

people have done nobly. The public Sabbath services have been well attended, and with good results. Prayer and class meetings have been regularly and profitably sustained at each appointment. Peace and harmony have prevailed amongst us, and we have not been without some special manifestations of Divine power and blessing. Valuable improvements have been made on the parsonage, necessitating considerable expense, most of which has been provided for. Removals, 19; dropped, 14; members, 59. A. B. HAMES.

MEADOW LEA.—The year past has given us much encouragement. The deep attention manifest in the regular services, and the steady progress of spiritual life among some of our people, have been satisfactorily watched. We had looked for greater numerical increase, but though disappointed in this direction, we feel much encouraged in seeing the young people taking an active part in the Sunday evening services at Meadow Lea appointment. We have just organized a Sunday-school here, from which we expect to get help for our future work. Financially, the funds of the church have suffered nothing from the depression so generally and painfully felt. Members, 60.

GLADSTONE.—The record of our mission is one of success, despite distances, poor church and shed accommodation, and the sparseness of settlement. The depression caused by commercial stringency, however, has produced much hardship. The building of a parsonage, the holding of two series of special services, and the ordinary pastoral work, have occupied the year. Your missionary rejoices in a quickened state of the church, and the conversion of many souls. Removals and deaths offsetting the additions to the church, we have no increase to report. Membership, 45. J. E. ALLEN.

NEEPAWA.—Some degree of success has attended the labours of your missionary. Notwithstanding the financial pressure in the country, the various funds of the church have been well sustained. Two new appointments were taken up, and two other settlements are asking for preaching. Congregations improving. Members, 76; increase, 25.

BIG PLAIN.—We have to record a year of success in the Lord's work. Special services were held at two appointments, and a large number were converted and added to the church. Our congregations have increased, and manifested gratifying interest in the means of grace. Owing to financial depression, contributions to the funds of our church have not been as large as they otherwise would, but of this we cannot complain. There are many who are blessed with a spirit of liberality, and are worthy of commendation in this respect. Members, 78.

MINNEDOSA.—In the report of last year reference was made to the mission's financial discouragements, which followed as the reaction of the boom in this Province, but it was then fondly hoped by the
