercion we must take into consideration a stoud blunder or typographical etco, the weight in gold is given in the first histones as I oz. 30 dwt. Now as there are only 20 dwes, in an onnee Troy, it is difficult to know what Mr. Dobson here means. If we are to take the figures as they stand the ore is roughly valued at 350 to the ton. If we are so take the figures as they stand the ore is roughly valued at 350 to the ton. If we are so take the figures as they stand the ore is roughly valued at 350 to the ton. If we are so take the figures for a 1, it would still be worth $30, which would leave a handsume margin for retractory obstracter, etc. At any rate, Mr. Dobson in volunteering "scientific and expert testimony should have devoted more case to his "copy."

Mr. Dobson would have us believe that the gold in Danison is a myth, an "ignis fature," to use his own terms. Before we can accept his dictum it would be necessary for him to give us a definition of what constitutes a "gold ore." If an ore bearing 32 per cent. copper and $36 is gold to the ton of 2000 lbs. may not safely be pronounced au ore of gold, we would like Mr. Dobson 'on form water. Foreign Exchange was reported to-day b Messrs, Gzowski & Buchan as follows: may not safely be pronounced as one of gold, we would like Mr. Dobson to inform us what he would turn it. As to the likelihood of the vould at these figures proving a mere iguis fatuus and likely to "fritter out" it would fatuus and likely to "Tritter out" it would then be in order for the "expert" gentleman to explain his own words: "Enormous chalcopyrite (Peacock ore (?)) deposits with which Denison and Graham abound, the analysis of which gives: OSTED RATES FOR STERLING IN NEW YORK. —What a comfort to be able to gravity one's appetite once more without oain, after long suffering from dyspepsia!
