Chicago, Aug. 19.—Although the corn Chicago, Aug. 19.—Although the corn market underwent a material setback soon after the opening today, prices quickly developed new strength. Initial quotations, which ranged from %c decline to 1%c advance, were followed by a general fall of about 2c, and then by a rally to above yesterday's finish.

Wheat values showed a downward tendency, indications pointing to the unlikelihood of further serious crop damage in Canada. After opening %c lower to %c advance, the wheat market suffered a decided general drop, but recovered somewhat when corn turned upgrade.

Cash wheat 1c lower; corn unchanged; oats ½c to 1c up.
Wheat has more friends than corn, despite the sharp advance. It is expected to go higher, as exporters and foreigners are said to have taken a good part of the surplus off the market, leaving it susceptible to any new buying. It is a different market to what the trade is, accustomed to.
Light local frosts were reported in Manitoba Saturday night, but no damage has been reported as yet.
Not long ago Liverpool prices were 22c over Chicago. On Saturday last they were only 12 over.
Excepting further damage to the Canadian crop, the market depends on the volume and urgency of the foreign demand; therefore, the above showing suggests caution when buying.
Visible supply figures shows wheat increase of 8,846,000 bushels; corn increase, 456,000; oats decrease, 158,000s rye increase, 84,000.
