The President, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., in moving the adoption of the Report said:

It gives me great pleasure to be able to present to the Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, a statement which, showing decided advance in every department of the Company's interests, must be a source of gratification not only to the management, but to the shareholders and to all who are concerned, either directly or indirectly, in its prosperity and standing.

The gross earnings and net profits of the Company have been very gratifying. The Company has evidently shared in the general prosperity and derived the advantage of the more buoyant and hopeful spirit which such a condition has created during the past year.

The net profits on the operations of the past twelve months show a material advance over the figures of 1908. They amounted to $97,590.55, which was distributed as follows:

The sum of $72,312.23 was devoted to the payment of two semi-annual dividends, at the rate of six per cent. per annum. There remained $25,278.32 to be placed at the credit of Profit and Loss Account. This brought the total of this credit to the sum of $207,150.02, in comparison with $181,571.70 at the credit of Profit and Loss at the end of 1908.

Further emphasis of the satisfactory nature of the Company's operations for the year under consideration may be given in pointing out that the permanent deposits, or those with a determinate date, show an important increase in amount over the figures of 1908, a circumstance giving evidence of an increasing confidence on the part of the public in the good management and sound condition of the Company.

This confidence is further shown by the fact that the increase in the amount of trust funds confided to the custody of the Company amounted to $925,817.52.

The assets of the Company also show an encouraging growth, another 25 per cent. increase over the total of the previous year having been recorded, the sum of $7,431,639.29 being the total, as against the total of last year of $5,883,677.58, an increase of $1,547,961.71, the best showing in this regard yet achieved.

The greatly increased volume of appointments recorded during the past year is to be regarded as another evidence of the growing confidence of the public in the Company.

The Estates Department, whose concern is with the administration of estates under will or trusts appointment, has been favored with a remarkable growth in two respects—numerically, and in the increase of important character and amount. This indicates what is important to a fiduciary institution, a growing development of the great confidence and consequent confidence of permanency and financial strength.

Similar appreciation, and to a much more marked degree, is developed by the prompt and accurate manner in which the corporate share transfer business of the Company is conducted—to the satisfaction of its growing clientele and the profit of the Company.

Still another feature of the Company's business that is conducted to the satisfaction of its clients is the discharge of its functions as assignee and liquidator. The substitution of a permanent corporate element for the individual and mutable is appreciated in connection with the satisfactory service given in the liquidation of company affairs, as well as in liquidation involving administrative functions.

The large increase of about half a million in the investments of the Company in the Canadian West, made under the direction of a competent local Advisory Board, is to be regarded with favor; the rate of interest realized yields a good profit, with prompt payments. The great care exercised in placing investments provides excellent security, and gives the Company a standing in a country whose wonderful actual growth, and still more wonderful possibilities of expansion and development, forecast a future with whose realization the business interests of the Company can very profitably be identified.

A strong feature of the position of the Company is the general increase in the volume, extent and character of its business, which is, in the broadest sense, legitimate, as contrasted with a speculative character. No underwriting is done, and the Company's business enjoys a healthy growth, by virtue of doing the business it is organized to do.

While the general volume of business has shown no phenomenal increase, the growth is steady and conservative in character. The profits may not be as large as might be possible under more varied conditions of operations but the business done is safe, the profits assured, and the fundamental element of success in operations of a fiduciary character—confidence—is created.

It is, therefore, not as remarkable as it is gratifying, to be able to state that during recent years there has been a substantial growth of a paid-up capital of the Company. The shareholders have voluntarily made payments upon the shares subscribed, to the amount of about a quarter of a million dollars. This indicates a flattering confidence in the safety of the business methods of the Company and in its soundness and stability.

Altogether, the Report covers the operations of one of the most, if not the most, prosperous years in the life of the Company, and there is every indication that present favorable conditions will continue. The growth of Canada, marked as it has been for the past few years, seems to be only beginning; development and expansion constitute the key-note of the future. We have immense national enterprises, giving employment to commercial and private enterprise. With the growth of public education in relation to financial undertakings and institutions, resulting in a knowledge of the economy and strict business methods that prevail in the administration of estate and other trusts by a corporation like the Trusts and Guarantee Company, and with a continuation of the safe and effective management that has marked the past and will characterize the future, the Company can confidently look forward to a continuously prosperous future.

I have great pleasure in moving the adoption of the Report.

Mr. D. W. Karn, the Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the Report, and congratulated the shareholders on the splendid showing made by the Company during the past year.

MRS. FELKER OFFERED HALF VALUE OF FARM

Mr. Ross of Monck Sheds New Light on What Hydro Pays For Easements.

Hydro-electric power and the development of New Ontario had the call in the discussion on the budget debate, which was resumed in the legislature yesterday afternoon. In regard to the former question, J. A. Ross, the member for Monck, gave some pretty straight talk on the details of the Felker case, which aroused the wrath of W. Proudfoot (Centre Huron). The latter gentleman's fulminations drew forth a lively series of interjections from the premier and Hon. Adam Beck. The air was quite charged with electricity at times, in fact, as Mr. E. B. McCormick (E. Lambton), who took up the debate on behalf of the opposition, declared his willingness to hold up both hands in favor of the schools system. The present system, which compelled attendance at the larger centres, favored the richer classes at the expense of the poorer.

He also made a point of view of the revision of the Assessment Act. "Would Build the Spur," said T. R. Shillington (Timiskaming), said that the T. & N. O. should not be looked upon as a mere railway making proposition, but as a colonization road. He would build that spur line right thru from Charlton to Sudbury. He believed in the T. & N. O. and would be given to both the G. T. R. and the C. P. R. over the line to the Grand Trunk Pacific.

It was in the interests of the province in general that the railway commission should be a man from northern Ontario. In regard to the department of lands, he was sorry to say it had suffered from incompetent fire rangers. He hoped this would be remedied.

Roads and bridges were needed in the north country. If a comprehensive drainage system were inaugurated, thousands of acres of lands could be put in condition in a very short space of time.

There should be a trunk road in every township. There should be a Grand Trunk line right thru from Latchford to the G. T. P. It should be built piece by piece and year by year. It would do more to open up the country than we had any idea of at present.

An unfortunate state of affairs existed in regard to veteran grants. These should either be bought off at a price, or the men should be got to settle on the land.

Referring to the wonderful possibilities of the north country, he thought something should be done to get part of the Dominion grant to agriculture applied to northern Ontario. The north-west should not get all.

Gowanda and Capoline. He replied to the criticisms of the member for W. Wellington, directed against the reduction of mining royalties. While a few companies had been able to pay a heavy price for the land, some others had had to close down for lack of money, others had been called upon to undertake expenditures ranging from $1000 to $100,000.

Speaking of the new mining districts, he said: "Notwithstanding all the reports of the viscerals, I believe that Gowanda and Capoline are worth investing in. I also believe that the time is coming when we will have the greatest gold mining camp in the world in Port Huron. The land in the house should be turned in that direction for the protection of greater Ontario."

J. G. Elliott. J. G. Elliott (W. Middlesex) concurred in the remarks of the previous speaker in praise of the development of New Ontario. Mining should not, however, be so treated as industry of the country.

He failed to see any constructive legislation outlined to meet the increased expenditure. If this increased in the next session, he would be glad to see it. It would require more than faith to keep the province from a serious financial condition.

He was in favor of cheap power, but the hydro-electric would be of no benefit to the great mass of the people of the province for many years to come, and should not, therefore, be burdened or taxed for its support.

He was harped on the story of the Felker case, and asked the old question, "why should the farmer be precluded from access to the courts?" He didn't say that the attorney-general would use his power or withholding a flat unfairly, but why should the commission be placed in a different position from other corporations entering on the land.

Referring to the power bylaw submitted to the electors of London in which he read that the electors were only asked to vote on taking power at a minimum rate, he asked why, if the municipalities found they were unable to dispose of all the power they had contracted for, they should not be given another chance to say whether they would take it up under the changed conditions.

The Work of the Electric Ring. J. A. Ross (Monck), who delivered his maiden speech in the house, made a distinctly favorable impression with a strong and convincing vindication of the hydro-electric commission against the opposition cries of conservation. A certain electric ring, certain legal luminaries looking for a job and certain Grit politicians were the leaders of the pitchfork brigade, which incited the farmers against the commission. Much had been said about the oppression of the poor farmer, but some of the farmers were actually getting rich out of the power policy. Even Liberals in the section thru which the transmission line passed, had told him that there had been paid more for easements than their lands were worth.

Honorable gentlemen opposite would surely pay some respect to the words of Hon. Clifford B. Horton, who declared Ottawa was one of the greatest undertakings ever entered upon in Canada.

He then quoted from The Buffalo Courier, which pointed out that Buffalo, right at Niagara Falls, paid $25 per h.p. because it was bled by an electric ring, and complained Ontario on its progressive power policy.

Reverting to the easement question, he drew the attention of the house to the fact that in the Township of Gainsboro, from $100 to $1000 had been paid for the privilege of erecting towers.

The necessity for a flat was criticized. But it was required in the case of the T. & N. O. and of the Intercolonial Railway. Why not then for the hydro? The commission would be responsible in case of accident. He knew all about the Felker case and was not afraid to stand up for her $5000 farm. For the privilege of erecting two towers, occupying about 19 square feet of land on a strip of the property across the road from the house, the commission had offered $500. And the owner had actually accepted the offer once, and had it not been for the legal luminaries referred to, she would have had her $500 long ago.

Primer No. Good. W. Proudfoot (Centre Huron), had a little tilt with the government and the new school books. The T. & N. O. had thrown it out. It would have to be called in. The people wouldn't stand for it.

To repeat calls for "reason," "have you read," "read us a chapter," from all over the house, all Mr. Proudfoot could do was to reiterate that the book was "no good."

Other provinces are about to issue the same books after negotiation with the premier.

He was not attacking the hydro-electric policy. Mr. Proudfoot was in favor of public ownership, but the government should amend its method of dealing with easements.

The statement of the member for Monck that Grit politicians were inciting the farmers against the work of the commission was the most untruthful statement that had ever been made in the most truthful statement," retorted the premier.

"The chairman of the commission knows that some of the own political friends are opposing the scheme," Mr. Proudfoot came back with.

"And so was the leader of the opposition at the last election," put in Hon. Adam Beck, to which Sir James McKinnon replied, "I am not a politician."
