U. S. Wheat for Export.

The movement of wheat to the primary markets of the United States from July 1, 1910, to Jan. 1, 1911, was about 158,009,000 bushels, compared with 175,009,000 bushels for the corresponding time in 1909. The exports of flour and wheat during the same were about 37,000,000, compared with 62,000,000 bushels for the same time last year, a decrease of 25,000,000 bushels, or 40,3 per cent.

The official visible supply of wheat on Jan. 1 was about 14,000,000 bushels, or 14,000,000 bushels larger than reported one year previous. Estimating the wheat crop of the United States ing the wheat crop of the United States at 605,00,000 bushels, and allowing 88,000, 100 bushels for supplies in all positions on July 1, 1900, aggregate supplies for the 2 months would be approximately 783,000, 100 bushels. Allowing 525,000,000 bushels for consumption, about 90,000,000 bushels for each during the harvest year and 37,000,000 bushels export during the current six months and for supplies on hand July 1, 1911, about 141,000,000 bushels.
