

for the manifold details he has looked after for me, and to Miss Cora Reik, my secretary, for the continued interest she has taken in the preparation of this volume.

I am under especial obligation to Dr. Frank R. Smith for his revision of the manuscript, and for correcting the proof-sheets.

To my friends Mr. Hermann Becker and Mr. August Horn I am deeply indebted for their excellent and faithful illustrations.

With the publishers, W. B. Saunders Company, my relations have been most cordial and I am especially mindful of the many kindnesses shown by Mr. R. W. Greene, one of the vice-presidents of the company.

THOMAS S. CULLEN.
