VERY EFFICIENT:—Tuesday's blake afforded another proof of the efficiency of Chatham's water works system as a protection of groperty against fire. Streams were in olay in five minutes after the alarm was given, and the firemen worked with a will, eseming to realise that they had the means at their command for mastering the flames and the fact was an incentive to quick and the sure work. A fire alarm in Chatham has lost much of its terrors since the new water lost much of its terrors since the new water system has been available.
