The Canadian Home Journal has again to thank the press throughout the country for their many kindly and favourable notices. We do not come into competition with any other Canadian journal, since we aim simply to be a wholesome, bright and high class home paper; with features especially interesting to Canadian women.

The kindly letters and press notices that come to us with every mail embolden us to believe that our purpose is appreciated.

Every effort will be put forth in each succeeding number of the Journal not only to maintain the standard of tone, but to aim for greater achievement both in size, matter and illustration.

We are glad to be able to say confidently that the Canadian Home Journal has already a large circulation among the very best class of our Canadian people and that there are few homes of our best known citizens where it will not be found, both in our cities and country places. A glance at our subscription list will confirm the truth of this assertion.

We draw special attention to our sketches of summer blouses in the fashion department; they were sketched from the large stock of Walker & Sons, and represent the latest styles in this popular summer bodice. This firm are most courteous in showing their goods, and the Journal acknowledges a special indebtedness in this respect.
