O eternal God! mighty in power and of majesty incomprehensible, whom Heaven of heavens cannet contain, much less the walls of temples unde with hands, and who yet has been graciously pleased to promise thy especial presence wherever two or three of thy faithful servants shall assemble in thy Name, to offer up their praises and supplications unto Thee; vouchsafe, O Lord, to be present with us, who are here gathered together with all humility and readiness of heart to lay the foundation-stone of this building, which we desire to erect to the honour of thy Name,—beseching Thee that it may be separated from all unhallowed, ordinary, and common uses; and dedicated to Thy service, for reading Thy Holy Word—for celebrating Thy Holy Sacraments—for offering to Thy glorious Majesty the sacrifices of prayer and thanksgiving—for blessing Thy people in thy Name, and for the performance of all other holy offices. Accept, O Lord, this service at our bands, and bless it with such success as may

The 100th Psalm was then sung by the choir, indeed I may say, by the whole assembled multitude. After which, the Hon, R. Harwood, in a neat and appropriate speech, returned thanks to the Free Masons for their attendance. The Rev. Dr. Bethune then pronounced the blessing; and the procession having re-formed, returned in the same order to the School-house, when the meeting dispersed. And so ended this imposing and truly gratifying remony; not so, however, the reflections such occasions

The site of the Church, on a high and prominent point of land jutting out into the lake, with a steep descent covered with brushwood down to the water's edge,immediately in front of the residence of the Hon. Mr. Justice Pyke, and the pretty cottage of Capt. Robins, is the most beautiful and picturesque which can possibly be imagined, commanding as it does a complete view of the whole lake above and below, together with the Two

Let us pray that the work thus happily begun, may soon, through the Divine blessing, be fully completed; and that the word of God proclaimed within its sacred walls, may be to many "The power of God unto salvation." The following is a copy of the inscription:

HURONTARIO CHURCH. On Wednesday, the 14th September, the corner-stone of the new Hurontario Church was laid by the Rev. R. J. MacGeorge, the Incumbent. The weather was favourable, and, notwithstanding the busy period of the year, the attendance was very respectable. Prayers were read in the present Church, after which the Reverend Gentle-man deligated as a proportion of the privalence.

About 9 o'clock Mr. Dunscomb rose and moved a long resolution of the above character. He supported it by a very neat speech, but containing nothing particularly new. It reiterated sentiments of liberality which had been previously expressed by higher than the mould not begin to do so now. It was then agreed that an address, based on the resolution, should be presented to his Excellency by the whole House. (From the Montreat Herald.) by himself and others. He asserted that the resolution was sentiments of Hoerally which are detailed that the resolution was not a vote of confidence; it was simply declaratory of the satisfaction with which the House viewed the introduction of French cardinals into the Cabinet, and the changes by which that introduction had been effected. It was his opinion, apart from the sense of the resolution, that it would have been impossible to effect the changes in such a manner as to deserve the applause of the House, without making precisely such selection as had been made; it followed as a necessary and legitimate consequence of the principles of government now conceded, that selection should be made of the man who of all others most enjoyed the confidence of his fellow subjects of the same origin; but, on this be would not dwell; he would simply repeat, that his object was not to obtain a vote of confidence in the eabinet, but a vote of congratulation which would convey to the Head of the government the deep and grateful satisfacto the Head of the government the deep and grateful satisfac-tion of the House with a measure which was an initial step Wakefield Cabinet. Both these elections commence on the towards giving the French Canadians a fair share in the government of their native country. Dr. Dunlop in reply, made the very best speech delivered by him since he has had a seat in Parliament. It was really in its way a discourse of marked excellence,—solemn, serious, and tinged with that melancholy the Second Riding of York. But, as Mr. Duggan is sure of the Second Riding of York. But, as Mr. Duggan is sure of the Second Riding of York. But, as Mr. Duggan is sure of the Second Riding of York. hue which age is apt to give to its forebodings. He said that the motion was calculated to renew those scenes of strife and bitterness which had nearly brought the House to the verge of but he was really unseated because he is not a rebel. The foot of one of these is the town in miniature called the Indian Village, which, with its glittering spire, standing ont in high relief against the dark green forest behind it, forms an interesting object in the landscape. The approach to the Church is through wooded lanes, dotted with ornamental cottages embosomed in thick orchards, whose ripening fruit in rich clusters was, on the present occasion, glistening in the variegated rays of the setting sun.

After the ceremony of the day was over, the Free Masons returned to Schneider's Hotel, where the Committee had provided a sumptanous repast, after partaking of which they returned to their respective homes, truly manner, he said he hoped certain gentlemen now in high places had seen the error of their ways; of one thing he felt couving ed, that they were not indebted for their elevation to any love. His Excellence has been the error of the more expectation of mainter that they were not indebted for their elevation to any love.

ced, that they were not indebted for their elevation to any love His Excellency bore them, for as the representative of majesty and imperial authority, "he must hate them as he hated the Devil." In conclusion, he adjured the hon, mover to withdraw his motion—"he wished to God it had never been brought forward." Mr. Johnston, standing near the centre table, said he would pause to give the gentleman an opportunity of withdrawing, and having fruitlessly done so, said "he would vote against it and cause it to be rejected." Sir A. McNab enquired of the honble, mover whether it was his intention to press his resolution that evening, and being answered in the affirmahis resolution that evening, and being answered in the affirmative, the gallant Knight proceeded to establish that the resolution read by the house a superior with his tive, the gallant Knight proceeded to establish that the tion read by the honble mover was not in conformity with his notice. With respect to the three resolutions, he came prepared to vote for one, to amend another, and to reject a third. No opportunity of discriminating was afforded by the present resolution; such ingenuity and management he denounced as unfair and unworthy, and he trusted that the majority was not so determined to trample on the minority as to press the resolution in its wholesale form that night. The learned and gallant Knight then moved that the House do resolve itself, on Monday next, into Committee of the whole, to take the resolution into conthe attendance was very respectable. Prayers were read in the present Church, after which the Reverend Gentleman delivered an appropriate discourse, on the privileges which the people enjoyed as members of the purest branch of Christ's Catholic Church, and the corresponding responsibilities which they lay under. The Clergyman and congregation then proceeded to the site of the new building, when the corner-stone was laid with the usual solemnities. The new Church is to be built of mud (or unburned) brick, which, in the opinion of the best-informed architects, is the material of all others the offered. SIR JAMES MURRAY'S FLUID MAGNESIA.

THIS elegant preparation is now in general use in all-cases of Bile Accidities, and indigestion, Gout, and Gravel. Dr. J. Johnstot states, in his Review of Dr. MURRAY'S INVENTION:—'PELLOUI SOLUTION OF MACKESI. This very useful and elegant preparation we have been trying for some months, as an aperient anti-acid in Crampton, Bart., says, "Sir J. Murray's Fluid Magnesia but more particularly derived pregnancy, from e compinants, mainthe diseases, or sea sickness."

Dr. S. B. Labatt, Richard Carmichael, and J. Kirby, Esqrs., Sorgeons, of Dublin, "consider the exhibition of Magnesia in Solution to be an important improvement on the old method of mechanical mixture, and particularly well adapted to correct those acids which generally prevail in cases of gout, gravel, and heartburn."

Sir James Clarke, Sir A. Cooper, Dr. Bright, and Messrs. Guthrie and Herbert Mayo, of London, "strongly recommend Murray's Fluid Magnesia, as being infinitely more safe and convenient, than the solid, and free from the danger strending the constant use of soda or potass."
