SPOTTED TAIUS DEATH.

Official Account of His Murder by Crowe Dog-OMICAGO, Aug. 10. The official account of the shooting of Spotted Tail shows that he had a big talk with his people before leaving for Washington on the way home. Crow Dog, who had his wife with him in waggon, intercepted Spotted Tail. The former got out of his waggon and was stooping down when Spotted Tail rode up. He suddenly raised up and shot Spotted Tail through the left breast. The chief fell from his horse, but rose to his feet and made three or four steps towards Crow Dog, endeavoring to draw his pistol; he then reeled and fell dead. Crow Dog jumped into his waggon and drove off at full speed towards his camp. Crow Dog was soon arrested and sent to Fort Niobrara to await trial for murder.

THE WOUNDED PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The president performed this afternoon his first official act since the 2nd of July by signing a formal requisition for the extradition of a criminal, who some time since took refuge in Canada, and is now in custody of the Canadian authorities pending the action of this government.
11.15 p.m.—Signs of improvement in the president's condition began to be apparent to-day, and soon after noon his pulse, which had been high during the earlier part of the day, and which indicated more than ordinary weakness, fell from 116 to 104 in the course of the afternoon, and the temperature at the evening examination was lower than it had been at the same hour any day since the 5th. After the evening examination and dressing, which were entirely satisfactory, the began to abate and the pulse to fall, and the patient went quietly to sleep. At this hour the fever has entirely disappeared, temperature and respiration are again normal and the pulse has fallen to 100. The patient has slepts oundly, without sign of fever. His present condition, the doctors say, is in every way encouraging and satisfactory.

ANIMAL VACCINATION.

Professor Pasteur's Experiments in France—A Valuable Discovery for Parmers.

London, Aug. 10.—Prof. Pasteur's address before the International medical congress on animal vaccination is creating deep interest. Pasteur stated that France loses every year by splenic fever animals to the value of 20,000,000 francs. He said fifty sheep were placed at his disposal, of which twenty-five vaccinated sheep resisted infection, and the twenty-five unvaccinated die 1 $1800. twenty-five vaccinated sheep resisted infection, and the twenty-five unvaccinated diet of splenic fever. Since that time the professor's energies have been taxed to meet the demands of farmers for vaccine. In twenty-five days there were vaccinated in the departments surrounding Paris more than twenty thousand sheep, and a large number of cattle and horses. The professor said, "If I were not pressed for time I could bring to your notice two other kinds of virus attended by similar mean." These experiments will be made public by-and-bye.
