to cross the country to the plantation Des Vaches. It was a sunny day in March. The innumerable bayoux, streams and ponds that covered the flat, green country glittered like silver in the sun, as the wind swept over them from the Gulf, rolling in heavy purple clouds a mist now and then, which blotted out the landscape for a while, and then rose in trailing fragrance in wet bril-liance. A heavy mass of shadow in the distance showed where the forest of live oak stood. Everybody pressed towards it, chattering and laughing and singing. In the woods young Dominique Baudry was busy helping the Des Baudry was busy helping the Des Vaches family make ready for their secret tendency to crime. guests.
