For three years Ned Dearborn, of the Biological Survey, has been experimenting with the raising of minks in captiverstainity. So far, the results are unexpectedly encouraging. Minks have shown a ready adaptability to captive life, a hardthood and a fecundity which make them almost ideal animals for domestication.

Mr. Dearborn believes that the raising of these animals will prove especially attractive as a sideline for the boy or the woman on the farm.—Woman's World for June.

I Wouldn't Be a Shirker.

(Rallying Song). There's a dear old land o'er the ocean,
The home of the brave and the free,
The shrine of her children's devotion,
They stand, Mother England, with thee.
Would you want to see the old flag lying
In the grasp of a ruthless foe?
Would you stand to see the old land

would you stand to see the old land dying
And strike no defending blow?
Would you like to have it said that we wouldn't do our bit?
Would you want to have it known that we haven't any grit?
When the foeman shouts, "Surrender!" are you ready to submit?
Oh, I wouldn't be a shirker. Would you?

"Wish to marry my daughter, do you. Take my advice, don't."
"But why, sir?"
"I have noticed evidence of insanity in her lately."
"Good heavens! What evidence?"
"She says she wants to marry you."

The doctor said I had scercely any blood in my body. I could not walk half a block without being completely exhausted and all the could not walk half a block without being completely exhausted and all the treatment of the doctor did not seem to help me. I called in another doctor, but with no better results. My feet and legs became frightly swollen, I suffered with severe pains in my back and sides. I would be all day dragging around at my household work, and I was beginning to give up all hope or recovery. I had been urged to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, but like many others, thought they could not help me when doctors had failed to do so, but after much urging I decided to try them. To my surprise in a few weeks I found myself getting better. I then gladly continued their use and found myself constantly growing stronger, and eventually able to do my house work without fatigue. I strongly advise every weak woman to give Dr. Williams Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can get their Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
