WAR SUMMARY.

After a short period of relative calm on the Soissons-Rheims salient, the Central and Western sections of the battlefield again have been the scenes of mighty struggles. On both sectors the Allied forces have achieved notable gains of ground, which, observed on the war maps seemingly place the German armies in front of them in a precarious position. In battles extending from the region immediately south of Soissons to the northwest of Pore-en-Tardenois and southwest of the last named town, over the upper portion of the left branch of the V salient running ten miles eastward from Nesles to Villenot-Tardenois and with Steame as its southern base, French, American and British troops have pushed back the armies of the German Crown Prince. Northwest of Pore the entire elbow of the line where it turned eastward along the northern bank of the Ourcq has been blotted out, giving the Allies much better ground over which to work in, further outflanking Soissons on the southeast, and for pressing on towards Plennes in conjunction with the troops, particularly the Americans, now holding strategic points north and northeast of Pore. In this fighting the Allied troops drove out the Germans who had been tenaciously holding positions between Plessiers Hallu and the River and took the high ground north of Grand Rozoy, pressed on past the village of Bougneux and arrived before the villages of Cramoisselle and Cramaille. The general advance was about two miles, and six hundred Germans were made prisoners. The most important gain, however, was on the upper western point of the V, southeast of Pore. Here the village of Clerges and the Meunierie Wood were taken, a manoeuvre which places the Germans at the bottom of the V at St. Genime, in a seemingly precarious plight, for from the wood and the village the Allied guns will be able to rake the Germans if they should endeavour to make their way towards northward, their only avenue of escape, by an enfilading fire. Through the capture of the Meunierie Wood the width of the V from the fringes of the forest of Ronquiere on the east has been cut down relatively for miles. As has been the case during the past week the Germans contested stubbornly the advance of the Allied troops, but all to no avail. Since the battle of the Marne began on July 15th, the Allied troops have taken more than 34,000 prisoners. Just what part the American troops played in Thursday's battle has not yet been unfolded, but they doubtless everywhere on the centre of the battlefield were in the thickest of the fray. Between Seringies and Clerges, respectively northeast and southeast of Pore, they are known to have made goodly gains over a four mile front and to have pushed further beyond Seroy and reached within a mile and a half of the village of Chamery. On the British front in France and Flanders the bad weather has ceased, and the hot sun is fast drying up the muddy ground. The Germans are bombarding heavily various positions held by Field Marshal Haig's men, who in turn are answering the fire of the enemy's guns and keeping up with much success their annoying raids into the German lines.

According to the claims of Vienna, the Austrian troops in Albania have compelled the Italians to give up a considerable portion of the ground they won in recent fighting. It is asserted by the Austrian War Office that the Italians are being pursued by the Austrians.

ALLIES' NEW ADVANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 1. In an advance of about two miles on the Aisne-Marne front to-day, the Allied troops reached Cramoisselle and Cramaille on the southwestern part of the salient, capturing 600 prisoners, according to the war office announcement to-night.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Aug. 1. Clerges and Meunierie Wood have been occupied by the Allies, and the village of Romigny, north of the Dormans-Rheims road, was taken. From July 15th to July 31st the prisoners captured by the Allies numbered 33,400. North of the Ourcq our troops in conjunction with the British units drove the enemy from positions to which he had been energetically clinging in the region of Plessiers Hallu and the River. We captured the height north of Grand Rozoy, and passed beyond the village of Bougneux and reached Cramoisselle and Cramaille, realising at this point an advance of about three kilometres. Six hundred prisoners remained in our hands. Further south we occupied Clerges and Meunierie Wood. North of the Dormans-Rheims road we conquered after a stubborn engagement the village of Romigny, taking about 100 prisoners. The total number of German prisoners taken on the Marne battlefield and in the Champagne during the period between July 15th, the date of the beginning of the German offensive, and July 31st is 33,400, of whom 674 were officers.

Presented With Watch.
Pte. Jos. Rawlins, formerly of the Royal Bank of Canada, who recently enlisted in the Regiment, was on Wednesday presented with a handsome wrist watch and a beautifully illuminated address by his late fellow workers. They were presented by Miss E. Mow, and Pte. Rawlins, in a brief speech, warmly thanked the donors for their generous gift.
