

St. John Man Meets Death In Bathurst

Death came swiftly on Saturday morning to William McAuley, a well known young St. John man, who has been living in Bathurst since his return from overseas, when he came in contact with high tension electric wires while working on the Nepisiquit bridge.

The unfortunate man was one of a crew engaged by the provincial public works department, painting the steel bridge which spans the Nepisiquit River at the eastern end of Bathurst, near the pulp mill. He was working on the top of the structure and a few feet below him and strung out over the side of the bridge, the wires which carry current to the pumping plant of the Bathurst Lumber Company's water supply system were located.

McAuley slipped in some manner and falling he struck the electric wires, which carry a current of 2,200 volts. Death was practically instantaneous and, as the current could not be shut off for several minutes, the body was horribly burned before it could be removed from its position, much of the flesh being literally roasted and part of the clothing burned off.

Coroner Duncan was immediately notified of the accident and made preparations for an inquest. The jury met on Saturday evening at the court house and, after viewing the body, adjourned until this morning.

The victim of the accident, who belonged to this city, is survived by his wife and two small children. His father, William McAuley, who resides here, received a telegram on Saturday announcing that his son had been instantly killed and left on Saturday evening for Bathurst. The unfortunate victim spent considerable time in France during the late war. He enlisted with the 12th Battalion and went overseas with the 10th Battalion. Later he was transferred to the 8th Battalion, with which he served with distinction until he was killed.

The death of Mrs. Alfred Laird, 92 years old, occurred on Saturday, May 21. She had been in failing health for the last few months. She is survived by her husband, three sons, and five daughters, all of whom now reside in St. John. Her sons are: Edward, Harry, and the daughters are: Ethel, Gertrude, her mother, Mrs. Law, St. John, two sisters and two others also survive. They are: Frank, Alaska, and Ernest, Winchester (D. Mass.), and Helen, Washington (D. C.), and Mae, at home. Interment will be at Brown's cemetery, St. John county.

The death of James Gogan occurred on Saturday. Mr. Gogan, who was formerly in the employ of the General Public Hospital, is survived by two sons, William and James, and two daughters, Misses Agnes and Molly, all of this city.

Some people simply buy coal; others

Buy Radio

There is a difference and there is a reason.

THE DIFFERENCE—When compared with other coals, RADIO shows a big percentage less ash; a big percentage less stone and a lot less bother in as much as it burns cleanly.

THE REASON—The quality of Radio, the efficiency with which an order is handled and the prompt and courteous way in which it is delivered.

"Dumbells" Show Goes Big on Broadway—New York Canadian Club Turns Out in Force—Sir Arthur Currie Gives Them Sendoff.

New York, May 23.—(By Canadian Press).—The Canadians have gone over the top again. They have attained their objective and consolidated their gains. But this time their victory does not lie in the muddy fields of Flanders; it is a Broadway success. In putting over a successful show at New York City, "The Dumbells," that well known organization of former Canadian soldiers has accomplished a notable achievement for a professional. Some say that storming from the outset, "The Dumbells" have improved their show constantly, although from the first, with no more experience than they had obtained overseas as a concert party, they made a hit with the public. The present metropolitan triumph seems to have brought them to the pinnacle of success in their chosen field.

Writing to Arthur Knowlson, former president of the Canadian Club of New York, Sir Arthur Currie, principal of this send-off on their New York ventures.

President Canadian Club.

Dear Sir,—I would like to bring to your attention something which I think will be highly interesting to the Canadian colony in New York.

On Monday, May 9, the "Dumbells" theatre strike a somewhat novel note in the general scheme of New York decorations. An enormous maple leaf adorns the proscenium arch of the Ambassador. The players have met with a splendid reception and their success was assured in view of the history of the organization. Beginning their tours of Canada without a single professional in their ranks, under amateur direction, "The Dumbells" have improved their show constantly, although from the first, with no more experience than they had obtained overseas as a concert party, they made a hit with the public. The present metropolitan triumph seems to have brought them to the pinnacle of success in their chosen field.

organization intend to put on a show in a Broadway theatre. Let me tell you something about the "Dumbells." You probably have heard that during the war in France there were many organizations for the entertainment of the soldiers. In the Canadian corps each division had what was called a divisional concert party. These were men drawn from the ranks who had the ability to entertain their fellows. At first the entertainments consisted principally of songs, dances, monologues and other stunts. But as the experience of these companies increased and further talent came to light they began to attempt more difficult work and, I may say, with the greatest possible success. A popular thing was for some of the members to camouflage themselves as women and to take the parts of women. These camouflages were most successfully carried out. In this art of camouflage the fellows were helped largely by the assistance of some of the leading actresses in London, who sent over some of their finest dresses.

Amongst 100,000 men such as constituted the Canadian forces, they were bound to discover men with great talent for entertainment, and during the closing months of the war each division had a most excellent concert troupe, quite the equal if not the superior of many of the entertainment troupes found in the larger cities. The concert party of the third division was known as "The Dumbells" because the dumbbell was the distinguishing mark of that division. During the war they played in London for several weeks and made a great name for themselves amongst the London theatre-going public. Since the war the organization has kept together and have attached to themselves some of the best artists of the other companies. For the past two years they have been touring Canada and seem to be as popular as ever. The leading lady, who was a young soldier named Hamilton, takes the part of a lady so well that many people leave the theatre thoroughly convinced that he is a female. He is "Marjorie" to all Canadian soldiers.

They are now going to invade New York and I can give positive assurance that anyone who patronizes them will be more than compensated for doing so. I would like if the influence of Canadians in New York might be used to make a success of the venture there. I would like every member of the Canadian Club and the Canadian Society to see the show and I am sure they would go again and encourage their friends to do likewise. Will you please take what steps you can to give the "Dumbells" a good send-off? You will not be sorry for doing so. Will you see that the president of the Canadian Society receives a copy of this letter, which I am enclosing.

Signed, ARTHUR CURRIE.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS HAD ROUGH TIME

A truck load of furniture on its way from St. John to Hampton came to grief in the Rutheys Road near Renfrew station and spent part of Saturday and most of Sunday abandoned in the ditch. The driver of the team had stopped at Renfrew to go into the store and, while he was away, the horse wandered off and dragged the truck into the ditch where it over-balanced. The truck was partly smashed in the accident and was abandoned on Saturday at noon until late last night. The furniture got well washed with thunder showers and should need no more spring cleaning. The owners evidently placed implicit confidence in the honesty of the passers-by.
