Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, and we cannot praise them too highly. First, Hood's Sarsaparilla cured a swelling on my right breast, which was called a cancerous tumor. This winter we all had the Grip, but resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills and were soon well again. We all take Hood's Sarsaparilla when blood is poor and it always makes us well. Mrs. J. BAD FOR MAN AND BEAST.
A Disease That Affects Horses and the Men Who Handle Them.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 13.—A large number of horses in Halifax are suffering from a disease which attacks them principally under the fetlock, somewhat similar to ordinary "scratches," or "greased heel."

An oily, greasy substance comes from the parts affected. Some horses have the disease in the mouth, others elsewhere.

Government Veterinary Jekman describes the disease as "variola equina," or more commonly called "smallpox." He says the disease was very prevalent in Montreal during 1891. The disease is atmospheric, and any animal is liable to contract it.

The worst feature of the disease is that persons attending the stricken horses may become inoculated, and in many cases blood-poisoning sets in. Dr. Jekman has a slight touch of the disease in his hand. A young man in the north end, who has but one hand, contracted the disease in the other arm, and it is feared he will lose his arm. Another man is so ill from the disease that there has been some doubts of his recovery. Many of the brothers owned by members of the Halifax Driving Club are affected with the disease.

SIM FAX'S REVELATIONS DIS-

CUSSED BY MR. TUSON.

To the Editor of the "Advertiser."

Again it becomes my duty to protect a sister, as every brother should do, from the slander of an impostor, whose object is to destroy the character of a child of whom he is old enough to be the father, forgetting at the same time that he has children of his own needing protection, or, in other words, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

In the first place, Mr. Editor, this man Fax, like others visiting our home, has bothered us till we were compelled to submit or give offense, but, being allowed to come, promised that he would throw no reflection on the child or those connected with her. We leave public to judge whether he has stuck to the truth or not. He has not, but he is likewise in a home where he was admitted some time ago, but the results, we know, were different. There might be an excuse for Mr. Fax to try to expose a stranger who is passing as a friend in the dark, but, of course, he did not do so; but when a child belonging to a respectable family, which contains the materials that would expose anything that has the elements of the attached to it, Mr. Fax has made a mistake which time will prove to him. Of course, to accept Mr. Fax's statements are we compelled to make a mistake of the same kind, among them a minister of the gospel, who spent two hours in tying Ada's hands, and other modes of tests. I can well give the names of some of the most highly respectable citizens who will bear testimony to the marvelous results they have received at our home and elsewhere. Mr. Fax has visited our home for no good purpose, which the phenomenon told us repeatedly, but he has to secure a little advertising at the expense of a child.

Mr. Fax knew where Ada stood when he held her hand, so that she could not reach the wall by a foot or more, while he received the little result he did, without taking into consideration the long scrapes that seem to take in the whole wall. He says he can do it. Why would he like to know why he did not, and if he will, a welcome awaits him for the same. Again, I will ask him to repeat the test that Ada has given. Scores of people are waiting for him to do, who know the truth. Let Mr. Fax prove himself by accepting the above.

In reference to the marks on the wall which were made lately, but were destroyed before Mr. Fax's visit, I would like to say that he never saw them. He was not there when he first visited our home. The same wall has been examined by scores of visitors, and also by Mr. Fax, and he has never seen them. Mr. Fax accused me of being in league with Ada, and that I pulled her dress over her head, but he forgot to say to what end. He never saw her, and he might be benefited by it. But, of course, like all his sayings, he turns good into evil. I would rather he would accept me of all than a little girl, and he can stop just where he is. I did not want most of the time, or did he not hold her hand? In fact, I have got my situation to attend to, and business away from home in the evening; or, in other words, can occupy my time better than in making an exhibition of myself, as Mr. Fax seems to delight in. The results that have been circulated have not come from our home, but from others. It makes little difference to us whether people believe the phenomenon or not. We gain nothing by it, and the public will know little about it if they had to get it from Mr. Fax's pen. I can say that had they seen or heard the results that we have come in contact with, Mr. Fax or any other party's statements would have no ground to stand on. We often wonder what the cities make. Some report that the child uses her mouth, others her feet, and others her hands, and numbers of other ways. It seems a pity that we cannot agree on one or the other and not be in the dark all the time; but it is hard to defeat the truth, which we have on our side. In concluding, Mr. Editor, allow me to warn the cities that acts of kindness such as we have shown Mr. Fax and others, only to receive the abuse of which elevated humanity does not stoop to. The condition Mr. Fax left my sister in was a trying one, and does no credit to his character. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the above space, yours truly, CHARLES R. TUSON.

THE FEDERAL ELECTIONS.

Political Questions Divide Public Interest With the Kent Case.

OTTAWA, March 14.—The interest created here by the wonderful recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent from Bright's disease, and the fact that he was only saved from death by a timely use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been partially overshadowed by the question of the Federal elections, and people who were asking one another a week ago whether they had heard of the case, are now also discussing the political outlook with almost equal interest. Inquiries are however being persistently made with regard to the case and its cure, and it is stated on good authority that several cases of recovery from diabetes and Bright's disease through the same agency will shortly be made public, as that of Mr. Kent's, still further inducing the use of the valuable remedy.

Orangemen Congratulate Their Leader.

ST. CATHARINES, March 13.—The morning session of the Grand Orange Lodge was devoted mainly to routine business. An address of congratulation to Sir Mackenzie Bowell, past most worshipful grand master of British North America, on his elevation to the Premiership and the honors conferred upon by her Majesty, was unanimously adopted by a standing vote.

Mob Rule Among Miners.

DENVER, Col., March 13.—Mob rule has reigned among the miners in the coal camps of Huerfano county since Sunday night, and seven of their victims, all Italians, have been slain by bullets from their Winchester. Four of the Italians were killed from ambush yesterday while being taken prisoners in a wagon to the jail at Walsenburg, after commitment for complicity in the murder of Abner J. Hixon, a temperance saloon keeper, at Reuss. An American boy, who was driving the wagon, was unintentionally killed by the fusillade of bullets. Before daylight this morning a mob of miners and citizens of Walsenburg gathered outside the jail, where two of the Italians were confined, got inside by a pre-arranged signal and killed both the prisoners.
