

The Old Year and the New.
Voice of the Ring Year! I hear the sound Like some great breaker of the distant sea.
Chasing the future rock. Is this the end Of the fresh morning morn, pushing out In promise of hope? How the bright dawn Of Spring's young beauty, crowned with budding flowers.
The passion vow of summer and the pledge Of faithful, faithful autumn, come to this?
I see thy youngling moon, from the west,
The midnight clock gives warning, and its stroke Must be thy death-knell. Is that quivering gasp The last sad utterance of this agony?
I see thy clay cold finger strike to clasp Some prop—ah! vain!
And so thou art no more,
No more! The rest is with oblivious years Beyond the flood. Yet when the trump shall sound,
Blown by the strong archangel, thou shalt wake From the dim sleep of ages. When the toaube That took their slumbering tenants cleave in two,
Thou shalt come forth. Thou shalt rise again,
And I shall look upon thee, when the dead Stand before God. But come not murmuring forth, Unwillingly, like Samuel's summoned ghost, To dance at the judgment. No! be kind.
Be pitiful, bear witness tenderly.
And if thou hast a dead account for me, Go, dip thy dark scroll in redeeming blood.
—Mrs. Sigourney.

The Broken Crutch.
One hot day in the month of June, a poor sun-burnt sailor, with but one leg, was going along the road, when his crutch broke in two and he was forced to crawl on his hands and knees to the side of the road, and sit down to wait till some coach or cart came by, whose driver he could ask to take him up. The first that passed by was a stage coach; but the man who drove it was a surly fellow, and he would not help the sailor, as he thought he should not be paid for it.
Soon after this, the tired sailor fell fast asleep upon the ground, and though a thick shower of rain came on, yet did he sleep for sailors, when on board their ships, have to bear all sorts of weather.
When the wind blows, the waves of the sea dash over the deck of the vessel, and they wet the poor man to the skin, while they are pulling the ropes and shifting the sails.
When the lame sailor awoke, he found a boy's coat and waistcoat laid on his head and shoulders, to keep him from being wet; and the boy sat by, in his shirt, trying to mend the broken crutch, with two pieces of wood and some strong twine. "My good lad," said the sailor, "why did you pull off your own clothes to keep me from being wet?"
"O," said he, "I do not mind the rain; but I thought, the large drops that fell on your face would awake you! and you must be sadly tired to sleep so soundly upon the ground.
See! I have almost mended your crutch, which I found broken; and if you can lean on me, and cross yonder field to my uncle's farm-house, I am sure he will get you a new crutch. Pray, do try to go there. I wish I was tall enough to carry you on my back!" The sailor looked at him with tears in his eyes, and said, "When I went to sea, five years ago, I left a boy behind me, and if I should find him such a good fellow as you seem to be, I shall be as happy as the day is long, though I have lost my leg, and must go on crutches all the rest of my life."
"What was your son's name?" the boy asked.
"Tom White," said the sailor, "and my name is John White." When the boy heard these names, he jumped up, threw his arms around the sailor's neck and said, "My dear, dear father, I am Tom White, your own little boy." How great was the sailor's joy, thus to meet his own child, and to find him so good to those who wanted help! Tom had been taken care of by his uncle while his father was at sea, and the suburban, lame sailor, found a happy home in the farm house of his brother, and though he had now a new crutch he kept the old one as long as he lived, and showed it to all strangers who came to the farm, as a proof of the kind heart of his dear son Tom.

A Sister's Value.
Have you a sister? Then love and cherish her with that pure and holy friendship which renders a brother so worthy and noble. Learn to appreciate her sweet influence as portrayed in the following words:
"He who has never known a sister's kind administration, nor felt his heart warming beneath her endearing smile and love-beaming eye, has been unfortunate indeed. It is not to be wondered at if the fountains of pure feeling flow in his bosom but sluggishly, or if the gentle emotions of his nature be lost in the sterner attributes of his manhood."
"That man grows up among affectionate sisters," I once heard a lady of much observation and experience remark.
"And why do you think so?" said I.
"Because of the rich development of all the tender feelings of the heart."
"A sister's influence is felt even in man-hood's riper years; and the heart of him who has grown cold in chilly contact with the world will warm and thrill with pure enjoyment as some sweet accident awakens within him the soft tones of the glad melodies of his sister's voice; and he will turn from her words a warped and false philosophy had reformed into expediency, and even sweep for the gentle influence which moved him in his earlier years."
Saturday Night.
What blessed things Saturday nights are, writes some one in the Tribune, and what would the world do without them? These breathing moments in the tramping march of life; these little twilights in the broad and garish days of noon, when pale yesterdays look beautiful through the shadows, and faces "so bright long ago, smile sweetly again in the dusk, and one remembers 'the old folks' home," and the old-fashioned fire, and the old arm-chair, and the little brother that died, and the little sister that was "transferred."
Saturday nights make people human; set their hearts to beating softly, as they used to do, before the world turned them into war-drums, and jotted them into pieces with tattoos.
The ledger closes with a clack, the irondoored vaults come to with a bang; up go the shutters with a will; click goes the key in the lock. It is Saturday night, and business breathes free again. Homeward, ho! The door that has been ajar all the week gently closed behind him; the world is shut out. Shut out? Shut in, rather. Here are his treasures after all, and not in the vault, and not the book—save the record in the old quarterly—no, not in the bank.

"May be you are a bachelor, frisky and forgetful. Then, peer follow! Stagnant air's coming to you, just as you are nothing to any body. Get a wife, blue-eyed or black-eyed, but above all, true-eyed—get a little home, no matter how little, and a little sofa, just to hold two, or two-and-a-half, and then get the two, or the two-and-a-half in it, of a Saturday night, and then read this paragraph by the light of your wife's eyes, and thank God and take congratulation."
The din and dusty shops are swept up; the hammer is thrown down, the apron is doff'd, and Labor hastes with a light step, homeward bound.
"Saturday night!" feebly murmurs the languishing, as she turns wearily upon her couch, "and is there another to come?"
"Saturday night, at last!" whispers the weeper above the dying, "and it is Sunday to-morrow, and — to-morrow!" Hold on, Mother.
Such was the exhortation of a sailor to his widowed mother. He had several children, for whom "he prayed day and night, and continually." Manifestly in answer to her prayers, one after another was awakened by the Spirit of God, convinced of sin, and subdued into saying reconciliation through the medium of Christ crucified. One of her sons followed the Lord for eleven years. Much had she prepared for her "poor sailor boy," and many a letter had she written him, rich with material counsel and solatium. When at home, she had taken unwearied pains, such as none but a pious mother would take, to withdraw him from all improper associations, and to interest him in whatsoever things are pure, and true, and lovely.
At length she received letters from him, which breathed a new spirit, and spoke a new language. I listened to the voice of that mother, as with "joy unspeakable" she read to me three of those letters, richly expressive of the love and feelings of a new-born soul. In them all, he acknowledged his special indebtedness to her faithful warnings, and never-failing prayers. In one he spoke of the condition and prospects of her children who still remained impenitent; and in order to encourage her to do for them as she had done for him, he says, "Hold on, mother; your prayers may yet be answered in their conversion." Character for Integrity.
We have some where seen a notice of a Rotterdam thread merchant who had accumulated fifty thousand dollars by his own industry, punctuality and integrity, and it was remarked of him that he never let a yard of bad thread go out of his hands, and would never take more than a reasonable profit. By these means he acquired such entire public confidence, that his customers would as willingly send a blind man or a child to buy for them as themselves.
We refer to the case not to intimate that we have no such instances among ourselves, but for the purpose of suggesting the great value to any business man of such a character, and the exceeding agreeableness to dealers with him of the confidence he inspires.
And we refer to the case for strict integrity acquired, and the character for strict integrity acquired, is of as much real worth to its possessor as pecuniary savings of his industry. Let such a man lose, by any misfortune, all his money, he is still a man of capital, of weight, of influence, and is the superior, on mere business calculations, of many a man of large moneyed means.
But the beauty of the thing is this, that any man however small his business and limited his capital, has just as good an opportunity of winning confidence as the millionaire. Integrity in small things is even more impressive than integrity in great things. And after all, that man may say in private of water-skill, shrewdness and tact of particular business men, there is one character towards which all minds instinctively render their reverence—and that is the man who would prefer to be honest than wealthy, and who prefers integrity to gain.

DEVINE'S
Compound Pitch Lozenge.
An appeal to matter of fact, and common sense.
It is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a CERTAIN CURE for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Costiveness, Asthma, and Consumption, and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration, and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted can be done.
We do not ask you, reader, to take our word, but those who, but a few weeks ago had given up in despair and are now in the enjoyment of health and without asking have given us their certificates in favor of this great remedy.
Let all, then, who are afflicted, TRY IT, and if the assertions on each box are not proved after an impartial trial, the price will be returned; when the Lozenge is being exposed to the air in the open weather should become soft, it is no objection, but rather goes to prove that they are in good condition.
S. D. Fuller & Co., Boston, Proprietors for

LESLIE'S STOVE VARNISH.
A Valuable discovery by which all Stoves, Pipes, Grates, Franklin, Iron Railings, and every description of Iron work, (where an intense heat is not required,) whether exposed to the weather or not, may be kept a splendid Jet Black with a beautiful polish as a Coach Body and with one third the labor bestowed on other preparations.
This is a valuable preparation on account of its anti-corrosive properties, all Stoves and Pipes which are put away during the summer should have an application of the Stove Varnish which would effectually prevent the rusting or corroding of the Iron.
The Varnish is strongly recommended to Land-lors and the Public in general, from three facts: First, its cheapness brings it within the reach of all; Second, from its high polish and durability, two applications during the year being at all necessary for a Fireplace, and lastly, from no labour being required in its application, this last fact being entirely in the name of "SERVANT'S FRIENDS."

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT
A MOST MIRACULOUS CURE OF BAD LEGS, AFTER 45 YEARS SUFFERING.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Galpin, of 70, St.
Mary Street, Liverpool, dated May 15th, 1851.
To Professor HOLLOWAY,
Sir.—At the age of 18 my wife (who is now 61) caught a violent cold, which settled in her legs, and ever since that time they have been more or less sore, and greatly inflamed. Her agonies were distracting, and for months together she was deprived entirely of rest and sleep. Every remedy that medical men advised was tried, but without effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her legs was terrible. I had often read your Advertisements, and advised her to try your Pills and Ointment, and, as a last resource, after every other remedy had proved useless, she consented to do so. She commenced six weeks ago, and strange to relate, is now in good health. Her legs are painless, without scars or sores, and her sleep sound and undisturbed. Could you have witnessed the sufferings of my wife during the last 43 years, and contrast them with her present enjoyment of health, you would indeed feel delighted in having been the means of so greatly alleviating her sufferings of a fellow creature.
(Signed) WILLIAM GALPIN.
A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A BAD LEG OF THIRTY YEARS STANDING.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Abbs, Balder of Gas Street, Rochdale, near Huddersfield, dated May 1st, 1851.
To Professor HOLLOWAY,
Sir.—I suffered for a period of thirty years from a bad leg, the result of two or three different accidents at Gas Works, accompanied by scorbutic symptoms. I had resorted to a variety of medical advice, without effect, and benefit, and was even told that the leg must be amputated, yet, in opposition to that opinion, your Pills and Ointment effected a complete cure in so short a time, that I feel who had not witnessed it would credit the fact.
(Signed) WILLIAM ABBS.
The truth of this statement can be proved by Mr. W. P.
England, Chemist, 13 Market Street, Huddersfield.
A DREADFUL BAD BREAST CURED IN ONE MONTH.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. Frederick Turner, of Penhurst, Kent, dated Dec. 15th, 1850.
To Professor HOLLOWAY,
Dear Sir.—My wife had suffered from Bad Breast for more than six months, during the whole period had the best medical attendance, but all to no use. Having before heard an awful wound in my own leg, by your understanding medicine, I determined again to use your Pills and Ointment, and therefore gave them a trial in her case, and fortunate it was I did so, for in less than a month a perfect cure was effected, and the benefit that various other medicines of my family have derived from their use is really astonishing. I now strongly recommend them to all who suffer from the same complaint.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF A DANGEROUS SWELLING OF THE KNEE.
Copy of a Letter from John Foster, an Agriculturalist, reading in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Newcastle, May 15, 1850.
To Professor HOLLOWAY, Sir.—I was afflicted with a swelling on each side of the leg, rather above the knee, for nearly two years, which increased to a great size. I had the advice of three eminent surgeons here, and was in a state of the Newcastle Infirmary for four weeks. After various modes of treatment had been tried, I was discharged as incurable. Having heard so much of your Pills and Ointment, I determined to try them and in less than a month it was completely cured. What is more remarkable I was engaged twelve hours a day in the hay harvest, and although I have followed my laborious occupation throughout the winter, I have had no return whatever of my complaint. (Signed) JOHN FOSTER.
AN INFLAMMATION IN THE SIDE PERFECTLY CURED.
Copy of a Letter from Mr. Francis Arnot of Brechin Lithian Road, Lithian, near Aberdeen, dated April 25th, 1851.
To Professor HOLLOWAY, Sir.—For more than twenty years my wife has been suffering from time to time, attacks of inflammation in the side, for which she was bled and blistered to a great extent, and the pain could not be removed. About four years ago she was, in the papers, the wonderful cures effected by your Pills and Ointment, and thought she would give them a trial. To her great astonishment and delight she got immediate relief from their use, and after persevering for three weeks, the inflammation was completely cured. What she enjoyed the best of health for the last four years.

your Pills and Ointment, and thought she would give them a trial. To her great astonishment and delight she got immediate relief from their use, and after persevering for three weeks, the inflammation was completely cured. What
she enjoyed the best of health for the last four years.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH.
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.
CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.
Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirks, Chemist, Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.
To Professor HOLLOWAY,
Sir.—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest our side list of Proprietary Medicines for some years.
A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the violence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that doctors were retained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and early succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but she saves, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks more in favor of your astonishing Pills. (Signed) R. W. KIRKS.
AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER BY VAN DYKEN'S LARD.
Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart-Town Courier, of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Walsh.
Margaret M. Conigan, nineteen years of age, residing a New South Wales, suffering from a violent rheumatism, which had for upwards of two months, and which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart-Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which she did, and in an incredible short space of time they effected a perfect cure.
CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE OBESITY AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 81 YEARS OF AGE.
From Messrs. Thom & Son, Proprietors of the Lyon Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement—August 2nd, 1851.
To Professor HOLLOWAY,
Sir.—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 81 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now recovered, by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without interference or pain, which I could not do before.
