ROBBERS GOT AWAY

FOUND GUILTY FOR THE SECOND TIME!

Ex-Secretary of State Powers Goes to Prison for Life for Being Accessory to Gev, Goebal's Murdes

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 28 .- Ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers was on Saturday again convicted of being acof Gov. William Goebel in January, 1900, and for the second time has been sentenced to imprisonment for life. The second trial began on Oct. 8, and has continued with three sessions daily, court adjourning late at night. Arguments were limited, so that the case went to the jury at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and a verdict of guilty followed 50 minutes later.

Powers sat pale and motionless when the verdict was pronounced by the foreman, B. S. Calvert, his old schoolmate. Opposite Powers, on the other side of the court room, with the attorneys, sat Arthur Goebel, brother of the late governor, with his eyes fixed on the prisoner. The attorneys of Powers shook his hand, expressing aloud their belief in his innocence. Women crowded around Powers, embracing and kissing him, and tears

The defense having filed a motion for a new trial, Judge Cantrill, at 4:30 p.m., heard arguments on the same. The motion was overruled and the case will be appealed. The sentence was read and judgment suspended pending the decision of the higher tribunal. Powers was taken to Frankfort and committed to jail without bail.

SEALERS SEIZED BY RUSSIANS. Victoria, B. C., Oct. 28. - According to advices received by the steamer Olympia, which arrived here Saturday from the Orient, three more Japanese sealing schooners have been seized by the Russian steamer Yakuk for sealing within the limit around the Copper and other Russian islands. This makes six schooners and a boat's crew of another which have been seized this year, or about 71 men, most of them Japanese, but some Americans and Canadians. The schooners were taken to Petro-haulovsiu, where they were condemned, and the men to Vladivostock, where some were sentenced to a year

To do this, he confesses, would mean the except official receptions like that at the capital of Natal, where Lord Mil- prominent supporters. But he mainner has appeared upon the scene to tains that even this is better than the counsel patience and faith in the creation of a peaceful and prosperous country under the British flag. The lack of news can only be interpreted negatively. The British columns have been trekking over the veldt another week without making an important capture or hunting down the remnants of the commandos. The Boers, for their part, have prolonged hostilities another stage, and succeeded in eluding pursuit without striking a decisive blow in any quarter or gaining any material advantage. It is a long and terrible struggle between British grit and tenacity and Boer obstinacy and inflexible determination to wear out the reserves of patience and endurance of a superior foe. The Duke of Devonshire has been trying to make something out of the problem in a dull speech, but he has not succeeded in offering a hopeful forecast.

BRITISH POLITICS. The political situation has not been changed either by the voluminous oratory recorded in this morning's papers or by the Buller episode. Henry Campbell-Bannerman made at Stirling a faint-hearted attack upon the Government, which the Scotch would describe as a "pawky" speech, out his own authority over his unruly followers was rendered more uncertain by the belated breath with which

R. C. Lehmann, who has just resigned the editorship of the Daily News, in an article in this week's Speaker, admits that he sees no hope for Liberalism until it has acquired

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Jonson wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a depends upon the liver," and it is a iest loss. C. C. Brightman, the junior member of the firm, is also the treasfact which none may dispute that a urer and a trustee of Baldwin Universunny disposition more often results frem a healthy digestion than from of the institution which were left in any other cause. Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gasses which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues;" but how quickly all these disappear when those residing in the business district appetite and digestion are restored. Laxative remedies only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels The force of the explosion was most and have no effect upon actual digesterrific. The safe was constructed on tion of food.

> The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate. The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase, and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach troubles is because they contain, in a pleasant, concentrated tablet form, all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence,

Mass., says: "Men and women whose occupations preclude an active out-door life should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigor to their daily "From the time I was 22, when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal. "I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction which I had not known since I was a growing boy." The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous. but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

ERNMENT. One of the most striking signs of discontent within the circles traditionally governmental is found in the fact that the Cambridge Union has passed a resolution to the effect that the government alone is responsible for the prolongation of the war. This aristocratic debating society is composed mainly of those who are related or acquainted with the ruling class, and who have hitherto always warmly supported the government's South African policy. A reversal of feeling in such a great university as Cambridge means, perhaps, more than any demonstrations or political meetings. CHAMBERLAIN ON THE DEFEN-SIVE.

Mr. Chamberlain was virtually on the defensive at Edinburgh, although he covered his tactics by furious onslaughts upon the Irish, Liberal Imperialists and the Pro-Boer Radicals. When he had finished, little had been added to the stock of current information. The war must go on to the bitter end, as every political fatalist already knew, even if South Africa were destructive of one military reputation after another. There was a metallic hardness in the grim reminder that Pitt was forced to use several generals before he discovered Wolfe, but there was an inflexible determination in the announcement that sterner measures would be employed and that the time for concession to an obstinate foe had passed.

Little light was thrown upon the domestic policy. The rules of the House of Commons would be revised as a safeguard against such obstruction, and a redistribution of seats would be effected when the govern-Is Often the Real Cause of a ity and a fresh lease of power, was ready to dissolve parliament. Mr. ready to dissolve parliament. Chamberlain's vehemence in denouncing the conduct of the pro-Boer sympathies of the Irish will probably be helpful to Mr. Redmond in his Amernot lost his aggressiveness and fighting form.

PROSPECTIVE CHANGES.

Rumors were rife regarding cabinet changes during the early part of the week. It was persistently said that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the chancellor of the exchequer, whose relations with Mr. Chamberlain have ident of the board of agriculture, it was said, was to succeed him. Inquiries made by a press representative, however, point to the fact that Sir Michael will remain in office, thought not very willingly, and that no serious cabinet shake-up is likely to occur in the near future.

THE BULLER EPISODE. The Exeter council of Gen. Buller's staunch Devonshire friends was something like a conference of three tailors of Tooley street. There will be no Dreyfus affair in England; Aldershot is not beyond the control of the war office. Admirals and officials in the civil service are not allowed to engage in newspaper controversy or to comment upon confidential documents of the government, and generals are subject to the same restraints and docorum and good form. It is immaterial whether the impulse for Gen. Buller's removal came from a court exercised with a due regard for constitutional usage, or, as Conservative solicitations now assert, the King reluctantly sanctioned the act after Mr. Brodrick had threatened to resign if discipline were not enforced. Talking generals had become a scandal and a nuisance and stern measures were required. The subject may be brought up in parliament, but there will be neither a public or military revolt against the en-forcement of a discipline which public decency has required. Until the Boer campaign war was a lottery, with no blanks, the generals having safe, if not always easy, work in operations with savage tribes and returning with promotions and decorations. The Boer war has been a lottery well stocked with blanks, and generals find it hard to reconcile themselves to their lot. Right Hon. Walter Long, president of the local government board, speaking Friday, said Gen. Redvers Bullet had been dismissed from the command of the First Army Corps solely because of his speech at the dinner of the King's Royal Rifles, which was regarded as subversive of military discipline. The cabinet had unanimously supported the commander-in-chief after every opportunity had been of-fered to Gen. Buller to make explana-

BUT HE IS POPULAR. Next to Lord Roberts, Sir Redvers Buller is most widely popular among British soldiers. Even Lord Kitchener, whose military reputation stands much higher, is not a rival to him in this respect. He is not so well known to the man in the street. Gen. Buller, in appearance and manner, resembles a bluff country gentleman, which, in fact, he'is, rather than a soldier. Devonshire, his native county, "Squire Buller" is not so much liked and respected as loved and adored. It is the simple truth that his name and fame were worth many thousands of votes to the government in the west county at the last general election. There the war was Gen. Buller and Gen. Buller was the war. Even among Gen. Buller was the war. Even among English officers of courage he was conspicuous. He wears the Victoria Cross, the one military distinction which has nothing to do with rank. Among the men who served under him there is only one feeling, and that is absolute confidence. The public at large applauded his refusal to alter his dispatch on Spien Kon at the sughis dispatch on Spion Kop at the sug-gestion of Lord Landowne, and applaud him now for refusing to resign, though the alternative was dismissal. IN RE CANADA.

The conversion of the Times to a reasonable view of the canal question is a good sign, pending its settlement. The Spectator, which has been right on this question from the outset, puts the case in a nutshell whon it says that the Isthmian Canal will be used against the enemies of the United States in time of war, and that Eng-land will do the same with the Suez Canal under pressure of necessity.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK. Previncial cities are showing signs of commercial depression and of the protracted strain of the war. Manchester is fairly prosperous, because trade with India has improved, but Bradford is in the doleful dumps since the demand from the United States of worsteds and woolens has fallen off. Other shipping markets are quiet and business with continental countries and South America is slowly shrinking in consequence of German competition. Towns like Leicester and Northampton, which are dependent upon the hosiery and shoe trade, are suffering heavily from the competition of America and Germany. The iron and steel trade is wholly engrossed with rumors of extraordinary combinations of capital and productive resources for common defense. ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION. The Swedish Antarctic expedition has arrived in Falmouth, on its way to Buenos Ayres and the Fakland Islands. The expedition is an important auxiliary to British and German scientific work in the Antarctic Grahamland will be surveyed and work continued near the South Shetlands on the lines followed by Weddell in 1823. The leader of the Swedish expedition, Nordenskjold, a nephew of the great explorer, has been enjoying the hospitality of Sir Clemens Markham, in London, and is joining his ship today. He does not expect more than one winter in the Antarctic, but will have two log summers for work. FROM GERMANY.

The industrial situation is so serious that the demands of the Agarians for an increased tariff on foodstuffs will be resisted with difficulty if the leaders succeed in making a working arrangement with the manufacturing

The equipment of the German army with the new rifle, which was suspended a year ago, will be resumed in No-vember, enough rifles having been manufactured for six army corps.

RUSSIA AND CHINA. Rumors of a Manchuria agreement between China and Russia are not credited by well-informed men. The attitude of the viceroys in Middle and Southern China was so strong in the memorable crisis that it is hardly credible that a Russian protectorate over Northern China will be attempted. Russia will be satisfied with railway facilities and will defer her demands for Asiatic provinces. The rumors respecting the determination of the terrible empress to supersede the heir to the throne and substitute Prince Tuan for him are not confirmed authorita-

Presiding at the launching at Brest, France, today, of the armored cruiser Leon Gambetta, the French minister of marine, M. de Lamessan, said she not reassuring to the country, alwards of one hundred warships, each though more or less exhilarating as evidence that Mr. Chamberlain has qualities. Unless unforeseen difficulties occurred abroad, the naval programme would be completed in the time fixed by the chamber, and then France would enjoy at sea the same security that her numerous, solid battalions assured her on the continent of Europe. While the French vessels were more costly, they were also worth more than the ships of other maritime nations. The French navy never been cordial, was determined to step out, and Mr. Hanbury, the pres- ing quality of its ships, rather than to numbers. Only strong nations could hope honorably to preserve peace and liberty.

THIEF IN THE DENTIST'S CHAIR. Dr. Rousseau, a Paris dentist, was shopping on the boulevards a few days ago with his wife, when a thief snatched the latter's satchel, containing money. The man was quickly lost in the crowd, but not before the dentist had obtained a good look at him. Two days later the man paid the dentist a visit. Dr. Rousseau recognized the visit. Dr. Rousseau recognized the thief. He inserted an instrument in the man's mouth in order to take a cast of his teeth, and then reminded the patient of the satchel. Being unable to remove the improvised from his mouth, the thief submitted with good grace and returned the stolen money.
