

Gray Hair Restored to Natural Color Free.

I WANT to place in the hands of every person whose hair is turning gray a free full sized bottle of Mary T. Goldman's Hair Restorer.

I do this as proof—there could be no fairer, surer evidence of my own belief in this preparation.

Hair, as our school Physiologists used to tell us, gets its color from millions of little pigmentary glands. If pigmentary sap is exhausted—prematurely or late—the hair becomes colorless or gray.

The only way to bring your hair back to its original color and gloss is to restore the natural pigment.

To every self-respecting man or woman the idea of dyeing the hair is repulsive.

The idea of restoring it by giving new life and secretions to the pigmentary glands is quite a different thing—a natural and proper cure.

How Mary T. Goldman's Hair Restorer does this and restores gray and faded hair to its natural color in from one week to two—without coloring matter or sediment, it will give you bright, glossy locks in place of gray and colorless ones, is one of the marvels of modern medicine.

That it does do this, I have every means of proof.

It is as pure as water—delightful to apply—is not sticky nor greasy—does not stain the skin or scalp and does not.

in the least interfere with curling or washing the hair.

It is a mild stimulant to the scalp releasing the hair's natural oils.

Now, don't put this down as a mere advertising statement. Remember I deliver directly to you a free full sized bottle of this hair restorer, which in itself is the best proof of what I claim is true.

I ask you to use it fairly, paying strict attention to directions. When you realize that you are regaining a healthy and handsome head of hair you will be glad you took the trouble to write me.

Thousands of women have written me in doubt as to the power of my restorative to do what I promise for it. They have later assured me of their surprise and satisfaction that a remedy could be produced that would really bring the hair back to its original beauty in such a natural, healthful way.

The business world today objects to gray hair. Many men, not only for appearances, but to obtain better commercial chances, have used my restorative and have found it the secret of youthful appearance.

I write me today, enclosing 24 cents in stamps to pay postage for a free full sized bottle and I will send it at once. You will have no duty to pay. This offer is for one week only. Be sure to mention the name of the advertiser.

SEVENTH PREPARED FOR INSPECTION

Final Drill Last Night Was Great Success—Reception for Lord Aylmer.

A remarkably large crowd of people gathered in the Armories last evening to see the Seventh have its last drill before inspection, which will be conducted on Monday evening by Lord Aylmer. The guards at the doors were kept busy handling the numbers of civilians who poured through the postern gate in the main entrance. Spectators are not allowed to go on to the drill floor on drill nights, but many of them, this time, were permitted to "round up" by the guards and directed to the staircase on the west side of the main entrance by which access to the balcony is gained. The balcony is an ideal place from which to view the maneuvers beneath, and last night it was packed from end to end. One could not but admire the smart and accurate way in which London's crack corps went through the drill last night, and if it does as well on Monday it is sure to win a great deal of praise from Lord Aylmer. Whether it is due to the inspiring effect of the new Armories and the fact that the regiment has been working in a new place, or to the good work of the officers and sergeants, extra intelligent work on the part of the rank and file, or as is most likely, all these forces working in concert, it can safely be said that the Seventh was never in such a high state of efficiency as far as drill is concerned as it is now. When it is remembered that well on to a hundred men were perfectly "raw" a couple of months ago, and that two new companies have had to be fitted into the corps, all the more credit must be assigned to the Seventh as it now stands. The men turned out with buttons, boots, spurs, guns and bayonets cleaned and polished to the last notch. It was the best turnout of the season, setting aside the fact that a number of the men were in camp. Major Cronyn was in command, and the weather, of course, being too damp for outside work, put the regiment through a number of vigorous movements in the drill hall. Especially did the crowd in the gallery admire the general salute, with which movement Lord Aylmer will be greeted when he appears before the regiment on Monday evening. The corps was drawn up in double-rank formation extending the whole length of the big hall, with the officers, sergeants and bugle band at the rear. When the command "Present Arms," was given by Major Cronyn, every rifle, by the glittering bayonet, came smartly up in front of its owner, while the bugle band pealed forth the salute with drums and trumpets.

In speaking to the men about the coming inspection, Major Cronyn impressed upon them the necessity of standing steady in the ranks. If a man knew how he spells the whole appearance of the "thin red line" when he turns his head or makes some other motion, he would realize the importance of steadiness. It was the steadiness of the Seventh that was largely instrumental in winning them so much admiration in Toronto at the time of the Duke of York's visit to Canada, and it is to be hoped it will maintain its reputation in this regard on Monday evening.

Weather permitting, the inspection will be held in Tecumseh Park. Afterwards, a reception by the officers of the Seventh. The regiment will parade at the Armories at 8 o'clock sharp, and nothing should be allowed to keep any man away from the drill.

The members of the Sixth Field Battery were actively engaged in packing up, and others were ready to receive a squad through gun drill, and Sgt. Coleman was also superintending some operations.

HOOPSKIRTS START PANIC IN STREET

Pittsburg Police Make Way for Wearers Through Crowd Blocking Traffic.

Pittsburg, June 17.—The appearance on the streets this afternoon of two young women wearing hoop skirts blocked a street car line for half an hour, suspended business in a department store, caused a small panic, caused many men to suffer from stiff necks, and necessitated assistance from a detachment of police, before the young women could regain the safety of their carriage.

The venturesome moulders of fashion were Miss Genevieve Tucker, of No. 4361 Fifth avenue, and Miss Henriette Hebert, of No. 2181 West 12th street. The young women reached the center of the shopping district in the carriage of Miss Tucker, and having nothing to do but wait for their carriage, they stood in the middle of the street, looking on at the crowd that gathered about them.

When they alighted the trouble began. They tried to enter the carriage, but could not get through. Then they went to the front.

Meantime a crowd had collected, covering the car tracks and stopping all traffic. Once the hoopskirts were inside the carriage, the crowd dispersed, and the young women left their customers and joined the left-eyed throng. The floor-walkers grew angry, and requested the young women to retire. They tried to do so, but could not. Their hoops, which were not the modern three-roll featherbed style, but regulation hoops, interfered.

The house policeman was called, but was powerless. In desperation he went to the store and blew his whistle. Two other officers responded, and with drawn clubs they made an opening through which the young women were able to escape. Several thousand persons watched them as they got into their carriage. The policemen also got into the carriage and remained with the young women until the crowd was lost.

Yellow Grass, Assn., N. W. T., June 16.—(Spec. No. 15) on the prairies but can furnish some proof of the splendid work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing in wiping out the Kidney ailment. I had been in the west for some time and little Edith Harris was so wonderfully cured of Dropsy by them, and now Mr. White is giving an experience almost as remarkable.

"I think," Mr. White says, "I should tell the public know of the benefit I got from Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had rheumatism for years, and neither doctors nor medicines did me a bit of good till last spring I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. They did me a great deal of good. I feel like recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills ever stronger than I talk."

HIGH OLD TIME

ON THE HEIGHTS

Big Concert and Cook's Parade

Mark the Last Night of the First Camp.

Music, laughter and a good time generally signified the last night of the 1st Brigade on Carling's Heights. Although the afternoon was somewhat spoiled by the rain, the weather was respectable in the evening, and the soldiers made up for the earlier part of the day in good style. The feature of the evening was a grand concert arranged on the spur of the moment, and carried through with the utmost success.

The good time in progress at the camp accounts for the fact that not many of the redcoats made their way down town during the evening, although at liberty to do so. A number, indeed, were spectators at the drill of the Seventh in the Armories, but the closing celebrations on the big plateau at the north end.

The men "chipped in" enough money to rent a piano for the evening, and a platform was erected under one of the electric lamps.

Roundabout were military men and a goodly sprinkling of civilians, who had been attracted by the unusual sight. Never has a camp been ended in such a manner before. There was enough amateur talent on the heights to put the men, at the program, solos, duets, recitations, and so forth were in order, and were heartily applauded by the spectators.

The feature of the evening was the old-time cooks' parade.

Soldiers of every size and shape, in all sorts of fantastic costumes, paraded the heights with shouts and loud strains of music.

The officers entered just as heartily as the men, and the evening was many days to come.

Construction to Begin Within Few Weeks—An Amendment to the Autonomy Bill.

Ottawa, June 16.—Mr. Morse, general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, was in town this evening. He stated that as soon as specifications for the Lake Superior branch are printed the company will ask leading Canadian contractors to tender for the construction of the line. Approximately, it will be two hundred miles in length to the point of junction with the main line from Winnipeg eastward. It is not improbable that construction will be begun in about a month's time. The company have all the land they require for terminal facilities at Fort William on Mission Island amounting to about 1,600 acres. The company, of course, purchase the land from the Government, and while Mr. Morse did not mention what it would cost, the price is said to be about $200,000. Asked as to elevator facilities Mr. Morse replied guardedly that the Grand Trunk Pacific could have as many elevators as anybody else in regard to a possible fleet of grain vessels Mr. Morse's statement conveyed the idea that the company have not yet decided upon any plans. Today Hon. W. S. Fielding signed the mortgage deed executed in connection with the Government guarantee of the 2 per cent bonds issued on account of the prairie section of the line. These bonds, when floated recently, brought 92 1/2c. The mortgage deed will be held by the Royal Trust Company as trustees.

The Senate today went into committee of the whole on the bill to amend the companies act introduced by the secretary of state, Hon. Mr. Scott explained the object of the bill was to allow companies to issue warrants if they so pleased, as is the custom in Great Britain, and other countries. The bill was reported, and the third reading fixed for Tuesday, the 27th inst. The House then went into committee of the whole on the bill to amend the acts respecting the naturalization of aliens. The bill went through committee, was read a third time, and passed.

The Senate adjourned until Tuesday, the 27th inst.

Mr. Bergeron will move the following amendment to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's clause 16 of the autonomy bill: "That all the words of the amendment be struck out and the following substituted therefor: Section 95 of the British North America act, 1867, shall apply to the said province as if at the date of the coming into force of the said clause 16 of the autonomy bill."

The word "union" in the said section meaning the union of the whole of the province have the right to pass laws with reference to education, but it shall always guarantee to the existing of separate schools and their enjoyment by the minority. (b) the full liberty of the majority in any school section to have such school as it may desire; (c) the equitable and proportionate distribution of the majority and the minority of all moneys appropriated for education."
