You speak of this man as an undersized, scrubby Englishman with a portentous growl- I say, Mr. Editor, all honor to a man who has the sand to fight for his little ones, and see that they were not imposed upon by the restaurant people, who were solely to blame for exhibiting to customers a bill of fare, knowing fully well they were unable to fulfil it. That, Mr. Editor, is the deception of the worst type. It would have been setting a good example to this "scrubby emigrant" if the proprietor had closed his doors, and putting up a sign that his dinner was "all gone," and not try to palm off a piece of meat, a glass of water and a toothpick on some poor hungry children.

I hope as a matter of fair play you will insert this in the paper.

GENTLEMEN WILL NOT.

Editor World: On Saturday afternoon I took my wife out to see the baseball game between Toronto and Providence, and after paying $1 for two admissions I enquired if there was not part of the grand stand where smoking was not allowed. I was directed to the part where two large signs were stuck up reading: "This section reserved for ladies; no smoking

We sat in this section and found that a large majority of the men who came in smoked unmolested. Worse still the profanity and vulgarty was sickening. If that was the section reserved for ladies I should hate to sit in any other section

Where Queens Win From The Korea Daily News. There is hardly a king in christendom to-day whose wife does not overtophim by a head. The czar is overtopped a full head by the czarina. Kaiser Wilhelm is of medium height, but the German empress is tall, and that is the proud kaiser will never consent to be photographed beside his wife inless she sits, while he stands. The King of Italy, short and squat, hardly comes up to the shoulders of the tall athletic Queen Helena. The King of Portugal, the fatter, is less tall than his good four inches shorter than the G. From The Mother's Magazine, Mrs. Rachael Hughes of Henry County, Iowa, recently celebrated her linety-sixth birthday with fourteen of her fifteen children present to do her honor. Her son, Edward Hughes, of Seneca. Kan., a man of 80 years of age, is the eldest "child," while the youngest Clark Hughes of Emporia, Kan., is 50 years old. All but one of the children are married, and Mrs. Hughes has 51 living grandshildren and 18 great-grandchildren. It has been stated re-cently that the state of longevity has increased very much in our country in the past seventy-five or eighty years. It is certainly great in some localities when a mother has a son 80 years old at her birthday party.
