

and wish you well, together with your sister and children.

Your friend and countryman to serve.

JOHN T. MASON.

MRS. JOHNSON.

London, Sept. 7, 1757.

Madam, I received a letter from Capt. Mason, dated the thirtieth of last month, giving an account of your unfortunate situation, and yesterday Mr. Thomlinson, who is ill in the country, sent me your letter, together with Capt. Mason's to him, with the papers relative to you. In consequence of which, I this day applied to a number of gentlemen in your behalf, who very readily gave their assistance; but as I am a stranger to the steps you intend to pursue, I can only give you liberty, at present, to draw on me for ten or fifteen guineas, for which sum your bill shall be paid, and when you furnish me with information, I shall very cheerfully give any furtherance in my power, to your relief, when I shall also send you a list of your benefactors.

I am, Madam,

Your most humble servant,

JOHN APTHORP.

MRS. SUSANNA JOHNSON.

LETTER FROM H. GROVE.

I have now the pleasure to let dear, Mrs.
