PEEL VENEER, SEIZE BIG GERMAN FIRM

Palmer's Investigators Expose Dummy Sale of Company
Owner German Officer—Max Henkel, Said to Be of Kaiser's Reserves
Founder
 (New York Sun.)
 Another German owned commercial enterprise dropped into the lap of A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, yesterday when government investigators penetrated the elaborate system by which Max Henkel, said to be a German reservist officer, sought to conceal the true ownership of the International Textile, Inc., a lace manufacturing firm at Bridgeport, Conn.
 Despite the destruction of books, papers and other ordinary agencies through which the corporation was made to appear to have lost its German ownership, the government investigators provided sufficient evidence to warrant Mr. Mitchell in seizing it. This evidence included reports that Henkel, although a graduate of Columbia University, still is a German citizen; that he tried to get back to that country in 1914 aboard the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, but failed; that he applied for American citizenship only this year, and that he travels between the seized factory and his home in Bavaria under a limited zone permit.
 The investigation of the International Textile, Inc., was made by Francis P. Gavan, director of the bureau of investigation of the alien property custodian. It showed the business was established in Bridgeport by Max Henkel in 1909 under the name of Alb. & E. Henkel, Inc. Max Henkel is a son of the founder and head of the firm of Alb. & E. Henkel of Langenfeld, Germany, the largest lace manufacturers in the world.
 A hurried reorganization was accomplished, the name of Alb. & E. Henkel was dropped, and the same business transferred to the International Textile, Inc. The investigation showed that Henkel owned all of the capital stock. When the name of the firm was changed all of the stock was transferred to H. H. Albert Phillips of Bridgeport. Phillips gave a series of long term notes for stock under a contract by which Henkel retained the virtual ownership.
 The value of the seized property is estimated at $1,000,000. In addition to the lace manufacturing plant at Bridgeport the concern maintains a model community group of dwellings for its employees and owns a large spinning mill in Pennsylvania. The concern had another branch in Italy which has been seized by the government there.
 Mr. Palmer also announced yesterday that he had taken over the firm of M. W. & Sons, Inc., manufacturers of plants and pharmaceutical organs, and its plant at Poughkeepsie, valued at $200,000.
 The reorganization of this company has been completed and hereafter it will be operated by the government. Edward Holbrook, president of the Gorman Company and of the American Glass Company, was installed as a director along with Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh National League baseball club, and E. H. Mitchell, president of the seized company. George C. Foster, president of the American Piano Company, E. Hicks Herrick, F. G. Pinkham and D. G. Gale. The last four were elected to represent the alien property custodian.
 Heinrich Gokisch, factory manager and one of its large stockholders, was taken into custody in April on charges growing out of his activity in spreading German propaganda. He was sent to the federal prison at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., last Tuesday.

ENLIST IN THE STATES AFTER THREE YEARS WITH CANADIANS

Adam Power and Charles Upton of Houston Veterans of the Western Front
 (Bangor Commercial.)
 After serving a complete enlistment of three years in the Canadian Army, have been present in all the operations on the Somme front, and having taken part in the fighting at Ypres and Vimy Ridge, Adam Power and Charles Upton, of Houston, both Canadians, walked into the local recruiting office of the United States Army, Monday morning, and applied for enlistment in the American forces. When asked why they had left one of the boys, as he and his mates carried stores on the field. That was the spirit of the men as well as the boys, and there is so much to talk about? But the twenty men and boys who were there, with five teams, from 7 o'clock till 9.30, did a lot of work, and the place begins to look like a playground.
 "This ain't work this is play," said one of the boys, as he and his mates carried stores on the field. That was the spirit of the men as well as the boys, and there is so much to talk about? But the twenty men and boys who were there, with five teams, from 7 o'clock till 9.30, did a lot of work, and the place begins to look like a playground.
WHERE WORK IS PLAY BUT THE PLAYERS FEW
 It beats all how hard the south end people are working on that new playground. Fully twenty people, including five city teamsters and some boys, were on the job last night. Now what do you think of that? There are not more than a couple of thousand men in the south end anyway, and how could you expect more than ten or a dozen of them to get off all at once to do a job like that when we have such long evenings and there is so much to talk about? But the twenty men and boys who were there, with five teams, from 7 o'clock till 9.30, did a lot of work, and the place begins to look like a playground.
 Jack Power was there last night, but though he was trained down fine it was not he who broke the derrick. Mercer and Billy Hines did that, and thought nothing of it. They said they usually broke two. Capt. Potter is to be court-martialed for leaving his post while on duty. A Henderson forsook his post for a moment to lift great boulders into a cart. He said he wanted the practice, as the coming potatoes would be about that size. What do you know about that?
 The fun will start again this evening at 7 o'clock. Courtyard Bay once is great.
A CANDID SOLDIER.
 (San Francisco Bulletin.)
 In the possession of a naval officer in San Francisco is a questionnaire sent to a young San Francisco man who enlisted before it was made public that the authorities thoughtfully forwarded it to the young man, and it found him fighting in France, already a soldier.
 But he dutifully sat down and answered all the draft questions and mailed the document back to the proper authorities. These are the questions and answers:
 Q.—Are you an expert in any occupation?
 A.—Fighting Huns with a bayonet.
 Q.—What language do you speak?
 A.—Pidgin French.
 Q.—What enterprise are you engaged in?
 A.—Fighting Huns.
 Q.—State the name under which the enterprise is conducted?
 A.—European war.
 Q.—What is produced by said enterprise?
 A.—Hell.
 Q.—How many persons are employed in the plant where you work?
 A.—Ten million.
 Q.—Are you engaged in agricultural enterprise?
 A.—Plowing "No Man's Land."
 Q.—Are you an employee or managing head of the enterprise?
 A.—Rear of enterprise.
 Q.—State what kind of farm.
 A.—Poor farm.
 Q.—What branch of the work are you engaged in?
 A.—Digging trenches.
 Q.—What is produced by that branch?
 A.—Shell craters.
 Q.—State the number and kind of live stock on the land.
 A.—Crabs and other vermin, also huns.
 Q.—How many persons live on the land?
 A.—None, very long.

PROTEST AGAINST INCREASE
 The Galais board of aldermen met on Monday night. Alderman Lord presented a petition signed by the board and others protesting against the increase in the fares by the Galais Street Railway Company and requesting that the matter be brought to the attention of the Maine Utilities Commission. A committee consisting of Aldermen Short, Hitchens and Adams was appointed to attend the hearing before Dr. Grant of New Brunswick commissioners at St. Stephen, N. B., on July 20, when the matter will be heard by that commission.
 Steam issuing from the windows of the American Laundry works in Charlotte street last evening, was mistaken for smoke, and as a result an alarm was rung in.

A NOVA SCOTIA TRAGEDY
 At Gairloch Mountain, a farming settlement about seven miles from Lake Ainslie, last week, the Misses Mary and Barbara Johnston, each nearly ninety years of age, were burned to death in their home. Their charred bodies were found in the ruins by a boy. Just when the fire occurred or how is not known, as the house was a considerable distance from any other in the neighborhood. The elder of the two women had been a bed-ridden invalid for years.

Prohibitionists Win Fight.
 Washington, July 10.—Prohibitionists won their first fight today when the Senate by a vote of 86 to 38, refused to sustain a ruling by Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, president pro tempore, that the 18th amendment to the constitution, which prohibits the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquors, was not a self-executing provision and that the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill was not germane and should be stricken from the measure.
Lieut. De Gramont Disappears.
 Paris, July 10.—(Havas Agency.)—Lieut. De Gramont, commander of a squadron of American aviators, disappeared recently during a patrolling expedition, according to the Matin. The lieutenant was a son of a member of the Academy of Science and previously had been attached to the British army as officer-interpreter.
