

brate this, the Jubilee Year, by contributing to this fund. Some Institutes have contributed their share every year. Let this become a habit in every Institute, beginning now by sending $2, or more, to the Secretary of the P. S. Department of the O. E. A.

The work and aims of the Public School Department of the Ontario Educational Association and of the local Teachers' Institutes throughout the Province are identical. Each, in its own sphere—the municipality, the county or the province—is endeavoring to create a fraternal spirit among public school teachers, to strengthen the bond that exists among them, to discuss topics of general interest to the members of the profession, and, by all legitimate means, to improve the conditions under which they labor; and the success that will attend their efforts will be dependent upon the measure of co-operation that exists between the central and the local associations.
