Dr. Zukertort, the champion chess player, Dr. Zukertort, the cham; ion chess player, who is now overthrowing the expert players of Pittsburg, will continue his onslaughts on chess players all around the world. He will visit the principal cities of America while on his way overland to San Francisco, where he will sail for China. He will go by that route to England, and before his tour is completed will visit India the country from which the game is supposed to have originated. Dr. Zukertort sent $2000 home while he was in New York out of the surplus of his earnings. In this way the doctor derives a good deal of profit as well as pleasure.

The McDowall Clay Pigeon Shoot. F. Martin, jr., won the gold medal at McDowall's clay pigeon match at the byree on Saturday. This being the final shoot, and as several of our best shots were to compete, there was considerable speculation as to who would take the prize. Following is the score: F. Martin.....

Thompson's challenge "is all a bluff. Sul-"An-Amateur" wishes to know if a gentleman shooting for stakes in a pigeon match disqualifies himself as an amateur athiete. Our answer is: No, pigeon shooting cannot be considered an athletic sport. It requires no special cultivation of the muscles. Any ordinary man can make a good shot who has a quick and accurate eye and steady nerves.

Mr. John Hennessy of New York claims to have the smallest purely bred bull terrier in the world. The dog is a clear white, 18 months old, and weighs only 3½ pounds. His mother weighs 5½ pounds. She was presented to Mr. Peter Duryea in England by Mr. George Atkinson, editor of the London Sportsman. Tony Pastor owns the father of the dog. Mr. Hennessy values his dog at $500.

W. J. Conyers of New Bedford, Mass., the backer of Albert Hamm, is of the opinion that the Haligonian will make an enviable record during the coming season. Hamm, he says, made a great mistake in remaining in Halifax so long as he did. Had he taken Mr. Conyer's advice two years ago, and taken up his residence in the States, the Sambro souller would be better appreciated by the people of this country as a sculler.
