A STRONG APPEAL TO YOUNG MEN

Belmont Pastor Exhorted Them to Enter the Ministry of God.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Sermons Preached From Many Pulpits by Local and Other Pastors.

The evening service at the Wellington Street Methodist Church yesterday was conducted by Rev. A. E. Jones, of Belmont, who made an appeal to the young men to enter the ministry. He said that Christ while on earth made the preaching of the gospel his gospel was the best vocation today.

The achievements and prosperity of our life.' the present day have never been exhistory, and the ministers of today have a very hard task to keep be their chosen place, as there is no 'A Holy of Holies.' place for the man who thinks that he is not in his proper place.

Mr. J. E. Magee addressed a large

He asked his hearers to get in touch help them as much as possible. His opinion is that if the church did this frequently allowed their morals to give they would find that the strangers were not so very foreign as supposed and it might turn out that they were similar to Canadians. He said that it would not be very difficult for the foreigners to assimilate our ideas.

To bear out his assertions he described a meeting held a week ago at which a Russian evangelist from Toronto spoke to about 150 of his fellowcountrymen. When questioned as to their approval or disapproval of his preaching to them, they stated that they would be very glad to listen to The evangelist advised them to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the board of education for the study of the English language, and also advocated that they spend more money on sanitation, and not live in such rowded houses as there are at present. He encouraged them to make good citizens, as the eyes of Canadians were meeting they said that they would like YOUNG MEN MUST to have him address them in the fu-

Many great deeds had been accomplished in the past by small bands under capable leaders, and much good could be accomplished by the church if the rank and file had trust in the leaders.

A Lambeth Preacher. Rev. R. J. Garbutt, of Lambeth, preached at Askin Street Methodist Clayton J. Moorehouse, of Ilderton, occupied the pulpit at the evening service. Both speakers dealt with missionary problems.

Rev Mr Garbutt spoke in the morning from the text: "And one man shall be as a thousand." He stated that at the present time in business and economic and mechanical affairs one man is now doing the work that many men did in the past years. The same principle could easily be applied to church work by the members giving more money and doing more work. If this scheme was followed out, the speaker said that there would be a great impetus in religious work, and one man would be able to do as much work in the missionary fields as was done by several in earlier years.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Moorehouse, speaking from the text: "They were called Christians first at Corinth," said ture or eloquence, but upon qualities that Christianity should be on the same such as personality, mind, reason and basis today as it was in early times. Mr. Hawkings applied this text to the life of man and stated that the first mile referred to in the verse was the equivalent to a great deal of Christian service, which is done through a sense of compulsion, not for love of the task in hand. anv

"Many people keep their religion down to the irreducible minimum, said Mr. Hawkings. 'They go to church merely to keep up their repu-They worship because they tation. think future salvation will result from it, but beyond this not a religious thing enters their lives. Dr. Ross Men's League in Askin Street Methodist Church Sunday morning on his experiences in the Hudson Bay district, where he spent five years.

> The speaker was a member of a detachment of twelve sent north to colect customs, and also on account of American Governments as to whether the Hudson Bay was an inland sea or gram of speech and song. The party sailed from Quebec and stopped at various ports on the coast of Labrador and Hudson Bay before arriving at Fullerton, where was stationed. The squad which Mr. McArthur belonged to was composed of picked men, and no member of the detachment was a user of liquor, as the climate in that country is such that it seriously affects those who drink alcohol in any form.

A Wild Place. Fullerton is about 500 miles north of Fort Churchill, and one trip was made each year to get the mail and orders. He said that deer, wolves and bears were plentiful, deer particularly. On one occasion the party had to stop for two days to allow a herd of deer to pass. He corrected the impression that the natives of that country liked raw meat, by saying that they did not like it any more than white people.

The country around Fort Churchill is suitable for growing potatoes and other kinds of vegetables, while at Split ten," which first drew Dr. Barnardo to Lake, between Norway House and Fort Christian service. At Fullerton there was a difference between high and low tide of 16 feet, while at the northwest shore of Ungava there was difference of 30 feet. Fort Nelson, New Pastor of Maitland Street before being a port, would have to be provided with a suitable harbor, as at from shore and discharge their cargoes by means of scows. The harbo Churchill was the best on the Hudson Bay, but the reason that Fort Nelson was chosen by the Government was because the country between the wo places was composed almost entirely of muskeg.

> The City Mission. Superintendent H. E. Wilson, of the City Mission, spoke to a large audience last evening, and the close of the service there was one conversion. The subject was "The World of Chaos," and the text Genesis 1 and 2. stated that the condition of the world before the coming of light was a picture almost impossible for the people of today to imagine. Nothing was in the shape or form that are prevalent similar to the world at the time of creation. God saw the possibilities of sibilities that lie before man. Bible states that every man and woman is a hopeless case if left to himself or herself, but if the spirit of God is present they will become of great assistance to others.
