The Monastry of Oka, Which Was (Ottawa Journal.)

(Ottawa Journal.)
The monastry of the Reformed Cistercians, which has been destroyed by fire, is in the Parish of Oka, about three miles from the parish church, and is genrally known as the Trappists' Monastery, the name dating from the time that the headquarters of the order were at Notre Dame de la Trappe, near Dijon.

The new building was erected in 1892, but the foundation of the monastery was laid in 1881. In April of that year the Rev. Father Bellefontaine arrived in Montreal, and after several weeks of negotiations, the seminary granted to the new monastery a thousand acres of land in the Lake of Two Mountains seignory.

of land in the Lake of Two Mountains seignory.

On returning to France, Abbe Bellefontaine sent to Canada four of his parder, so that the new colony was composed of five members, three priests and two brothers, Rev. Father Guillatime was named superior. At first abey were installed in a small housemear a stone water mill. There they remained until September, and then took possession of a monastery which, without being pretentious, afforded them accommodation to follow the religious order recognized by the church having its general in Rome.

The monks profess the strict observance of the order of Citeaux. One of their mode of life is their absolute communality. The reformed Cistercian is never alone, but united always with his brothers in prayer and work. He is never alone even for meals, which are always taken in common.

No place along the lake shore had the same quality of interest for visitors as the Monastery at Oka, and the order of monks who inhabited it. It was the mecca of thousands every year, curious or interested or devoted as the case might be. But no matter who the visitor or what his motive, there was no distinction in the quality of the hospitality extended. The monastery refectory did not furnish elaborate dishes or fanciful dainties, but its substantial, well-cooked meals were always ready for the hungry way-farer, and he who has tasted of the trappist bread and cheese and honey in the quiet old dining hall at Oka will not soon forget it.

The monastery was one of the three institutions under this rule on the Ameliana.

The monastery was one of the three institutions under this rule on the American continent. The regulations of the order are the most strict and severe of any of the Roman church. The fathers, who have to pass through a latiners, who have to pass through a long novitiate, are bound not only to cellbacy, chastity and poverty, but to perpetual silence as well. They rarely see any one but a member of the order, and never look upon or are seen by women. The lay brothers are allowed more latitude, but even their regulations are of extraordinary severity.

Ity.

Oka is also well known as a retreat where many over-worked business and pmpfessional men have found the rest and quiet necessary to prevent serious prostration. The good monks have entertained in the last ten years scores of well known men who were seeking absolute freedom from business cares and an atmosphere absolutely different from that of the city. By these and to the other thousands who have visited Oka, the loss of the monastery will be deeply regretted.

FIRE IN PHTTSBURG.

Thrilling Experience of Firemen, Five of Whom Were Injured.

PITTSBURG, July 22.—Two building a flames, a prospect of half a million collars damage and five injured firemer was the situation that confronted the littaburg fire department at day-breat was the situation that confronted the Pittsburg fire department at day-break this morning.

The buildings on fire were those of Stewart Bros. & So., 917 Liberty avenue. The injured firemen are: Dougail Lech, lieutenant No. 30 Engine Co., head badly cut; Cornelius Buckley, hoseman, head cut; William Dalzeli, William Reese and Daniel Gallagher, hands and face cut and burned.

The fire was discovered on the first floor of the building occupied by the Denoon Bros. Co. The building was an eight story structure. In the cellar and lower floor was stored large quantities of paints, varnishes, turpentine, oils, etc. These with paint-soaked floors furnished material that emitted a dense smoke and rendered the efforts of the firemen of but little avail. In a short time a half dozen members of Engine Co., No. 2, were on the fire-escape in the rear, directing a stream in the second floor windows. They were on a level with the third floor and were pointing the nogsite downward, when, without warning, there was a dull roar and a volume of fame bleached out of the third floor windows. The flames struck the firemen full in the face. The men dropped the hose and wreathed and struggled to get out of the withering, heart. Some almost fell down the escapes, other slid down the side railings, said a couple hung by their hands until rescued by companions. The injured men were taken to the hospitals.

GOD'S WILL, SAYS BOTHA

Urges Boers to Make Themselves Happy in South Africa.

Happy in South Africa.

CAPETOWN, July 29.—Generals Delarcy and Botha were given an ovation it Stellenbosch. They were driven to the town hall, and each of their carriages was drawn by sixty students. At a luncheon which followed, the students acted as walters.

General Botha made a feeling address. He said the day of surrender was the most painful of his life, but now that it had been done he prayed earnestly that his hearers should consider it God's will.

Although Afrikander nationality in manner had been burled, it would remain the most important factor in the social life of South Africa, General Botha paid a tribute to former President Steyn's abilities as a statesman.

"Now, let us stop bothering ourselves about politics," said the general, "and try to make ourselves happy in South Africa, because we have no home elsewhers."

AT HUMBERT'S TOMB.

ROME, July 29.—King Victor Emmanuel and the Dowager Queen Marguerite, together visited the Pantheon today and Joined in a solemn service in memory of King Humbert, who was killed two years ago today. The service was strictly private. After this service there was a public one. Many wreaths were placed on the tomb. The crowd present was very large, and as the heat was intense many persons were prostrated.

AN UPRISING FEARED.

LISBON, July 29.—Reports from Por-tuguese West Africa, where there have been rumors of troubles with the na-tives, show that the disorders are assuming a grave character. In the province of Loanda several garrison, were attacked and factories were burned. A general uprising is feared.

BOTH TO THE POINT.

(The Journalist.)

Cal. O'Laughlin, the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, was recently decorated by the Czar of Aussia. He is a warm friend of Count Cassin, the Russian ambassador to the United States; consequently he, of course, had many nice things, to say about the Russian ambassador. He considers him the ablest member of the diplomatic corps, and does not hesitate to say so. At the suggestion of the count, the Emperor of Russia conferred the order of St. Stanislaus upon Mr. O'Laughlin. Upon receipt of the news relative to the conferring of this decoration, James Gordon Bennett, the owner of the Herald, cabled as follows:

"Cal. O'Laughlin, Washington. Will give you until next Saturday to return decoration. Bennett."

Mr. O'Laughlin made reply by the same medium, and upon the same day:

"James Gordon Bennett, Paris. Will give you until next Wednesday to get a man for my place. O'Laughlin."

O'Laughlin is looking for a job, A good one, that is. He is a first-class man, and has a choice of several offers.

MARSDEN ENQUIRY.

In the enquiry into the death of the man Marsden, at Meductic, M. V. Paddock is one of the witnesses. He has examined the stomach and intestines of the man in a search for poisonous matter. Mr. Paddock came to the city today, but stated that as the enquiry was not yet concluded he was not at liberty to say anything about the result of his examination.

DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO.

Towns Damaged, Vessels Wreaked and Lives Lost in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—A special from Tucson, Aris., says that a tornado visited the Gulf of California on Tucsday night, wrecking and damaging many buildings in the coast cities.

The wires have been down and news of the disaster has just been received At Guayamas, five vessels in the bay were dashed ashore and sunk. The public building containing the offices of the harbor master and quilector of customs were destroyed. The residence of the English vice-consul was unroofed and otherwise destroyed. The municipal hall and city prison were damaged The streets of Guayamas in many places were strewn with fallen trees and wreckage. At Mazaflan the Pomarey Ruby, a large passenger steamer, was driven ashore and sunk. Five passengers were drowned and the restreached shore on wreckage and drift.

Between Guayamas and Mazatlan & great deal of wreckage drifted ashore and it is suposed that many small vessels and a large number of lives were

DUNDONALD'S SECRETARY.

KRUGER'S HAT.

The One Bartram of Cttawa Has is the Real Thing.

(Ottawa Journal, Saturday.) (Ottawa Journal, Saturday.)

Rruger's state top hat is in Ottawa among the Relics in the possession of Vivian Bartram and his brother, Quarter-master Sgt. J. Bogert Bartram, who have just returned from South Africa: J. B. Bartram reached home last evening while Vivian will come home today.

today.

J. B. Bartram enlisted as a tmoper is mouths ago, but shortly after was promoted to quartermaster-sergeant. Vivian Bartram went to South Africa as secretary to Col. Sam Steele with the South African Constabulary. It will be remembered that Col. Steele, with this secretary, was quartered for six months in Kruger's house at Pretoria J. Bogert Bartram was also there for two months. It was during this time that the hat was secured. It is not much unlike the English silk hat, though it is, Dutch-like, pressed out. Unlike the pictures one usually sees of Kruger's hat, this one is not high, in fact is more squatty than the English that. On the inside of the hat Col. Steele has written certifying that the hat is the real thing. The flag that floated over Kruger's house is also now in the possession of the Bartram brothers. One of the most novel mementoes of war is a large dinner gong made of shrapnel shell. The gong was made in Pretoria and by simply pressing a button a tune is played. Little novelties put of pom-pom shells, etc., have also been brought home.

AN AFFECTING INCIDENT. (Montreal Star.)

The blue ribbon for pathos belongs to the New York Journal. In a report in yesterday's issue describing the visit of a dozen Boers from Bermuda to the Waldrof-Astoria Hotel on Saturday, the Waldrof-Astoria Hotel on Saturday, the following paragraph occurs:

"In the art room they came across a handsome bust of George Washington. An immediate quietness fell on the group and the conversation died away. All gazed on the bust in silence. It was the bust of the hero of a glorious cause won, welling up terrible memories, in the hearts of living heroes of as glorious a cause lost. Wessels wept. So did young De Wet, the son of the most remarkable campaigner of recent wars."

The sight of Brother Wessels and young De Wet (aged twelve) blubbering over a bust of George Washington must have been truly affecting There has been nothing to equal it since Mark Twain shed tears over the alleged town of Adam.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED.

As Result of Shooting of Wilson at Duluth Yesterday.

Duluth Yesterday.

Duluth Minn, July 29.—Captain James Taylor, master of the tugboat Abbott, of the Union Towins and Wrecking Co., who fired two shots at Engineer Wilson of the tug Independent on Sunday, was released last night on ball. The wounded man is hovering between life and death. Until the trouble between the union and non-union tug men shall be settled special-policemen will accompany the union tugs whenever they go out.

Capt. Taylor declared last night that, the men on the independent tug began throwing stones at his beat and that he warned them to desist, When they refused he drew his revolver without aiming at anyone in particular and fired. Wilson had taken no part in the affair and had just come up from the engine room when the builet laid him low. There was intense feeling in marine circles last night.

FOUND DEAD.

NEW YORK, July 29.—William Tierney, an Adirondack guide, who, with his companion George Jackson, disappeared a month ago, has been found dead near Saranac Lake, N. Y., says a despatch to the Herald. Tierney and Jackson went out in a boat to fish on the lake. Next day the boat was found with a couple of holes in it.

The cause of their death is a mystery. Divers were employed to look for the bodies, money to defray the expenses being raised by wealthy summer visitors. Tierney's body was found yesterday, but Jackson's has not been recovered.

BLOODY ELECTION RIOTS.

CAMDEN, N. J., July 29.—The condition of Joe Goddard, the Philadelphia puglist, who was shot last night during the republican primary elections, is reported by the physicians at Cooper Hospital today as critical. There is little hope of his recovery. Harry Miller, a local ppliceman who was stabbed, is doing well and will probably recover. The body of John Morrisey of Philadelphia, who was shot and killed, is still at the morgue. The riots which succeeded the murder of Morrisey and the wounding of Goddard and Miller were caused by the feeling over the canvass of representative of H. C. Loudenstager, and J. Glipheus Van Zant, for congress.

FARM HANDS ON STRIKE.

ELBERG, Galicia, Austria, July 28.

—The strike in East Galicia of over 100,000 agricultural laborers, most of them Russians, and which developed into a rising against the lander preprietors of the district, is becoming more serious. Gendarmes attacked the strikers and were attacked by them in return. Crops and farms have been destroyed. Several peasants have been destroyed. Several peasants have been wounded and others arrested.

A TEXAN DELUGE.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 29.—Central Texas was visited by one of the most terrific rain storms ever known in this section. In this city the rain come down in a regular deluge, flooding the principal streets of the city from curb to curb, and washing into many of the stores. Rivers and small streams are out of their banks and railroad service is seriously interfered with.

THE VAMPIRE.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The report of the sale of his picture The Vampire, is denied by Sir Philip Burne Jones. It was stated that W. K. Vanderbilt had purchased the painting.

JAPANESE LUNCH BAGS, SA TOHELS AND TRAVELLING BAGS, all sizes and prices, at

THE CHEESE MARKET. Record Price at Ottawa—Values Likely to Remain High.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Cheese brought a record price at the regular meeting of the Ottawa Cheese board Friday afternoon, when most of the offerings sold at 19 cents per pound for both white and colored. The receipts were light at least, much smaller than they were a week ago. The total boardings registered only totalling 1.486 boxes made up of 857 boxes of white and 629 boxes of colored.

There are two reasons for this falling off in the receipts. One is owing to the favorable weather prevailing, the salesmen are all busy harvesting their hay, and do not care to lose a day to attend the board. But the principal reason is the great shrinkage in the milk supply.

The warm weather has had the effect of bringing the files out in strong numbers and as a result the cows are not giving nearly as much milk as they did a week ago, notwithstanding the fact they are roaming through grass in many places knee-deep.

But prospects are that cheese prices will continue high throughout the season, for there is a shortage in both Montreal and England.

DIED THIS AFTERNOON.

The death is reported of Mrs. White-side, wife of Richard Whiteside, former-ly one of the city's auditors, which oc-curred this afternoon at her home on the comer of Paradise Row and South-wark street. Mrs. Whiteside had been in poor health for upwards of two-years. She was eighty-three years of age and leaves one son and one daugh-ter both of whom are residing in the United States.
