By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleriver, Que. — "Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought offen and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must eathnit to an opertors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Another Operation Avoided.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y.—I run a sewing machine in a large factory and got all run down. I had to give up work for I could not stand the pains in my back. The doctor said I needed an operation for womb trouble but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did more for me than the doctors did. I have gained five pounds. I hope that everyone who is suffering from female trouble, nervousness and backache will take the Compound. I owe my thanks to Mrs. Pinkham. She is the working girl's friend for health, and all women who suffer should write to her and take her advice.—MISS TILLIE PLENZIG, 3Jay St., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

Happy Homes.

How careful mothers should be to make their homes sunny, joyous, bright, and attractive; for on them is built the great fabric of the years to come. The long chain of life experiences and lifetime memories begin there, and thought retravels the path so often, lingering here and there by the way, living over and over again the memories of home, and they are not always sunny.

Words to Drop.

A contemporary appeals for dropping the words "hayseed" and "turncoat" from the Canadian vocabulary, and with reason. It points out that farming is an independent and honorable pursuit which ought to be encouraged instead of attempts being made to bring it into disrepute. As to the other word, it is the rankest injustice to term a man a "turncoat" becauses he changes his allegeniance from one political party to another. More men with sufficient independence to vote according to principal irrespective of party are needed in this country.

Odds and Ends.

Scented geranium leaves placed in a thin muslin bag impart an excellent flavor to jelly. Corned beef and cabbage is a conceited food. It rises on its hind feet and yells "Come on, try me, I'm all right."

Man gets to be free when he can come to the apple-tree and choose the right regardless of Lady Eve who might try to deceive.

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Smith told us, "my husband is an enthusiastic archeologist, and I never knew it till yesterday. I found in his office some queer looking tickets, with the inscription 'Mudhorse, 8 to 7," and when I asked him what they were he explained to me that they were relics of a lost race. Isn't it interest-ing?"

That was a fine piece of oratory recently when a lecturer, speaking of the drinking young man, said: "The railroads don't want him, the merchants don't want him, the banks don't want him."
Then, referring to an advertisement of a saloon-keeper for a bartender who does not drink, "the saloon-keeper does not want him." Turning with the most winsome smile to the audience, he said:
"Now girls, do you want him?"

The late Archbishop Ryan was visiting a small parish in a mining district one day for the purpose of administering confirmation and asked one nervous litconfirmation and asked one nervous little girl what matrimony was. "It is a state of terrible torment which those who enter are compelled to undergo for a time to prepare them for a brighter and better world," she said. "No, no," remonstrated her rector; "that isn't matrimony; that's the definition of purgatory." "Leave her alone," said the archbishop; "maybe she is right. What do you and I know about it?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars ddress: F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, O. Changing a Name.

The brother of Mme. de Pompadour had at first been created Marquis de Vandieres, a somewhat unfortunate title for a man of such new nobility, for he soon discovered to his profound annoyance that his enemies would persist in calling him the Marquis d'Avant Hier (the Marquis of the Day Before Yesterday).

Mme. de Pompadour, naturally sensitive in such matters, brought the affair before the king and, as a title more or less was a small matter to grant the lady who grasped so much, after due forms her brother became the Marquis de Marigny.—From "Mme. Gaffrin."

Toistoy Hated Doctors. "The late Count Tolstoy loathed phy-sicians," said at a dinner in Washington a Russian diplomat.

You remember how Tolstoy ridiculed physicians in 'War and Peace?' Well, I heard him ridicule three of them to their faces over a vegetarian dinner at Yasnaya Polyana.

"'Physicians,' he said bitterly, look ing up from a plate of lentils, 'may be divided into two classes—the radicals, who kill you, and the conservatives, who let you die."

"I dunno what he's gittin' now, but I speck it's somefin' like half what he's gwineter git."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Just a Precaution. "So you are attending cooking school?" says the friend. "Are you going to do your own work?"
"No. I want to be able to teach my husband how to prepare the meals in an emergency."-Judge.

WHY THE WIND BLOWS.

The Basic Principle, the Tendency of Hot Airs to Rise.

The wind, like other things of everyday life, rarely invites notice unless it is unusually "high," and rarely do we hear the questions, "Why does the wind blow?" "Why doesn't the wind

What is this wind that rushes "out of the nowhere into the here?" Why should it blow at all, or why some times so gently and at other times with the resistless force of the hurricane? The wind could have no power, it could not even exist, if the air had no weight, this weight having been shown to be about thirty-one grains for each hundred cubic inches of air. When air is put in motion the effect is like that obtained by throwing a ball against an object. The harder you throw the ball the harder it will strike, and the greater the number of balls thrown at one time the greater will be the force of the blow. When the wind is blowing it strikes what it blows against, and the harder it blows (that is, the greater the speed of the air) the harder it will strike against the resisting object. What causes the wind to blow or why the air should be in motion is not easy to explain. Simply stated, it is caused by the tendency of hot air to rise and thus to form a partial vacuum into which the cooler surrounding air rushes, in much the same way water will rush downward to seek its level. If the earth were smooth, if it did not rotate and if there were no sun the air would be motionless. the sun shines on a wide space of the earth the air of that region become heated, this great volume of warm air rises and the cooler, heavier surrounding air flows in to take its place. As the earth rotates there tends to be formed a ring of heated and rising air with currents inflowing at the bottom and at both sides. This is the condition that prevails near the equator and causes the trade winds that blow steadily. The rotation of the earth causes the wind south of the equator to flow toward the northwest and that

Pathetic Incident From Which the Use of Black Lines Sprang.

"Every once in awhile," says a prominent comedian, "I am asked by some newspaper or magazine to tell of the actual feelings of a man who is called on to appear before the public as a continuous funmaker. Usually I reply by calling attention to the fact that one of the greatest tragedies of the theater is connected with the clown. "In the time of Louis XIV. there was a famous clown known as 'Fat William' (Gros Guillaume), who held his audiences in the Rue Favari by his wonderful eccentricities of gesture, voice and mimicry. One night, so the legend runs, his wife was dying, and tertain the clanking, clashing, ribald Parisian mob that stood in the pit. It was in the days before there were

"Like all imitators of the Italian with flour. Under the burden of his great domestic sorrow he was stupid and slow in his performance, and in order to stir him up his companion on the stage hit him with a resounding whack with a heavy cane. The combination of his sentimental troubles and the physical pain caused Gros Guillaume to weep. As the tears streamed down over his whitened face the aspect was so comical that the audience cheered and laughed itself into hysterics. And ever since then every clown has black lines on his whitened
