Both armies are still strengthening their operations all along the line. The slightest movement on either side is the sign for firing which occasionally lasts all night. The Russians are using six-inch guns on the railway, which must greatly harass the Japanese. Undoubtedly the most decisive if not the greatest battle of the war will be fought in the vicinity of the Shakle river. The Russians are confident of their ability to hold their positions. The soldiers are building mud houses for winter quarters. The nights continue cold but the days are bright and
