REV. ALEX. GILRAY,
Collego Street Presbyterian Church, writes:
Dear Sirs,—

It is with much satisfaction that I learn that you have decided to establish a branch office in Toronto, believing as I do, that the more widely your Acetic Acid remedy is made known, the greater will be the gratitude accorded to you for the relief experienced by many sufferers in Canada. We have used your Acid for over eighteen years, and are now prepared to state that it is worthy of a place in every family. We have found it thoroughly safe and effective and have commended it to many,—for which we have been thanked. We wish you success in your new quarters, as we feel sure your success will bring relief here as it has already done to large numbers in the old land and other countries. Much will depend on the patient and persevering use of the Acid as set forth in your little book.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Fred Douglass wrote a sentence by request in a lady's birthday book. Picking out the date of Abraham Lincoln's birthday, he wrote under Lincoln's name: "The only public man with whom I ever conversed for an hour without being reminded of my colour."

There are still five of the road coaches running out of London, and they will, as at present arranged, continue doing so until Easter, while it is probable that one or two others, notably the Quicksilver, which ran to Burnham Beeches during the summer, will be added to the number before Christmas.

Dear Sirs,—I was suffering very much from Diarrhoea, and could get nothing to cure me. A friend told me of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and a few doses completely cured me. Thos. L. Graham, Melita, Man.

Among the many anniversary celebrations which are to be observed this year in England is the 200th anniversary of the foundation of the Bank of England. The Old Lady of Threadneedle street came into existence in 1694; and its charter was renewed by the administration of Sir Robert Peel in 1844, when it received what is practically a monopoly of issuing English banknotes.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhoea, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I can thank this excellent remedy for saving my life. Mrs. S. Kellett, Minden, Ont.

The jewellery found recently in an excavation near one of the pyramids of old Memphis, Egypt, exhibits about as much skill in working gold and precious stones as now exists, although the articles found were made 4300 years ago. The figures cut on amethyst and carnelian are described as exquisite and anatomically correct. The gold is skilfully worked, and precious stones are let into it so as to give the effect of enamelling.

Probably the oldest clergyman in the world was a Greek priest who lately died in Thessaly, Greece, after completing his 120th year. He never left the place in which he was born and where he died. He was accustomed to begin his priestly offices before sunrise, and to retire promptly at nine. His sight and hearing were in excellent condition to the day of his death, and he never made use of glasses. He was in the active ministry for ninety-nine years.—New York Tribune.

Dear Sirs,—I have much pleasure in stating that your 'Acetocura' remedy has been used for the past fifteen years by our family. We have derived so much benefit from its application that I can heartily testify to its beneficial qualities.

"I have recommended its use to many of my friends, who also speak very highly of it as a very effective and simple remedy."

"Yours truly, Wm. Pender."

As everybody knows, a good many steady customers of barber shops and Turkish bath establishments have their own cups, brushes, soap, and so on; but it may not be so well known that certain steady customers of beer saloons keep their own mugs there. Nevertheless, this is a fact. Usually the mugs are of German stoneware, with illustrations, mottoes in old text and powder covers. And they hold more than glasses, which is much in their favour from the customer's point of view.—Evening Sun.

Mr. Grant Allen will have it that Tyndall was not a materialist. In an appreciative article in the Review of Reviews he says that "the City and West End are full of materialists, who think the universe consists entirely of matter, with a material heaven and a material hell, and with material spirits more or less pervading it. They think they themselves have souls, but that the universe at large is inert and lifeless. Against this gross materialism of the world, Tyndall, like all other thinking men, revolted. He was impressed with the infinite mystery and majesty of the cosmos."

The way in which the late President Carnot was named after the Persian poet, Sadi, who is little read nowadays, is interesting, and recalls a deal of French history. Sadi was the favourite poet of the French revolutionists of the last century, and the literature of the day is full of quotations from him. Carnot's father, of the Directory, was, like the rest, a great admirer of Sadi, and named one of his sons after him. This son was the late President's uncle, and the name was continued in the family. After the death of his father the late President was simply Mr. Carnot. Before that he had been Mr. Sadi Carnot.

Dear Sirs,—I sold your Acid Cure for 20 years, and during that time I never heard of a case that was not relieved and cured by its use. I have recommended it in bad cases of Eczema, Ring-worm, and never knew it to fail (when properly used) to effect a cure.

Yours truly, W. A. GREEN.

Hung Fung, the Chinese sage, nearly a hundred years old, being asked by the Emperor what was the great risk of the Empire, answered: "The rat in the statue"; and he explained that the rat hides in the hollow, painted, wooden statues, erected to the memory of dead ancestors, and he cannot be smoked out, because that would desecrate the statue, and cannot be drowned out, for that would wash the paint off; and so the vermin can find secure refuge in the sacred inclosure. Everywhere social evils are the rat in the statue. Many a sin gets into the Church itself, and cannot be smoked out, lest we defile the Church, nor drowned out, lest we wash off from the Church the paint of respectability.

HOME AND ABROAD.

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or travelling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with remedies which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in everyday life. For instance, Hood's Sarsaparilla as a general tonic, and to keep the blood pure and less liable to absorb the germs of disease, will be well nigh invaluable. Change of drinking water often causes serious trouble, especially if one has been used to spring water in the country. From a few drops to a teaspoonful of Hood's Sarsaparilla in a tumbler of water will prevent the water having any injurious effect.

Hood's Vegetable Pills, as a cathartic, cause no discomfort, no disturbance, no loss of sleep, but assist the digestive organs, so that satisfactory results are effected in a perfectly natural and regular manner.

It is said that a fraudulent door-mat has been put upon the market, which, though apparently made of textile material, is nothing but cheap wood-pulp, pressed into strand through tubes and rendered elastic by treatment with tallow, glue, borax, etc. Such mats can be made for a few cents and sell for $1.50. They are very attractive and deceptive in appearance, but moisture soon turns the whole fabric back into pulp.
