RECOMMENDATIONS OF JURY FOLLOWING FATALITY HERE

A coroner's jury, with Dr. William Warwick presiding, met in the court room, Gormain street, last night to consider the circumstances surrounding the death of Maurice Downing, on the night of May 19, last. After listening to evidence which occupied more than two hours, the following finding was returned:

"We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Maurice Downing, do find that the deceased, while in an intoxicated condition, fell over the North wharf and his death in the General Public hospital was caused by suffocation from drowning, on May 19, 1920; and we recommend that the officers of the St. John police department should receive instruction in rendering first aid and we further recommend that the pulmotor be kept in the same station with the ambulance, and those in charge be fully instructed in the use of it; and further, that a doctor at all times be in attendance at the General Public hospital. (Signed) J. C. Berrie, foreman; Roy S. Potts, Daniel Jackson, Howard W. Phinney, William Crabbe, George H. McLaughlin, Ernest J. Todd."

Cecilia M. Gleason, night supervisor at the General Public Hospital, told of trying to resuscitate Downing, but there was little hope as he was not breathing except for slight signs of respiration above the lower regions of the chest. She said there was no doctor in the hospital at the time, and frequently this has happened. Dr. H. L. Abramson submitted his report in which he said death was caused by suffocation through drowning. Sergeant Detective Power told of being called to the scene of the accident and found Downing and Mariner in the water and Cogswell in a drunken condition trying to effect a rescue. He said he did not know where the pulmotor was kept and had never received any instructions how to run it. Henry B. Young told of hearing the cries for help and rushed down, jumped in the water and rescued the two men. Downing was unconscious, he said. Patrick Mariner told of the three men drinking gin and that they had given another man $10 to get more liquor, but while they were walking along the wharf to see what had become of him the accident hap-

WM. O'KEEFE DIES AS RESULT OF BURNS

Following an accident very similar to that which caused the death of his wife a few months ago, William O'Keefe died yesterday afternoon in the General Public Hospital. Death was due to burns received when he fell over a lamp at his home, having been suddenly seized with a fainting spell on last Monday evening. He was severely burned and in spite of medical aid passed away yesterday.

Mr. O'Keefe was born in Danvers, Mass. and came to this province first, to Fredericton with the late P. B. Coleman, and later coming to the Dufferin Hotel in St. John. He rapidly made a large number of friends by his genial and affable manner. Some years ago he went into business for himself in Union street and latterly was conducting a restaurant there. Mr. O'Keefe was fifty-four years of age. He was always keenly interested in sporting matters, on which subject he was an authority.
