

resigned from the staff as she found it to her advantage to teach privately. Some few years ago she gave a concert in Windsor Hall. She was exceedingly well received on that occasion, so much so in fact that she has worked up a complete new programme which she intends to carry out in Montreal at an early date.

The above is not written in a boastful strain but to convey to you the fact that Mrs. Ross is not an inexperienced novice and that her views relating to the musical world should carry some weight. She is quite prepared to substantiate in detail my arguments set forth in my previous letter.

I resigned from the Graduated Society three years ago for personal reasons which I prefer not to discuss. My loyalty to the Faculty of Applied Science however is in no way impaired.
