Beautiful October weather greeted the delegates to the United Baptist Women's Missionary Union that met at the Baptist Church Bridgetown, at the Schleck on Wednesday morns.

at ten o'clock on Wednesday morn-ing, Oct. 11th.

The Convention was opened by the President, Mrs. David Hutchinson of President, Mrs. David Hutchinson of St. John.

A number of executive meetings were held on Monday and Tuesday, and Tuesday evening was employed in registering the delegates and having social intercourse in the church vestry. It was found that almost every hamlet town and city of the Maritime Provinces were represented at the convention. A splendid impression prevails with the business like manner in which, the great, interests of mission work were handled by the official. The financial report was the first taken up and read by Miss Clara Fullerton. This was followed by a report of the financial aspect of the Union. A large number of letters were read from the missionaries at the front, or mission fields in India. Many of them breathed of great encouragement in the spread of the gospel, while others gave a tone of warning, of trouble among the natives that now and then crop up and give the missionary grave anxiety. One of the most encouraging lines of progress of the work is the hold they have on the women. They readily memorize the Scriptures and are most helpful in the spread of the gospel. Some forty thousand copies of religious papers have been distributed. Special effort has been made to get at the wealthy class, but they usually turn a cold shoulder to all appeals.

There is a great call for nurses in the financial report work. Another need is Love. Love is the convention of executive meetings and the convention and appeals.

It should make the young people of this generation feel that they should not get discouraged but press forward, surmounting all diffi-culties and realise that to him that overcometh a crown shall be given. After the usual resolution passed, and a few remarks by the President, the session closed with prayer by the Rev. G. C. Warren, and the National Anthem, followed by "God save our splendid men."

There is a great call for nurses in the foreign mission field, as the people are the more readily reached in this manner. There is only one in the field at the present time.

Mrs. Mary Smith read the reports of the Union. The total amount raised this year was $38.528.00. After the expenditure there was a balance of $11.501.00. At a suggestion the meeting arossaland sang "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." Mrs. Smith explained that after mature judgment she had decided to use the Anniversary fund for the building of a home for Doots Clarke, their only

The Home Mission Report was read by Mrs. F. H. Beals, as written by Mrs. I. W. Porter of Wolfville, who and founded the school for boys. This report was most encouraging throughout, and elicited strong expressions of approval of the methods used on the home mission field. Contributions had somewhat fallen off during the past year.
