the Conservative Efforts Were Unsuccessful

Ottawa, May 6 .- Further attempt t eate political sentiment favorable to he Conservative party was made by opposition in the house of con mons today. The building of the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad was the vehicle and the time worn allegost and graft figured conspicuously at the rate of $22 a minute were made to frighten the country by exaggerated talk concerning the high cost of the ate by the usual method of inuendo was an improper cost in the form of so nervous I could not hold a cup. time of the house in the effort to conice the country that its interests are not being properly safeguarded by the Liberal government

The foundation of this particular attack on the Government, was the esignation of Mr. Lumsden, former ly chief engineer for the Trans-Con nental Railway Commission, who, it will be remembered, alleged in his letter of resignation that his reason letter of resignation that his reason for resigning was that he had lost determined fight for the boy to save confidence in his subordinate engineers from which the opposition set up sons and reformatory institutes. This time the Conservative members asked for the appointment of counsel and because they, the minority of the com-mittee, were not permitted to have their own counsel, they declined to erve longer on the committee. The eport of the majority of the com-nittee which carried the investigaion to its conclusion is now on the able and it completely exonerates om any suspicion of the wrong do g imputed to them by insinuation.

While the Lumsden charges supled the ground work for the offering of the resolution to provide for a royal commission to investigate everything in connection with the cor truction of the Grand Trunk Pacific upon which the debate was based, the main contention of the opposition that the government had misled the country by repre-sentations that the road would cost a given sum to build while as a matte of fact it is actually costing a great minister of railways and canals, Mr Graham and Mr. McDonald, member for Pictou, who, in their remarks clearly delineated the position of the of the case require that the best road should be constructed, that if the cir mstances require that kind of a road, it must be paid for and the policy of the Government is that the best road that can be built is required and that ultimately it will be an eco-

It is frankly admitted there is a original estimate of cost and what he road is actually costing, but the difference between the original estinates and the actual cost is due to the fact that the original estimates ontemplated the building of an ordinarily good road and the increased cost is due to the decision to build a oad of the highest standard to be found on the continent In building such a road through a new and practically unknown con try, close estimates of the cost could ot be made in advance.

As to any waste of money or like hood that there can be any graft or wrong doing in any way, that is guarded against in this way. The Grand Trunk Pacific company leases operates the road and pays to the Government three per cent. on the actual cost of construction. Both have their own officials to supervise onstruction and watch the ture and provision is made for arbitration when the two sets of engineers disagree, so that the country is not dependent upon the honesty of the ernment for keeping the cost withn reasonable bounds, but upon the self nterest of the Grand Trunk Pacific matter clearly before the country when he pointed out that the foundation upn which rested demand for investigation by royal commiss den cimmittee and in outlining the the purpose of the Government was tinent, the purpose of which was to Canadian ocean ports and nake Canada the greatest colony in As against that policy and that purpose, he declared, attacks like the one in question, being made, not with any design to safeguard the interests of the people but solely to serve the interests of the Conservative party as a political organization, could have but one effect, that of hampering the Government in its efforts to acco lish its great purpose.
