NEWFOUNDLANDERS TO GARRISON AT FORT GEORGE, SCOTLAND.

SALISBURY PLAINS, To-day. Newfoundland Contingent has been ordered to Fort George, Inverness, Scotland, to do garrison duty there. Two hundred Canadian horses have been stolen from the lines. Twenty thousand Canadian troops are still under canvas, but it is expected that all will be housed in huts by Christmas. One thousand men are engaged daily in the construction of a railway to serve the needs of the camps. In the severe gale of Wednesday night that swept over the greater part of the country, hundreds of tents of the Canadian contingent were blown down.

Cabman Sues Agent.

SCENE AT THE CLOSE.

The attention of the Magistrate's Court was occupied the greater part of this forenoon in the hearing of a case between a cabman named Crotty, the plaintiff, and a motor engine agent, the defendant. The former sued the latter for more than $4 for driving him to Torbay as he was engaged from ten o'clock in the morning till eleven at night, though the defendant, who was represented by a K.C., gave evidence showing that a contract had been entered into whereby he was to drive the defendant and his assistant for as long as they wished to keep him each day. The plaintiff was not represented and did not make his position explained, except emphasizing the impossibility of having a horse and Victoria on the go constantly morning, noon and night, and owing to the recent advance in the price of horse food. However, His Honor Judge Knight gave judgment for $4. When the court adjourned a scene was created. When the defendant went to pay the cabman the $4 he added "It's sending you to the Penitentiary I should be doing, for obtaining money under false pretences. One who heard the remark, retorted, "Say, old man, when were you initiated as judge around here?" At this juncture the motor man became furious and the interference of Sergeant Olliphant put an end to the proceedings.

Xmas Comforts for our Soldiers.

Christmas comforts for our soldiers. The first thought of each of us when Christmas is considered this year must be for our soldiers and sailors, both those who have been wounded in the cause of the British Empire and of freedom; and those who are still bearing the burden and heat of the day.

Many people have been led to believe that the extraordinary rush of help given in the early days of the war led to a surfeit, and that efforts can be relaxed or diverted to other channels. Indeed, this must be a prevailing notion, and a very erroneous one, in many quarters, or it could hardly happen that to-day the store of absolutely necessary garments held by the St. John Ambulance Society is so sorely depleted as to amount almost to emptiness where some most needed garments are concerned. Yet such is the case, so that individual workers or the organizers of working parties can rest assured that all the efforts they can make between now and Christmas will be meeting, not an indefinite and illusive idea, but a very pressing need.

THE CARDIGAN FUND.

A committee of gentlemen has been formed in England consisting of Colonel Sir Edward Ward, Sir William MacGregor and Hon. Edgar Bowring, to look after the welfare of our First Newfoundland Regiment. These gentlemen went down to Salisbury Plain the other day to pay him a visit and see if they were in need of anything; and they reported to us that the Regiment was badly in need of socks and other warm woollen comforts, mentioning Cardigan Jackets, Mufflers, Mittens and Helmets. We at once cabled to the St. John Ambulance requesting them to forward at once to Salisbury Plain, from our first shipment, any articles required by the Regiment and we have received an answer to say they had received all that they required.

It is not generally known in Newfoundland that the Army Council at Home has undertaken to provide all the Regulation requirements of our men from the date of their landing in England, except their pay which is still provided by the Newfoundland Government. The Regulation clothing is accordingly provided by the War Department but the men look to us to keep them in comforts which are not included in the Regulation equipment. Thus, they wear out socks more rapidly than the Regulations provide for, and we ought therefore to provide them with extra pairs from time to time according as the committee in England may think necessary; and this is especially desirable during the wet season so that the men may have a dry pair to change into when off duty. Moreover, the Regulations do not include warm woollen underclothing which is provided for all the battalions by Committees of the ladies interested in each Regiment.

Our Association have thought that Christmas Gifts to send from the old Colony, so we are having them made at the factory and we now invite all interested in this movement to assist the Cardigan Fund. Any relative or friend may have a Cardigan sent in their own name on payment of $2.00 enclosed, with a card or letter to be attached with the name of the man it is for.

Drill Commences At the Armouries.

The Volunteers presented themselves at the Armouries for drill last night, Capt. R. Goodridge and Lieut. Ayre being in charge at the C. L. B. Armoury, Capt. O'Grady at the C. C. C. Armoury and Capt. McKay and Instructor Moore at the Highlanders. The preliminary physical exercises were gone through. Instructor Moore who has had over twenty years experience in the army, speaks highly of the new volunteers, and says that on the whole they are as robust as those of the First Contingent. At the different armouries the units were divided into sections according to their knowledge of drill. Much valuable assistance was given by the officers of the Brigades, who put the recruits through suitable exercises.

Reserve Force Committee.

INTERVIEW PREMIER.

Sir Joseph Outerbridge and Mr. W. J. Higgins, representing the Reserve Force Committee as Chairman and Secretary respectively, waited on the Premier yesterday afternoon. Having informed him of the decision arrived at on Wednesday night, they requested that the Government sanction the enlistment of 500 men, who are to be placed under pay as soon as they pass the necessary medical examinations and begin drill immediately, continuing steadily until ready to leave for England. In reply the Premier stated he would convene a meeting of the Executive as soon as possible and lay the proposal before them, and that he hoped to give them a reply at an early date. It is thought that the matter of placing the volunteers under pay upon enlistment would encourage recruiting for the outposts.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 3.—(Official.)

Fighting continues in certain districts along the front, in the region of Lowitz. Important forces of the enemy, chiefly troops transported in November from the German west front, opened the offensive on Dec. 2 in the region of Lientomerak and Sezerow. On the rest of the front on the left bank of the Vistula there is no modification in the situation. Beyond the Carpathians our troops have captured 8 officers, 1,200 men and six machine guns.
