ANY WANTS A SHARE

Several years ago France and Spain were quarrelling over the rights of the latter to the Moroccan coast, with the exception of a small section reserved for Spain. Germany, however, interfered, and the conference at Algeiras decided that France and Spain should police Morocco, and certain rights somewhat short of absolute sovereignty. France in 1911 entered upon what was virtually a protectorate of middle Morocco, and Spain lost no time in descending upon the Moroccan shore. Then Germany suddenly occupied Agadir on the southwestern coast, from which she has not yet seen fit to depart. Agadir is a good harbor, which lies directly on Britain's road to south Africa and inconveniently near to Gibraltar, and also about half way between Germany and South America. It also imperils the French's African empire which is otherwise comparatively safe from attack.

Germany was inclined to sit tight in Agadir, but latest advices indicate that she may evacuate the town in France's favor for a big slice of Equatorial Africa. The peaceful turn of events was greatly hastened by Britain's intimation that she was prepared to fight, if necessary, in behalf of France's supremacy in Morocco and Russia is thought to have finally turned the scale in baffling Germany's ambitions.

Germany, quieted for the present, will doubtless soon be heard from again in some other direction. It might not be the wisest course for the Maritime powers to settle with her by recognizing German supremacy over the bulk of the Turkish empire, Germany to admit Italy to a share of the spoils.

THE COMMONS SUPREME

When the debate was resumed in the House of Lords, Wednesday on the Parliament Bill, Viscount Morley, for the government announced that if the measure were defeated the King had promised to create enough new peers to make the passage of the bill certain. When this was known the Lords accepted the situation in favor of the bill as passed by the Commons 131 to 114. The Parliament Bill leaves the House of Lords intact as a second chamber but limits its hitherto absolute veto power to the power of vetoing an Act of the Commons for two years only. Thus the great constitutional struggle which began when the House of Lords nearly two years ago rejected the budget of David Lloyd George Chancellor of the Exchequer is ended for a time with the greatest change to Britain's working constitution since the passage of the reform bill in 1832.

The House of Lords have definitely agreed to take a place according to the direct representatives of the people. Even if their own party the Conservative should never it is very doubtful if they will ever receive their lost authority and prestige. The Socialist contention that all legislative bodies not elected directly by the people should be abolished will now be frequently brought forward and the Lords will be harder pressed to maintain what is left of them.

Britain is to be congratulated upon having passed such a far-reaching and revolutionary political change without bloodshed.

Mr. Henry Cormier of Campbellton has purchased the speedy mare Princess Bell from Mr. Chas. Bezanson, of Moncton. The price paid is stated to be in the vicinity of the $500 mark. Princess Bell is a square trotter, and made an excellent showing in the 30 trial on Saturday, coming under the wire a winner in the second heat and lowering her mark to 2:27. Mr. Haddow preached excellent sermons. A splendid offering of over one hundred dollars was placed on the plates. Few congregations have lost more families than this one, there having been over 80 who have gone from us, yet the remaining ones are full of zeal and courage and hope.

SPORTS

Patting Nelson has hurried to a grieving home, to a dead mother's bier. The whole sporting world will extend the hand of sympathy to Good Old Pat. His first thought was always of his parents and his love for his mother was one of his best attributes. It is a real blow to the courageous dare.

We had the pleasure of witnessing a N. B. League game in Fredericton on Tuesday last, between the St. Stephen Thistles and Fredericton. Both teams played good ball, but the Thistles must have had something against the Thistles, as several of the decisions were (as we would call them) rather rotten for the boys from the border town.

New York, Aug. 9.—Sam Langford won from Jim Smith in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round fight at the Fairmount at the A. C. tonight. Langford was taking it easy until the fifth when Smith landed on Langford's head and another on the body. This stung Langford. He went at Smith with a blow, which staggered him, and with a left hook to the jaw he put him to the floor. Smith rolled over on his back, but came up at the count of nine and staggered to the ropes. Langford was ready to go at him again, but Referee Joe stopped the fight.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—Before a crowd of nearly 9,000 people, Tom Longboat succeeded in defeating Albert Shrubbs in their 12 mile race at the Island Stadium Saturday, with the greatest ease. Shrubbs set the pace until the eleventh mile-time was reached, with Longboat at his heels all the way, and then forcing Shrubbs to sprint hard to keep his position. When they had started on the last mile, however, Longboat opened up a big gap between them, and kept on gradually gaining until at the finish he was nearly half a lap to the good. The time of the race was 1:04:28.

Before the big race, a five mile event was run off which Heffernan, the South African Olympic runner, won from Abbie Woods by three yards, with Meadows, of Guleph, third.
