"There's got to be a revival
Of good sound sense among men,
Before the days of prosperity
Will dawn upon us again,
The boys must learn that learnin'
Means more'n the essence of books,
An' the girls must learn that beauty,
Consists in more'n their looks.

"Before we can steer clear uv failu "Before we can steer clear uv fail
An' big financial alarms,
The boys have got to quit clerkin'
An git back on the farms.
I know it ain't quite so nobby;
It ain't quite so easy I know,
As partin' your hair in the middle,
An settin' up for a show.

An' more independence too,
An' more real peace and contentment
An' health that is ruddy and true.
I know it takes years of labor,
But yu're got to 'hang on' in a store
Before you can earn a good livin'
An' clothes with but little more, "An you steer well clear of temptate
On the good old honest farm,
An's thousand ways and fashions
That only bring ye to harm.
Their ain't but a few can handle,

With safety other men's cash, An' the failure of many who try it, Prove human natur is rash. "So when the road to state prison
Lays by the good old farm,
An's man sees a toiling brother
Well out of the way of harm,
He mourns he hadn't staid there,
A tillin' the soil in peace,
Where he'll yet creep back in dishot
After a tardy release.

"What hosts uv'em go back broken
In health, in mind, an' purse,
To die in sightuv the clover,
Or hunger along which is worse!
An' how many mourn when useless,
That they didn't see the charm,
The safety and independence,
Uv life on the good old farm.

"So preach it to 'em, parson,
Jest lay it out plain and square,
That land flows with milk an' hon
That health, and peace are there.
An' call back the clerks and runne
An' show 'em the peaceful charm
That waits to cheer and bless them
On father's dear old farm."

Patrick Bennet was a young Irishman, who came to New Brunswick about the time his namesake came to Nova Scotia. He too taught school for some time and was taken in hand by some parties about the year 1845, who established a newspaper and put him in charge of it. Paddy was one of the best writers for the press in his day around St. John, but his love for the bottle overcame him, and after a few years he had to go back to his school again. During the last thirty years he has been teaching in various parts of the country, but when he goes to St. John he invariably brings up at the police office; although upwards of 80 years of age, a melancholy example of the use of ardent spirits.—Ex.

Beautiful Pictures for All

The Great Art Publishing House of George Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine, moves steadily on the even tenor of its way, apparently not feeling the dull times. During the year 1878 they sold over Four Million pictures of all descriptions. They publish every description of fine pictures, and the prices range from ten cents upwards to twenty dollars per copy. Their correspondence for this large busines is mense; they receive, on an average, over one thousand letters per day. Messrs. Stinson & Co. publish only the better class of pictures, and it is well known that anything coming from this reliable house is of standard merit. We have just received copies of four very fine steel engravings, which they have just brought out. The plates were engraved in London, at an expense of four thousand counds sterling or twenty thousand dollars, to which great sum must be added the customs duty of twenty-five per cent on account of their being imported into the United States. These engravings are after paintings by great modern masters of art, and the artists who engraved the plates stand in the front rank of the world's renowned engravers. It is believed, and generally conceded, that these engravings make up the finest and most elegant set of works of high art Governor of Quebec on Saturday morning, ever brought out by American publishers. This enterprising firm, though many years in the Art Publishing business, have not grown old and unprogressive, but on the other hand make improvement and progress year by year, giving the people better and better pictures for the same or less money. They may, we feel sure, fairly claim to stand at the head of the Art Publishing business in America. We can only understand the colossal proporthe compensation of the proprietors of the during the years 1876, 1877, and 1878. We have the figures direct from the firm, or we should think there was some error. a case before the Justice, regarding the disposal of which Lane and Troutman disputed.
