

bribe somebody if he wasn't warned. I didn't suppose he was going to any place but McGroghan's. When I came out of Campbell's, I was afraid Kelly might go in and bribe Campbell. I swear I intended to warn him against bribing Campbell. I wouldn't swear that I didn't look back to see whether Kelly went into Campbell's. I swear I was perfectly sober that night. I told Campbell in the house, that I would not give him any money. Didn't use the expression "I can't give you money." Swear this positively. Told Snyder this conversation as I have given it. Kennedy didn't ask me to go to Campbell's. We went into Kennedy's first. It was after I came out of Kennedy's that I went to Campbell's. Didn't know his name then.

This closed the case for the Respondent. Mr. Bethune then addressed the Court. He contended that Campbell's case was a proof of corrupt practice on the part of Dr. Orton. Generally there is a certain amount of doubt in such cases, but if Campbell's evidence is to be depended on there was no doubt in this case. Money was paid to Campbell. The Respondent in cautioning Kelly not to pay out money, showed that he was apprehensive he might bribe Campbell, and yet he did not look back to see if Kelly followed him, although that was the latter's intention. The only reason why we can conceive they should have remembered that they did not look back was that they thought Kelly would go and bribe Campbell.

There can scarcely be a stronger chain of circumstantial evidence than we have here. Dr. Orton finds Campbell ready for the market, he tells his over zealous friend Kelly, and he could not take a more direct way of telling him what was required of him while he was to remain unconnected with it. What Campbell did was discredit, but his evidence was clearly given, and that given by his wife strongly supported it and was unshaken. If their evidence was reliable, then the respondent must be guilty. He must either have been very indiscreet, or he thought that Campbell could be bribed, and desired it to be done.

Mr. Guthrie, in addressing the Court, dwelt strongly on the evidence, that there were two cutters actually on the road when Campbell looked out after Kelly left his house. This was substantiated by Kelly's evidence as to another cutter being near at the time. In commenting on the evidence he argued that Campbell's evidence was to be relied on, that it was strengthened by the given by his wife and that it was sufficient to establish the charge of personal bribery.

Mr. Drew for the Respondent argued that Campbell, in his evidence as to the second cutter, had gone too far, and in trying to clinch the nail had broken the head off. The question of Dr. Orton's disqualification was a serious one, and his evidence with that of Kelly and Snyder, should outweigh that of Campbell and his wife. It is not likely Dr. Orton would be such a fool as to act as Campbell says he did. Besides his evidence, and that of Kelly and Snyder goes to show that there were not two cutters together when Kelly came out, and moreover Campbell's statements show that he had no good feeling to Dr. Orton.

After an adjournment of two hours, his Lordship gave in his written judgment. He considered it was properly conceded that the election should be set aside for bribery by agents. The only question that remained was as to the evidence of Campbell and his wife as to Campbell's evidence, and that of the respondent, he would have held, as in the London case, that the respondent was not guilty. He had the gravest doubts as to Campbell's evidence. If he erred, it was better that he should do so on the safe side. His Lordship concluded by saying: "I have come to the conclusion that I best discharge the duty cast upon me by evidence such as is now before me by declining to find the respondent personally liable. I find it a personal charge, and the evidence to the contrary. He reviewed the evidence, and came to the conclusion that the two sleighs did not go off together from Campbell's. Everything turned on what took place in Campbell's house. He did not consider the evidence of Campbell such as to impinge any one favorably. It was possible that the wife, though speaking in good faith, might have been mistaken. If it had depended solely on that George Turner Orton, the respondent, was not duly elected, as returned, and that his election was void; that no corrupt practice has been proved to have been committed with the knowledge and consent of the respondent; that corrupt practices have not extensively prevailed at the said election; and I order that the respondent do pay the petitioner's costs, save and except such costs as may be on taxation shown to have been properly incurred by the respondent, in consequence of the allegations as to a scrutiny of votes or the polling of illegal votes, and the prayer for the seat as claimed by and stated in the petition, which allegations and claims were abandoned by petitioners at the opening of the trial, which costs are to be paid to the respondent as an offset against petitioner's costs. I also find that J. M. Fraser, A. Forester, James Smith, Michael Kirby, Anron Elner, James Kirby, J. Hallett, David B. Kelly, Bernard Campbell, and Edw. Gaynor, have been found in my judgment to be guilty of corrupt practices, and I shall report them accordingly."

Fergus Correspondence. Thanksgiving Day was observed here as a holiday. The Y. M. C. A. held a Prayer Meeting at 9:30 a.m. The Union Thanksgiving Service, held in St. Andrew's Church, was largely attended and an excellent sermon preached from 2nd Chronicles XXXII. 25th verse. The collection, which amounted to $29.00, was sent to the Ontario Sabbath School Missionary Union. In the afternoon a Christian Conference was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, which was fairly attended and very interesting. The Y. M. C. A. in the evening held a meeting in St. Andrew's Church which was largely attended. A brief report of the Sabbath School Convention, held in Brantford, was given, and addresses were delivered by Delegates from Guelph and Elora. A collection taken up at the close amounted to $8.

The Rev. John Wood, of Toronto, preached two Missionary Sermons in the Congregational Church on Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Carroll preached twice to large congregations in Melville Church, and in the evening conducted the Y. M. C. A. meeting, which was held in Melville Church instead of the rooms.

The Rev. Mr. Mullen preached the 3rd Annual Sermon to the Y. M. C. A. on next Sabbath evening in the Wesleyan Church.

Dr. Orton has escaped disqualification by the skin of his teeth. The evidence of Bernard Campbell and his wife, as to personal bribery, was very strong against him, and it was only on the positive statements of the Doctor himself and of Kelly and Snyder, that the Judge gave him the benefit of the doubt, and freed him from the charge of personal bribery. We leave the case as it stands, to the consideration of our readers, who will no doubt form their own conclusion from the evidence given. Dr. Orton has had a narrow escape, and had the proof as to the two cutters being together on the road, after the Doctor left Campbell's house, been more conclusive, the probability is that he would have been disqualified.

At the South Norfolk election trial the counsel for Mr. Stuart, the Reform member, admitted certain acts by agents which were sufficient to render the election void, but that Mr. Stuart had no share personally in these. The seat was therefore declared vacant.

At the North Benbow election, Mr. Murray, the Reform candidate, was elected by 48 of a majority over Mr. Peter White, the Conservative candidate, who was lately unseated.

Ms. Gramme, a supporter of the Government, has been returned for Argenteuil.

This basis of Union between the Presbyterian Churches in Canada has been adopted by the general Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church, by an almost unanimous vote, only two voting nay. In the Kirk Synod the question of Union has not yet come to a vote.

Tacts worth remembering.—Patrons purchasing goods always wish to buy them at the cheapest rate. Now the nearer you get to the Manufacturer, the cheaper are the goods. Mr. Horsman, the popular Hardware merchant of this town, last summer visited the manufacturing districts of Europe, and purchased very largely from the manufacturers there. He has also made special arrangements with manufacturers in the United States and Canada to have their goods at the lowest Cash prices. In consequence of the extraordinary bargains Mr. Horsman offers, his sales this season are largely increased; in fact, there has been a perfect rush at his mammoth establishment during the last two months. Remember, by purchasing Hardware from John Horsman the profits of the wholesale dealer, or middleman, are saved to the customers. Stoves and Tinware have been added this season, and on account of the very low prices at which these goods are offered by Mr. Horsman this branch of the business has exceeded his most sanguine expectations.
