

Baby's Own Tablets An Excellent Remedy

For Any of the Many Minor Ailments of Infants and Young Children

No mother can expect that her child will escape all the ills to which babyhood and childhood are subject, but she can do much to lessen their severity, and to make baby's battles for health easily won.

Nine-tenths of the minor ailments which afflict babyhood and childhood are caused by some derangement of the stomach and bowels. Regulate the stomach and bowels and these troubles will disappear. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which through their action on the stomach and bowels never fail to banish constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers; expel worms and make the dreaded teething time easy.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. A. Koshan, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "Kindly send me your booklet, 'Care of Baby in Health and Sickness.' I have two little children four and a half and three years old and have used nothing else for them but Baby's Own Tablets. I think the Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change
After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girl was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills. So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people. I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. As I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGREGOR, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 98 out of 100 received beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit.

The trouble with the recent political "landslide" is that it did not slide quite far enough.

Instead of being on the horns of a dilemma the political situation is now on the prongs of a Fork.

History of the Cabbage.

Remarkable facts concerning the cabbage have been discovered by Prof. Ruggles Gates, the botanist.

It is stated that cabbages, kales, cauliflower, and brussels sprouts all originated in the wild cabbage, a native of the coast and the South of England. The cabbage as we know it was the first development of the wild plant, and from it came the cauliflower and the sprout.

Apparently there was no gradual development. It just happened spontaneously. In the case of the cauliflower there was an inflorescence, and the green flower turned to white and became succulent and fleshy, though not to the degree we know it to-day. As a food the cabbage is extremely valuable, because it contains lime and potash.

To be completely healthy people require roughage, coarse indigestible material, just as animals do. Cabbage furnishes roughage and supplies lime. It should be steamed, and not boiled or cooked in soup.

"SAVE ON

Is Rural Traffic Diversified?

During the address of the Board of Agriculture, Dr. Elgin H. Hicks, of Highways, Ontario, suggested that suburban area roads be diverted to the cities, and that economic changes are bound to follow, among which would be the depopulation of the small towns and villages, which in his opinion, would, within a few years, become mere residential boroughs, as the trade of the country would be absorbed by large centres, increasing motor traffic making this not only possible, but probable. We do not like to think that this result will necessarily follow the improvement of provincial and county highways. It would not be a good thing for the province if it did happen and there is nothing so far to indicate that villages or towns are losing their trade on account of improved highways. In fact, so far as Western Ontario is concerned, it is working out just the other way. Smaller centres are improving, both in population and establishments. There is a human element about the matter of towns and villages that you cannot get away from, a civic spirit and a civic pride which will not permit these places to go back. True, it is a sorry commentary on human life that the second generation in certain families does sometimes run to seed, or die out. The same can also be said, not only in these modern times, but also in past days, of certain towns. This was not due at all to changed conditions of the roads or anything else, but simply because people failed to keep up the standard which had been set them by leaders of the past generation. Urban centres which continue to maintain their desire for advancement, for modern improvement, and for developing their natural resources will have little to fear from any change which may take place in the diversion of trade under the improved road conditions of the present day. Our homes are, after all, very much what we make them, and this is the human element that enters into progress or retrogression, both of families and towns. We have only to become acquainted with the little communities, to have it brought home to us that the common people would rather maintain their own communities than trade in congested centres. The Echo has said more than once that the completion of the river front pavement can be a source of either great benefit or harm to the town of Amherstburg, dependent entirely upon the attitude of our merchants and business men themselves. If they get out after the business that naturally will come this way from the southern part, Amherstburg will reap a great benefit from the improvement of this road. But if on the other hand, they grow indifferent to this business and instead of making Amherstburg a clearing house where people can trade to greater advantage, rather than let it become merely a service station for through traffic, the town will suffer. Whether urban centres thrive or die, depends entirely on the calibre, the alertness and the business point of view of the people themselves, and not on whether concrete pavements make it easier to get to the cities to shop. The wide-awake place gets trade from its rivals, not because it is large or small, or is on a city highway, but because it has up-to-date and aggressive business men. It's the personal element that counts.
