OBITUARY.

There is a certain fitness about death which reconciles us to its approach when its victims are those already bowed down to the grave by the weight of years; but when the days of some are so precious and needful, the last hour is wrung with sorrow, and deep sympathy goes to those by whom the loss is most keenly felt. This truth is exemplified by the grief which fills the hearts of the mourning friends, of the late Mrs. Thomas Dundon, Shannon Vale, Rest. County, who passed away on May 14th. The deceased, who was formerly Miss Eliza McGovern, was in her forty second year of her life, a true wife and devoted mother. She was highly esteemed in the community of which proof was given by the very large attendance at the funeral, which was held on May 16th, to the Dundee, R. C. Church, where High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. R. Robichaud. The pall-bearers were, Wm. Walsh, Paul Dugas, John McKinnon, David Witzel, John H. LeBlanc, Duncan McDonald. Besides her husband, the late Mrs. Dundon, leaves two daughters, Catherine and Eliza; also two sons, John and Edward all at home. The family will have the sympathy of their many friends in their sad bereavement.

MEMORIAM.

In memory of Pte. Roland H. Hamilton of 2nd River Crossing, killed in action in October 1918. It's three years past, is that what you say? Since Roley Hamilton went away Yes, three years past since he bade adieu To Father, Sisters and Brothers too.

Now Roley, he was a friend of mine And as fine a chap as you'd ever find.

"As straight as a string" I heard someone say, speaking of Roley yesterday.

He was the pride of the family As nice a lad as you'd ever see Everyone liked him, I don't see why He went out there to save and die.

Couldn't resist the call, I guess When the cry went out for the brave and best.

He was a man, not afraid to go Where the shells fell thick, and the gas came low.

And though he's gone, how many a day We'll not forget his smiling face We'll not forget his manly way Though far off he is resting place.

AVOIDING RECOGNITION.

"It is a mistake to suppose that all sailors love the sea," remarked a well-known admiral. "I once asked a warrant officer who came up for his discharge what he proposed doing on his return to civil life, adding that that I suppose he would choose some sort of occupation that had to do with seafaring, directly or indirectly. 'Not me, sir!' he exclaimed emphatically. 'Not me! I'm going to buy an anchor, sling it over my shoulder and start walking straight inland. I'll walk and walk, and finally, when I come to a place where the natives say to me, 'What on earth is that queer-looking thing you are carrying?' I'll just settle down and stay there for the rest of my life!'"
