Lepra Cured

AS THEY WERE

As they are after four weeks' treatment.

Lepra is one of the most difficult skin diseases to cure. Mr. Pearcy, a cut of whose legs appears above, was the victim of this terrible disease. He has had it for three years. Later, and for one year it has been steadily growing worse. The skin raised up in immense scabs, and peeled off, and all the skin left the soles of his feet, leaving a raw, festering sore. This was his condition when Dr. Mc-Cully took up the case. The Medical and Surgical Association cured this man's legs in four weeks and gave him a sound healthy skin. He can now wear boots, the first time in one year. Mr. Pearcy works for the Davies' Brewing Company, and can be seen there during work hours or at home in the evenings, 145 Burnham Street. Should we again invite public investigation? Go and see this man! This is the most brilliant work we have ever seen done anywhere. Can we cure skin disease? Yes! Emphatically yes! Any kind and in any stage. But reader, if you love your dear home doctor better than a whole skin, then don't come. Let home talent cover up the results of his ignorance with the green sash of the valley in the usual orthodox manner.
Our specialties are chronic diseases and deformities of every description, male and female and the follies of youth, manhood and old age. Come and see us.
