

The Life of Charles Dickens. By John Forster,
author of "Life of Goldsmith," "Life of Landor," etc.
Vol. I., 1812 to 1842. With Two Portraits from Steel and Fac-Similes. Second edition. 12mo. Extra cloth. $2.

"The publication of Mr. Forster's 'first volume' will almost prove as great a surprise to the world as the first appearance of the first story which won fame for the subject of the biography. . . . Now for the first time we seem to have learned the secret of the individuality belonging to all of Dickens's really great novels. . . . In all the history of literature and of literary training there is nothing more touching, more interesting and more instructive. . . . Mr. Forster's book is suggestive enough to open a new chapter in literary criticism. . . . Whether in the way of biography or of criticism, he has done his work admirably; and when the book is completed, we shall have a Life of Dickens worthy of the man and of the enduring creations of his brain."—London Daily News.

"The work could not have been entrusted to more loving hands, a more genial writer or a more faithful and accurate historian."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"Of all men living, Mr. Forster is the best qualified to be Charles Dickens's biographer."—Philadelphia Press.

"Should the remainder of the work equal the first volume in excellence, no more satisfactory record of Dickens's career can be looked for in our generation."—London Standard.

"The author of this life has fairly earned the eulogy which Charles Dickens bestowed upon him when, years ago, he wrote: 'I desire no better assurance for my fame, when my personal dustiness shall be past the control of my love of order, than such a biographer and such a critic.'"—London Morning Post.

Essays of an Optimist. By John William Kaye,
F. R. S., author of "History of the War in Afghanistan,"
"Life of Lord Metcalfe," "History of the Sepoy War," etc. 16mo. Extra cloth. $1.50.

"It would be difficult to find a book which is more pleasurable and profitable, or which combines in greater degree good common sense with uncommonly good writing."—New York Evening Mail.

"We most sincerely trust that Mr. Kaye's book may find its way into many an English household. It cannot fail to instill lessons of manliness."—Westminster Review.

Light of the World, and other Poems and Hymns.
By Eminent Writers. Beautifully Illustrated. 4to. Superfine paper. Extra cloth, full gilt. $5.

"We hardly know anything so sweet, so devout and so artistically perfect as these designs. They enter into the soul like a sweet Sabbath twilight."—New York Independent.

"It is a quarto volume, exquisite in paper, typography and binding, containing a number of poems of a religious character by living English poets. Each poem is illustrated, and the designs are all very original and beautiful. Some of them are worthy of being separated and framed."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Poems. By Lucy Hamilton Hooper. With a Portrait from steel. 12mo. Toned paper. Extra cloth.
Gilt top. $1.75.

"Mrs. Hooper has rapidly taken a high rank among the poets of America. In this volume there is much that ascends to very lofty and noble regions of thought and feeling."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.