A Boy's Promise

The school was out and down the street

street A noisy crowd came thronging; The hue of health, a gladness sweet To every face belonging. Amongst them strode a little lad Who listened to another. And mildly said, half cad, half sad, "I can't-I promised mother."

A shout went up, a ringing shout, Of boisterous derision; But not one moment left in doubt The manly brave decision. "Go where you please, do what you will," He coloue total the sche

"But I shall keep my word, boys, still;

I can't-I promised mother."
