SAINTS OF THE MONTH OF JUNE.

(From The Catholic School and Home Magazine.)

St. Columna, on Columnille, June 9 521-597, the great apostle of the Hebrides, a patriarch of the monastic orders county of Donegal, in 521. He studied under the famous St. Finnian at Moville, and under another St. Finnian at Clonard, where he was ordained priest in 546. He took the name of Columcille or "Dove of the Church." In 550 he founded the monastery of Durrow, which was the greatest of his many establishments in Ireland. In 563, accompanied by twelve disciples, he set sail for the island of Iona, where he established a monastery which became the nursery of learning and missionary zeal for Europe. He converted the Pictish tribes to Christianity and established monasteries in various parts of Scotland and the Western Islands. He died as he knelt before the altar of his church in Iona, June 9, 597. The Book of Kells, one of the most valuable, manuscripts extant, preserved in Trinity College, Dublin, is supposed to be the work of his pen. His relic was carried to Down and laid in the same shrine with the bodies of St. Patrick and St. ALOYSUS, C. JUNE 21, 1568-1591. This beautiful young Saint, model of youth and patron of the Schools, was born near Brescia, in Italy, March 9, 1568. At nine years of age, he vowed himself to a life of perpetual virginity, thus abandoning the Court of Tuscany and giving up all worldly ambition, in order to love and serve God alone. The great St. Charles Borromeo gave him his first Holy Communion. His life of piety led him to follow the path pointed out to him by the Blessed Virgin, and at eighteen years of age, after three years of severe opposition from his father, he en-tered the Novitiate of the Jesuits. He made over all his estates to his brother, bade farewell to his family with those touching words: "I seek nothing but the salvation of my soul; may you all do the same." While at the study of theology, he was called upon to exercise his charity towards those afflicted by the pestilence, and fell a victim to it. He died June 21, 1591, a martyr to Christian charity. May our boys learn to love this beautiful Saint, who is the great model or all who study.

Sr. John the Bartist, June 24. This aint was chosen by God to prepare the way for the coming of Curist, and because f this great mission he was sanctified before his birth. His father Zachary was a holy priest of the family of Abia and less mother was Edzabeth, coasia, to the Bassed Mother of Jesus. His birth was foretool by an angel sant by Gol. He dwelt by himself in the will region west or the Dead sea and prepared himself by fasting and perance for the great work God sent him to do. His dress was that stock of Black Dr of the prophets of old, a varment woven Family Mourning of camel's hair, attached to the body by a Black French Ca leathern girdle. His feed was such as the descris afforded, locusts and wild honey. He preached the Way of the Lord in the confessing of sins, and the baptism of penance. Jesushimself came from Galilee to the river Jordan to be baptized by him, before he began his pubic life. His preaching offended Hero! Antipas, who had taken to himself Herodias, the wife of his brother Philip, and he was east into prison. At a court festival, a laughter of this woman danced before Herod, and so pleased him that he promised to grant her any request she would make. Her mother prompted her to ask for the head of John the Baptist, and John was beheaded to gratify the wiesed woman whose sins he had condemned.

St. Peter, Prince of the Algebras JUNE 29. He was the son of Jonas and brother of St. Andrew, born at Bathsat Ia, by the lake of Galilee, where he spent his early years as a fisherman. His name that when Christ called him to be a disciple, he changed it to Peter, which means a "rock." He became the Chief of the Apostles and the Vicar of Christ on earth. St. Peter planted the taith in many countries near Jude t. He dose Rome for the principal seat of his labors and went there in the year 51. In the year 55, on the twenty-ninth of June, he was crucified by order of the Emperor, Nore. At his own special request he was crucified with his head downward, be cause be thought himself unworthy to die like Christ. St. Peter lives in his successors, and the surest test of the purity of our taith is our devotion to the Pone.

JOHN REDMONUS VISIT.

An Expression of His Views-His Denarture Postmoned on Account of filmess. In an interview Mr. Redmond says that he intends to stay only a week In New York and that he will be madde to visit Chicago. His return is hastened by the expected general chection. He hopes to explain the position of his party to Trish-American optimon strongly sides with the Paraellites. Mr. Redmond said he could not take a confident view of the immediate future of Home Rale, finding It quite impossible to understand Mr. Gradstone's continued silence. He hoped that the financial result of his visit to American would be considerable. He would be able, he said, to show his countrymen in New York that his party is not responsible for the present distingen.

Since this interview was had with Mr. Redmond a meeting of McCarthyites has been held for the purpose of organizing for the elections. It was erroneously reported that the object was to discuss a reconciliation with the Paraellites on the basis of a mitual abstention from contesting existing seats. On the contrary, it was dedict, and the decision was approved umanimously to contest the majority of the Paraellite seats.
