

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—“Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.”—NELLIE E. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

Ignorance in Russia

Florence Harper, author of Runaway Russia recently gave the following remarkable example of the ignorance of the Russian peasants. During the summer of 1917, she said, a census was taken for the purpose of ascertaining the names of those who had a right to vote in the various villages. The constitutional assembly was to meet in the fall and on it the great mass of Russian people were pinning their hope of a representative government.

In the various villages, the names were taken by a clerk assisted by a man belonging to the priesthood. While two of these government agents were addressing a small crowd of people in one village in the Volga district, a woman noticed that the finger nails of the clerk were long and pointed. She pointed this out to several other women who became very agitated, and very soon one woman, more superstitious than the others, called out, “He is the devil, he has claws.” Panic quickly seized the crowd, the men became frightened and one shrieked: “He has cloven hoofs.” The poor unfortunate clerk was wearing shoes with pointed toes. The two men were seized by the mob who stripped them to find out if their feet were real cloven and if they had tails. Upon finding no evidence of tails or cloven hoofs, the crowd decided that while they might not be devils themselves, they certainly must be in league with the devil. They were allowed to leave the village, but without money and without clothes.

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door labourer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it has no equal. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicine chests and those taken on a journey.

One Crisis In Our History

WITH the truer perspective obtained in the passage of years, it is to be seen how errors of judgment on both sides produced the Rebellion of 1885. Riel had virtues as well as vices. He was sincere in motives possibly—a fanatic, but a very dangerous one, and as such he was properly dealt with. He had been made the tool of subtly-moving forces, compromise with which was impossible. And hence the blood-stained page in the history of Canadian occupation and settlement of the Imperial wheat field.

Louis Riel himself expiated his crimes with his life—and thirty years afterwards his grandson, Charleris, washed the stain from the family escutcheon with his blood, when he “went out” in France with a sniper's bullet through his heart—but not until he had accounted for no fewer than thirty-seven of Britain's enemies, as shown by notches on the stock of his rifle, the rifle taken from his dead hand and returned to Canada by the officer commanding to become the treasured trophy and most zealously guarded possession of the Rod and Gun Club at his home town of Merritt, in British Columbia.

With the gathering of the storm clouds which broke in the second Riel Rebellion, the strength of the Northern Division of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police was increased, in October, 1884, to two hundred of all ranks and Superintendent Crozier, with a hundred men, started north on the following St. Patrick's Day and succeeded in quieting matters for a time.

Simultaneously, on March 18, Lt.-Col. Irvine left Fort Prince Albert, with four officers, 85 non-commissioned officers and men and 66 spare horses, reaching his objective, 291 miles distant, in seven days, through country held by the rebels. He subsequently united with Supt. Crozier and organized the home defence company at Prince Albert. Crozier later encountered the rebels at Duck Lake, losing nine men and a few wounded, but the enemy falling in his attempt to get the stores under convoy. The total strength of the force, supplemented by volunteers, at Carlton Post, after Crozier's retreat, at Irvine's arrival, was 225 rank and file, with eleven wounded. These left Carlton for Prince Albert, where preparations for defence were completed, all able-bodied men, to the number of 309, being enrolled as special constables—their armament being limited, however, to 116 Smith rifles—and a corps of scouts, 47 strong, being organized under Thomas McKay.

The first few weeks of Col. Irvine's occupation of Prince Albert found the position of that isolated post very critical, the normal population of 100 having been swelled by the influx of refugees to approximately eighteen hundred, in addition to police, and Prince Albert being cut off from supplies, all the trails to the railway running through rebel territory. Lt.-Col. Irvine, kept well informed by the Scouts as to the movements of the Indians, rendered excellent service in driving back Riel's scouts, who were even sufficiently bold to come into Prince Albert itself. Another important duty performed, after the battle of Fish Creek, was the maintenance of the line of communication with Gen. Middleton. The police were kept absolutely in darkness as to the military operations transpiring on the other side until, on April 16, messages were received from Gen. Middleton stating that he hoped to attack Batoche on about 13th or 19th. The police were not to join in the engagement, but to watch for and make prisoners of fleeing rebels.

Until the militia column reached Prince Albert, the presence of the police unquestionably saved the town from falling into the hands of the Reds. Had such a catastrophe occurred, the rebellion would have inevitably assumed proportions of much greater magnitude, possession of Prince Albert being the key to the entire situation. The Indians only desisted from their raids on the town upon seeing the trail of Lt.-Col. Irvine's forces leading thither.

The capture of Big Bear was made by Sergt. Smart and three men of the police; while Inspector A. H. Griesbach, in command of Fort Saskatchewan, did all in his power to maintain peace in and about that centre, which he was successful in doing until the arrival of the citizen soldiery there. Three detachments of the R.N.W.M.P.—commanded by Supt. W. H. Herchmer and Mole, Inspector S. B. Steele and Inspector A. Bowen Perry—actively participated with the militia columns in the operations of the exciting campaign and acquitted themselves throughout with courage, coolness and distinction.

Offended.
A soldier from the wild backwoods of the far west was in the city for the first time, and went into a restaurant. All went well until the waiter brought him a serviette. The eyes of the backwoodsman flamed, and, pulling a six shooter from his hip pocket, he said that waiter his mind. “You take that blamed thing away at once,” he said, evenly. “I reckon I know when to use a handkerchief without having any darned hints thrown out.”

Old Hockeyist a Hero.
The dash which “Jack” McCamus once displayed with Toronto hockey teams he has again displayed in France, according to the evidence furnished by the official award of the Military Cross to Capt. John McCamus, Canadian infantry. At great personal risk he made three daring daylight reconnaissances for the purpose of selecting forward machine gun positions.

Waste Paper As Fuel

Waste paper is being used as fuel by some women who devise every way possible to cut their coal bills. They take old newspapers, wrapping paper, cardboard, or any old pieces and place them in a watertight receptacle. Boiling water is then poured over it, and it is left until the mass becomes soft, usually taking about twelve hours. This mass is then made into little balls about four inches in diameter, which are set into the sun to dry, or may be dried in an oven. When thoroughly dry these balls are ready for use. They catch fire quickly and burn slowly and have been found a very satisfactory substitute for coal.

An Englishman claims to have invented a fraud proof coin-in-a-slot machine as it rejects metal slugs and even coins of the same size and weight as those intended to be used in it if of less value.

Let the children have plenty of baths in the hot weather.

If you wish to soften butter quickly turn a thoroughly heated bowl over it. When hands are rough, rub vinegar into the skin and they will soften.

All left over cereal should be used, either in griddle cakes, muffins or soup. All clean fat trimmings and grease drippings should be clarified and used.

If you make a gelatine dessert in hot weather allow a little more gelatine if you would have the mold firm. Prevent the crochet needle from pricking your finger core by putting adhesive plaster where the needle strikes the finger.

THEY CLEANSER WHILE THEY CURE.—The vegetable compounds of which Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are composed mainly dandelion and mandrake, clear the stomach and intestines of deleterious matter and restore the deranged organs to health action. Hence they are the best remedy for indigestion available today. A trail of them will establish the truth of this assertion and do more to convince the ailing than anything that they grow more popular daily.

DUST CAUSES ASTHMA.—Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings the user to perfect rest and health. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is firmly established again. Hundreds of testimonials received annually prove its effectiveness.

In London Eng., cabmen and private coachmen called to the colors are being supplanted by girls. Seven out of a dozen carriages are now driven by women, who wear curly brimmed hats with cockades just like the male cabbies who have gone to war.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Hall's Catarrh Medicine was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in Hall's Catarrh Cure is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions. Send for testimonials, free, F. J.
