MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Does not contain Alum

ALUM is put into inferior baking powders because it is cheap. You cannot detect it, because all baking powders look alike. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid condemned by food experts as unfit for use in any food preparation, because it works havoc with the stomach and digestive organs and causes certain harm to the entire system.

Your baking results will be the best with MAGIC and you have the certain knowledge that your bread, biscuits and pastry will be light, healthful and delicious. There is no substitute for MAGIC and it is a medium priced baking powder and the only well-known one made in Canada that does NOT contain alum.

Down and Out.

Moran Sent Him Down Five Times in the 11th Round.

San Francisco, Nov. 26.—Batting Nelson, for the first time in his fighting career, was knocked out to-day. Owen Moran, from Birmingham, England, performed the feat in the presence of 8,000 people. He won in 11 rounds. But he was compelled to drop Nelson five times in this round, despite the force of the Britain's right hand punches on the point of the chin, the wonderful fighting spirit of the Dane was ever present.

Moran from the first tap of the gong proved himself complete master of the situation. There was not one round of the eleven that could be accredited to Nelson. The Dane was always the aggressor, his evident intention being to force Moran to fight close. In this he was accommodated, but the fight was scarcely two rounds old before Moran showed that he, too, could fight at the Britain's old game. Round after round Moran would step back, side-step and dance around the aggressive Nelson, all the while shooting in straight, forceful punches to the jaw and head. He seldom suffered a punch.

Nelson opened every round full of fight, and the 11th opened with neither fighter perceptibly in distress. Moran, who had apparently been biding his time for a finishing blow, got his chance when Nelson, with bowed head, rushed into close quarters. Moran flung his right forward, catching Nelson flush on the jaw, down the Britain tumbled to his haunches for the count of nine. It was the same kind of a blow which several months ago caught Tom McCarthy off his guard. He subsequently died as a result of the fight, and the ousting of the Johnson-Jeffries bout from California followed. Nelson tottered to his feet, bleeding and dazed. Moran stood back, waiting for him. Again the Britain's powerful right shot out and Nelson dropped to the mat once more.

The performance was three more repeated. Moran each time reaching Nelson's unprotected jaw with his right. With the last knock down, the referee and the timekeeper counted the fateful ten. One second after referee Benjamin Selig shouted: "Your out, Moran wins." Nelson was on his feet with blood streaming from his mouth and nose loudly importuning that the referee permit him to continue.

Nelson declared that he had been counted out prematurely. He said: "I lacked but three seconds for the round to end, and I believe that I would have been as fresh as ever the next round. However, Moran deserves all the credit. He is a great little fighter, and will be able to hold his own against any of them."

Moran turned a handspring into the arms of his second and dashed from the ring without a mark to indicate that he had been in a fight. "I always knew I could turn the trick," and you bet I feel glad. I have been the first man to put Nelson out. Now I want Wolgast. The sooner the match can be made the better."

The receipts were $18,000.

Eczema's Tortures

All treatments failed for three long years—Cure complete with DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mrs. Link, 17 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., writes: "After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand ointment I obtained relief, and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure. It is six months since I was freed of this wretched skin disease, and as there has been no return of the trouble I consider the cure a permanent one."

Such cures are not brought about by imitations and substitutes for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is therefore necessary for you to be certain that the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on the box you buy. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edman Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

L. C. A. Sale.

At 7:30 yesterday afternoon the L. C. A. S. sale of work opened in the College Hall. Mr. A. Macpherson delivered the address and warmly complimented the ladies on the good work that they were doing. He wished them a full measure of success and hoped that they would do as well as in former years. The sale was then declared open. Mr. Mews rendered a beautiful selection on the organ. The hall was superbly decorated and lit up, and when the large gathering assembled the scene was picturesque and brilliant. Amongst those present were Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite, Rev. J. W. Bartlett, Hon. J. C. Crosbie and Hon. J. Angel. The fancy stall is erected this year in front of the organ platform, making it more convenient for those attending the sale. The place is full of goods of all kinds and suitable to all purses.

The flowers adorning the tables are very beautiful and are admired by all. The tea parlor is in the eastern part of the hall, eight altogether in number, and being in one part of the building the ladies find much greater convenience in serving tea than they did last year, when the tables were in different corners. The parlor is tastefully decorated with evergreens and bunting, and the ladies did a good evening's work, beating last year. The candy stall, in old English Inn style, with the sign "Ye Olde Toffy Shoppe," was also well attended. The pennant stall is one of the most attractive in the building, and the fine selection of goods drew many purchases. The fancy candy and toy stalls are being conducted by the ladies of the Guild, and the refreshment and plain work stalls are in charge of the Ladies' Aid. The College colors were conspicuous everywhere. All the stalls are well stocked. The sale will be continued to-day, and to-night a concert will be given. Those who wish to spend an enjoyable hour should not fail to attend.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its forms can be cured. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden."

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at Harbor Grace Notes.

Mrs. Stafford Shute, an old lady of the South Side, died there on Monday. The funeral takes place this evening.

We are fully in accord with the Daily News correspondent that it is high time the police were put in their new quarters in the Public Building, Bannerman Street. The old Police Station on the Beach is not fit for the purpose it is used. We hope soon to see the policemen in their comfortable quarters.

Mr. Isaac Benson, of Victoria St., while entering her home a day or two ago, slipped on the ice, and falling heavily sustained serious injury. Dr. Parsons was quickly called, and found that several ribs had been broken.

Rabbits are very plentiful in the market now, and are selling at 40 cts. a brace.

Master George Walsh, of Dr. Goodwin's office, has been the sufferer for the past fifteen months with a very sore toe, the nail of which had in some way become broken. He has been treated by different people, and now Dr. Parsons informs him that the only remedy is an operation to have the nail removed.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I wonder if there are any rich folks, especially rich folks with poor relations, that read this column.

(Please remember, in answering for yourself, that rich and poor are only relative terms, and that while you may consider yourself, but passably well supplied with this world's goods, you may be considered by some impecunious connection of yours in the light of a "rich relative.")

On the chance that there are, I'm going to give over my space to-day to some one really worthy to fill it and let Dr. Holmes give them a little Christmas talk.

The extract is from the "Poet at the Breakfast Table." The poet and the landlady are discussing the other boarders. From the cultured and dignified demeanor of one of the boarders the poet suspected a story of shipwrecked fortune, and determined to question our landlady. That worthy woman was delighted to tell the story of her most distinguished boarder. She was, as I had supposed, a gentleman whom a change of circumstances had brought down from her high estate.

"Did I know the Golden Rod family? Of course I did! Well, the Lady was first cousin to Mrs. Midas Golden Rod. She had been here to call upon her, though not very often. "Were her rich relatives kind and helpful to her?" "Well, yes. At least they made her presents now and then. Three or four years ago they sent her a silver waifer and every Christmas they send her a bouquet; it must have cost as Household Notes.

If rice is cooked in water it will absorb about three times its measure. It is cooked in milk at least half as much more liquid will be necessary.

Do not rub fabrics roughly between the hands when cleaning them. It will be found sufficient to rub the cleaning fluid in gently with a fresh cloth.

Sponges are the great germ-collectors they should be thoroughly scalded frequently; and hot water bottles should be washed, inside and out, with strong suds.

Brasses should be rubbed with kerosene before they are polished. Then use oxalic acid or common vinegar and salt to remove the stains and dullness.

A fish that is to be broiled will be greatly improved in flavour if for an hour before cooking it is placed in a dish containing a little olive oil or melted butter.

If chicken is roasted or panned with the breast down instead of up it will be more juicy and tender. It should be turned over 10 minutes before it is done broiled.

If a vessel in which a fish has been cooked is first washed and scrubbed well with soap and vinegar, and then scoured with scalding vinegar, all odor will be removed.

When sharp knives are kept with other articles in kitchen drawers, each blade should be protected with a sheath which may easily be made from heavy wrapping paper.

It is wise before putting bread into pans to see that the latter are well larded. Then there is no danger of the crust being broken in taking the bread from the pan.

Stains on blankets and other woolen goods can often be removed by using a mixture of equal parts of glycerine and yolk of egg. Spread on, leave half an hour and wash.

A plain hard, varnish finish should be given the kitchen linoleum once a year. The varnish should be applied very thinly, and when dry wiped over with milk and water.

To cut hot bread use a sharp knife, the blade of which has been thoroughly heated in boiling water. The knife must be hot enough to dry with its own heat or the bread will not cut well.

To clean windows and mirrors, daub over thoroughly with waiting tied up in a piece of muslin and smooth with a damp rag. Follow with a later, rubbed on freely, and wipe off with muslin.

Gasoline will clean better if hot when used, but as this spirit is very explosive it must not be taken near

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery prevents these diseases. It makes a man's inside clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clear blood, and cleans, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostrations. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most insidious uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.
