

BRITISH CABINET MINISTERS ARE DIVIDED ON MUCH DISCUSSED SUFFRAGE BILL

London, May 7.—The vote of the cabinet on the suffrage bill was held last night by the vote of 10 to 10. The bill, whereby it was sought to enfranchise 4,000,000 women, was rejected by a majority of 17. The vote stood 266 to 219.

Whether there is any chance that the present parliament will pass a bill of more limited character may be doubted. Possibly the "adequacy" clause, that if they allow a women's franchise bill to pass the second reading it would lead to a referendum, might be dropped.

Further, the debate proved that the militant policy of the suffragettes has done the cause great harm as far as parliament is concerned. The concession bill of last session was rejected only by a small majority compared with the Dickenson bill, which was under discussion today and previous bills giving some measure of enfranchisement to women have passed the second reading, although they never succeeded in gaining the sanction in subsequent stages.

Recent police court decisions of acts of incivility planned by the militant suffragettes, far surpassing in magnitude anything heretofore attempted, and the burning of St. Catherine's church at Hatcham today undoubtedly influenced many members to vote against the bill. The figures of the division showing the great chasm from both sides of the house.

How Leaders Voted. Neither Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, nor J. Balfour, voted in the division. Among the ministers who voted against the bill were Premier Asquith, Reginald McKenna, Lewis Harcourt, J. E. B. Seely, Winston Spencer Churchill and C. E. Hobhouse.

The cabinet supporters of the bill include Sir Edward Grey, David Lloyd George, Sir Rufus Isaacs, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Sir John Simon, Sir F. D. Acland, Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, supported the bill. He said there was ample evidence that a very large section of the women of the country had shown by constitutional means that they favored enfranchisement of their sex.

On the agenda for the work of the national organization, the resolution on the compulsory education of children was taken up by the national council. The compulsory education question brought forth interesting discussions. The national council placed itself on record as being in favor of a compulsory education act for the increasing number of children coming to Canada. One immigration organization has for 45 years been sending out children from the east of England to Canada. It has been sending out 1,000 a year.

Miss Burt, of Liverpool, asked permission to speak on the question of child immigration, which was granted by the council. Some English societies have been inspecting, keeping homes in Canada and are prepared to go even further. She said Ontario is deprived of the young blood. The view point of the city is not that of the rural districts of Canada.

Immigration Question. The local council of Edmonton reported that of the children imported into Alberta less than a fourth are Canadian born. The children are received in Ottawa, and on an average 30 boys are received monthly during the Quebec steamship service and are distributed throughout Alberta. The statement made by Mrs. Scott, of Ottawa, Miss Derrick thought the country should meet its own problems. There are 2,000 feeble minded alone in Montreal. A resolution regarding the importation of mentally and morally deficient children into the Dominion was passed.

Mrs. Hamilton announced that the Dominion government has made a fund of $10,000 for the next ten years for improvement and development of rural life. London council asked the council to petition for more stringent laws or the enforcement of such as already exist.

Carrying of Pistols. Miss Peters warned the mothers permitting their children carrying of pistols, thus outwitting the tests for fire-arms. Miss Radford said the moving pictures had more to do with the habit of carrying fire-arms than any other influence. It was decided to petition the legislature to enforce the present laws in reference to the carrying of fire-arms and concealed weapons.

An address on "The International Council of Women" was given by Mrs. Sanford, of Hamilton. The National Council will recommend and do their utmost to secure the co-operation of anti-tuberculosis societies in order to arouse public opinion to the dangers of using infected milk and meat. Toronto women want municipal ice supply. They claim it is cheaper to supply ice than to allow the people to be infected with tuberculosis. A reception was tendered the delegates by the Montreal council this evening in the Art Association building. Mrs. McNaughton gave an address on art. Miss Ritchie also addressed the council on "The artist and his public."

Home Rule Bill. London, May 7.—The home rule for Ireland bill was reintroduced in the house of commons today by Premier Asquith and read a first time under the standing of the order which declares debate. It will come up for second reading on June 2.

BITTER WINDS BLOW AS DIONNE VICTIM IS LAID AWAY

Many Friends of the Frick Family Attend Funeral of Victim of Monday's Tragedy; Rev. Jarrold, Lutheran Pastor, Preaches Funeral Sermon

DIONNE INSISTS THAT HE DID NOT COMMIT CRIME

Says He Was Hit With a Brick for Something He Did Not Do; Has Said Very Little Since His Arrest and Yesterday; Is Breaking Down

Bareheaded, ankle deep in slush, unheeding the biting winds and heavy fall of snow, the body of the victim of Monday's tragedy was laid to rest in the Lutheran cemetery yesterday afternoon. Hundreds of friends of the bereaved family and citizens of Calgary generally attended the funeral obsequies of five-year-old Justine Frick, victim of Monday afternoon's brutal murder.

While Rev. Jarrold, pastor of the German Lutheran church in the city, recited the brief but touching burial service of that denomination, Mrs. Frick, white and shaking, supported the coffin with her husband and on the other by George Luft, whose house the bereaved family reside, wept bitterly. Her husband also broke down as the coffin was lowered into the grave, and as she heard the dull thud of the first heavy clouds of earth which struck the little casket, Mrs. Frick plunging her hands into her eyes and the arm of her husband stopped her from falling on her knees to take another last lingering look at the coffin, while from the sympathetic crowd that surrounded the grave arose a murmur of sympathy.

Leaving the residence of Geo. Luft, first avenue North-east, shortly after 1 o'clock, the funeral cortege, followed by hundreds of German residents, wound slowly over the Langevin bridge and across the city to the cemetery. At every street corner further crowds joined the line, until when it finally wound into the cemetery hundreds of friends and curious sightseers surrounded the hearse.

As the cortege passed along Fourth street east, those in the mourners' coaches and a kind of guard of honor, iron-barred windows and cold grey stone walls of the cells in which J. Dionne, the 36-year-old French-Canadian accused of the murder, is being held. His head still garbed in the bandages which covered the wound inflicted by the brick-thrower father, Dionne, white and shaking, supported the coffin with her husband and on the other by George Luft, whose house the bereaved family reside, wept bitterly. Her husband also broke down as the coffin was lowered into the grave, and as she heard the dull thud of the first heavy clouds of earth which struck the little casket, Mrs. Frick plunging her hands into her eyes and the arm of her husband stopped her from falling on her knees to take another last lingering look at the coffin, while from the sympathetic crowd that surrounded the grave arose a murmur of sympathy.

Since his formal arraignment yesterday Dionne has said almost nothing. He eats sparingly, drinks great quantities of water, and from his appearance is gradually breaking down under the strain.

The funeral of his victim yesterday afternoon was touching in the extreme. At the house in Riverside where the services were first held, many women and children broke down and wept bitterly and again at the house where a further outburst of sympathy for the bereaved parents, who made a pitiful spectacle standing bareheaded by the little open grave. After the burial it was with difficulty that the mother of the little girl could be induced to leave the cemetery, and it was only when she was forcibly led to a waiting carriage by her husband and a few neighbors that she allowed herself to be taken home.

RESULTS ANNOUNCED OF UNIVERSITY ESSAYS

The results of the English literature and composition essays for the first and second years at the university have just been made public and are given below. Students may find their correct essays in class room A. Students who have failed to make the grade may secure their full year standing by writing prize essays during the summer recess and handing them in to the examiner at the supplemental exam in the fall.

Composition II. Grade D—A. S. Cartwright. Grade E—H. D. Cartwright, Muriel C. Trogluth, Orin E. Mighit. Others who did creditably, but who failed to write the requisite number of essays, are: Isabel Hattwood, W. E. Dyer, F. D. B. Johnson.

Composition I. Grade D—Sidney C. Tims, Edgar D. Lougheed, David P. Carville. Grade E—Marion D. English. Those who came below the line, or who failed to hand in the full number of essays required, will find their marks and their essays with the others in room A.

English Literature I. The final results of the year's work in English I, (including both examinations and attendance), have not yet been announced. They are as follows: Grade C—Alfred Moseley. Grade D—Jennie A. Gibson. Grade E—Mrs. Thomas Bellow, Charles H. Carter, Annie E. Howson. Pass—Edgar D. Lougheed, W. M. Beatty. Mr. Alfred Moseley is the only student who has attained Grade C this year in either English or history. Those who have come below the line in English I, will find their marks posted on the university bulletin board.

BUSY DISCUSSING GREAT PEACE EPOCH

Far-Famed 1814-1914 Centenary Is to Be Fittingly Observed.

New York, N. Y., May 7.—Before taking up today the discussion of the plans for celebrating the one hundred years of peace among English-speaking nations, the international conference in session here decided to adopt a statement of purposes that will make for a perpetuation of this peace. The celebration, it was stated, was of secondary importance to the consideration of future peace between the two nations, as an object lesson to the countries now at war, or preparing to engage by force of arms to settle differences. In this connection, it was announced later that a banquet in honor of the visiting delegates would be given on Friday night. Secretary of State Bryan would be present, and is expected to make an important announcement.

A celebration plan considered was the erection of international peace monuments by Great Britain and the United States, possibly of identical design, the cost to be defrayed either from public funds or through private subscriptions. With the minutes of the conference, it was further suggested that a fitting way to promote the growth of mutual respect and goodwill between Great Britain and the United States and their colonies would be through the endowment of chairs in the colleges and universities of British-American history with special reference to the peace of both countries. During the celebrations, two years hence the delegates agreed to urge that one day be set aside for the holding of universal religious services of thanksgiving; that it would be desirable to strike off an international commemorative medal, and to adopt a "universal tablet" to be placed in public buildings and affixed to the international peace monuments.

Chas. A. MacGrath, secretary of the Canadian delegation, said that in the executive session the delegates decided to postpone definite action on the proposals to erect permanent peace monuments on the frontiers. Mr. MacGrath said that while all of the suggestions made today were of a tentative nature, all of them would be considered very seriously, and he felt assured that the program for the celebration would be arranged with them as the basis.

Canadian Pacific Town. Empire is to be a Canadian Pacific town, and only to the officials of that company is the exact location known. Others have but an inkling, but in the past the exact location of the mark is no better than hundreds of miles off, as far as they are concerned, for their one aim is to get on the exact location.

Thus does an air of mystery centre around the city with the awe-inspiring name of Empress. This summer, it is said, the well will be drawn aside and the location uncovered to a public which will perhaps find that by Empress lies somewhere on the frontier of the two provinces. Indeed, it is hardly yet certain under which provincial administration it will come. It is somewhere near the confluence of the Red Deer and South Saskatchewan rivers. It will be placed on a line which is now under construction between Bassano and Swift Current, while another branch from the former city of the same class, Coronation, will run through this place of mystery.

It is probable that Empress will be put on the market in much the same way as was Coronation, that place so like in name. The steel, as it is laid into the city, will be followed close by the locomotive bringing the horde of land purchasers with their tents ready to encamp on the new town-site.

Many Await Announcement. Many are already looking forward with eagerness to their first visit to this place, and many a man is ready to give a big sum for the lots that are located there, but unfortunately he cannot, for he knows not where. Yet it is even said, that some have been so enterprising at this early date to

IMPORTANT PROBLEMS TAKEN UP BY THE NATIONAL COUNCIL

Strong Criticism is Offered to Schemes of 'Old Country Societies for Bringing Poor Children to Canada—City Women Have Objections

CARRYING OF FIREARMS BY CHILDREN DEPLORED

Pensions for Mothers Advocated and Approved—Committees Appointed to Take Up Medical Matters and Natural Resources Conservation

Montreal, May 7.—A message of greeting from Regina was read at the opening session of the Council of Women this morning. The day was given over to the proposed change in standing committees.

The discussion on playgrounds brought out the fact that it is impossible to get trained supervisors for playgrounds in Canada. Social centres will be added to this committee's work.

A committee on pre-conditions for women with sub-committees for nursing law, medicine, etc., was formed. Miss McKeen, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, took part in the discussion. A new committee named Conservation of Natural Resources was added to the list.

The announcement of the death of Miss Fitzgibbon's mother in Toronto brought forth a resolution of condolence. Victoria and Hamilton local councils stand highest in the record of the greatest number of advertisements for the year book.

Toronto local council brought in a resolution regarding the granting of a certificate stating age and educational standing, such certificate to be issued by school authorities. This was carried unanimously.

Pensions for Mothers. Mothers pensions were advocated by the Toronto council. Mrs. Huestis quoted laws of several countries in reference to this question and the national council decided to refer the question to a committee to consult with the government. Dr. Margaret Gordon suggested that space hereafter be found

To Women Who Favor a White Coat for Summer Wear

Our window display featuring some of our more exclusive New York models will be of more than passing interest. You'll notice that on most of these attractive coats is a touch of the vivid colors which couturiers are using so freely, but always with good effect, whilst the materials include pongee cloth, ratines, serges, blanket cloths and homespuns.

One of these smart little models is priced at only $15.25

Another $15.75

Others are priced at $20.00 $21.00 or $25.00

So you see it is not a very costly matter to own one of these handsome, serviceable coats.

THIS SEASON'S SAILOR HAT

It was inevitable that with the blazer coat, high in fashion's favor, there should come a demand for a "sailor hat," but few milliners dared hope for such a smart new style as New York has just sent us—with round, snug fitting crown, and long, oval, slightly drooping brim they are so becoming that the athletic girl and the business woman will claim them at once for their "very own." In natural and black, with corded ribbon band.
