Commenting on a proposed constitu tional amendment concerning municipal per's Weekly very truly points out that something more than legislative enactments are necessary to duplicate in American cities the honest and efficient administration that characterizes the bestgoverned municipalities of Europe. It is not so much their system that the Americans have to revise as their representatives. In the Herman cities the sentatives. In the German cities the aldermen are for the most part citizens "Now, as Shakespeare says," began the Congressman from the steenth district of Pennsylvania.

to do with municipal affairs. As a rule we get neither ability nor dignity in the Mayor's chair, and the Council gen-erally includes among its members not to aspire to municipal honors. This requires a change of feeling among the best classes of our citizens, and it is a change that cannot be brought about by legislation. Toronto ought to have among its representatives on the Council Board men as able as Premier Mowat and the members of his Cabinet. The revenue of the city is as large as that of the Provincial Government, and the spending of the citizens' money should be entrusted to men who are at least as able as those who are responsible for the administration of Provincial affairs.

Two weeks ago to-night I was in a store when Brudder Waydown Bebee cum in dar and got measured fur three shirts, dat dey be made to button didn't see me, an' I was so paralized dat I couldn't hev' spoken' to him if he had. All my life I has bought onbleached cotton at 6 cents a yard, an had de ole woman make my shirts; an' dey was shirts man make my shirts; an' dey was shirts same as George Washington, Henry Clay and Abraham Linkum wore. Did Patr'ck Henry hold a bottle of vaseline in his hand when he closed dat memorahle speech by saying, 'Gin me liberty or gin me death?' Did Abraham Linkum go an' brush his teeth wid pink powder befo' signing dat emancipashun proclamashun? Shakespeare, Byron an Milton cleaned deir teeth wid a rag tied to a stick, but our Elder Toots must fill his mouf wid Paris powder an' grease up his paws like a duke! Doan' make no difference dat he's in debt an' got a big fam'ly, an' doan' work half de time—he's got to be in style!

"Whar am Brudder Shindig Watkins to night? I answer dat he am home an' in bed, an' de doctor says his backbone am two inches outer plumb. I was workin' in my garden de odder day when Brudder Watkins cum in to see me. He leaned up agin de fence an' talked, an' he sot down on my onion bed an' talked, an' by an' by he sprung it on me. What d'ye s'pose dat pusson wanted? Wanted to borry fo' dollars to get a pa'ro' shoes—patent leather shoes—an' another dollar to buy two pa'rs o' red Summer socks.
